Your puppy will need two more booster shots over the next 6-8 weeks. Maryland and most other states require a Rabies shot as well. The Rabies shot can be administered at 12 weeks of age, but we recommend waiting until 16-20 weeks. There are other vaccines that your vet will advise you on according to what is recommended for the area in which you live and the activities which you will be doing with your puppy.

While we perform many different tests on our breeding stock in an effort to breed healthy progeny, there are times when the inevitable happens. We would greatly appreciate any health information that you can give us, even if it occurs past our 2-year warranty period. This information could prove to be highly valuable for future generations of healthy Australian Labradoodles. We are doing our best to create a sound and healthy new breed from the foundation up!
