An important city renowned for its historical and cultural heritage as well as for its natural beauty, Suzhou has been called "Capital of Silk," "Land of Abundance," "World of Gardens" and "the Heaven on the Earth." In 1981, this ancient city was listed by the State Council as one of the four cities (the other three being Beijing, Hangzhou and Guilin) where the protection of historical and cultural heritage as well as natural scenery should be treated as a priority. Shanghai, the eighth largest city in the world (over 22 million people), is one of China's most cosmopolitan areas, virtually the only one that strikes an immediately familiar chord with Western visitors. This impressive city considers itself the leading cultural and educational center of China.

Day Trip to Suzhou

📍 Suzhou, China

Drive via private motor coach to Suzhou this morning with your local guide.

Later this morning visit the No. 1 Silk Spinning Factory or a small workshop. The city is famous for its traditional hand-made embroidery and silk products.
