

People, Places and Things, In Downtown Palm Springs

Palm Springs has grown up since the first white settlers arrived in the 1890's. We still have some buildings from the early period; some from the midcentury awakening of post war architecture. There are some not often seen "things" and places, as well. And of course, Palm Canyon Drive can offer extraordinary street photography.

This Photo Walk will be a walk of approximately 2 miles.

Average Temperatures in the first week of May are 63 degrees low and 90 degrees high.

One bottle of water will be provided. Bring sunblock and hat, check forecast temperatures before leaving home.
