

The Kabbalah Poem

by Steven Lane Taylor

This poem contains 72 empowering affirmations to help transform your life in a positive way. It was inspired by The 72 Names of God, a book of Kabbalah teachings and tools.

My past is healed,
My Light revealed,
Miracles are mine to make.
All worry is ended,
All wounds are mended,
Dreams guide me when I'm awake.

Order evolves,
Chaos dissolves,
I'm protected by angelic power.
Evil eyes cannot see,
Evil places cannot be,
Love is now fully in flower.

Heaven on Earth persists,
War no longer exists,
To the future I'm never blind.
I rise up when I fall,
I'm free of chain and ball,
I'm fertile in body and mind.

With God I am one,
My addictions are done,
Plagues are finally finished.
Evil people have no sway,
I light the world's way,
The darkness of envy is diminished.

Truth I speak and hear,
Problems disappear,
I stop heeding every dark force.
My soul finds its mate,
I remove inner hate,
Love builds a bridge to my Source.

Every goal I now reach,
My memories teach,
My dark side loses its mystery.
I surrender being right,
Making love I make Light,
My fears are now ancient history.

Challenges help me grow,
When I share I'm in the flow,
Good comes from what is not.
I inspire when I speak,
I am the help I seek,
The Truth is easy to spot.

I create as I should,
I reap only good,
I prosper appropriately.
I live without doubt,
I bring peace about,
I practice true unity.

Real joy I possess,
I don't settle for less,
The guilt of error is gone.
With passion I burn,
I ask nothing in return,
Everything good lives on.

To action I'm compelled,
My anger is dispelled,
The purpose of my soul I find.
I let go of my story,
I plug into my glory,
I leave ego's world behind.

I purify earth's waters,
I teach our sons and daughters,
Every gift I appreciate.
I let my Light shine,
I respect The Divine,
I choose what I wish to create.

I live for today,
The departed guide my way,
I feel divinely directed.
I sense order in sorrow,
I transform tomorrow,
My errors are painlessly corrected.
