I Forgive You & Receive the Gift of Hearing My Voice

April 2, 2018

Thank you, Jesus, for Your patience and compassion with me. Please make us all stronger in the face of adversity and storms. And make us more clever than the enemies of our souls, who set us up to sin. And grant us the courage and resolve to choose what is right. Always. Amen.

Well, my dear ones, I'm going to go in, right into the message here. And it will explain what's been going on.

I began, 'Lord, I know I've been bad again—please forgive me.'

And that came with a lot of soul-searching and remorse. Sounds kind of flippant now, but believe me. It wasn't flippant when I was going over it in my mind.

Jesus answered me, "Forgiven. Let's begin again."

Well. This may seem too easy to some of you, but Jesus knows the agony my heart went through and how I've missed Him—so in His mercy He was quick to forgive. All I ask for now is the strength not to be stupid again.

So, He asked me to share with you what happened.

Dear friends, I cannot make excuses for myself. I had a springtime slip-up again—something very little for the sunroom, but I knew it was wrong. And I lied to myself and to the Lord saying, "Lord, it has been so hard seeing Ezekiel go into travail prayer; surely You won't mind this little distraction." Then I didn't wait for an answer, but went ahead and got these tiny blue lights to put in the garden. But He has been distant ever since then and I couldn't bear the silence anymore—so I came to Him, repenting.

Oh, do you see, dear souls? There is no excuse for disobedience or self-indulgence. He is stretching us. And while sunny days may not bring temptation, very cloudy stormy days, exhausting days, can. I reasoned to myself, "This has been so rough, I need a consolation." Well, true enough. I needed a consolation, but not one that goes against His wishes. And you know? It doesn't matter if it's only $2.00 or $4.00. If He doesn't want it, it's wrong.

It's one thing to maintain and stay on track every day when everything is manageable—fasting when you're not in a war zone. But then, the Lord wants to test your faithfulness. He allows pressures to build up on all sides, failures... Oh boy. Computer. Hot tub. Oven. Electricity—you name it! Every time I turned around, something was going south...

Failures and glitches all around you, wasted time and so much more. I cannot even begin to tell you how intense it has been here. And He tested me. And I failed. So, now I have another chance and I am so grateful for that—although I do not deserve it.

Dear ones, He is so merciful. He made it very clear at communion, what I needed to think about, though.

The reading was Joshua 24:14-15. “Now therefore fear the Lord and serve him in sincerity and in faithfulness. Put away the gods that your fathers served beyond the River and in Egypt, and serve the Lord. And if it is evil in your eyes to serve the Lord, choose this day whom you will serve, whether the gods your fathers served in the region beyond the River, or the gods of the Amorites in whose land you dwell. But as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord.”

Well, I have to tell you...There is nothing like feeling separated from the Lord by my own folly. It is such a deep ache and longing to be back with Him. There's an emptiness. There's something missing. And when He withholds Himself because of something that I did.

I finally had to hold the little blue Christmas lights I bought for the garden in one hand and the Lord in the other and say, “Which one do you want? You can't have both.” And I ached again because of my folly.

I saw that I was wanting the gods of the Amorites—or materialism. External, not-from-God consolations. I could argue with Him forever: “Lord, if You didn't want us to have these things, why did You make them so very beautiful?” But what a vain, empty head I would have to do such a thing! We are in a war zone and our affections must be riveted on Jesus' and all that matters to Him. Trafficked children, looming wars, abusive parents, men that find pleasure in killing these children and going to prostitutes. Satanists. His mind is on saving the victims and saving these pitiful people, because they were made in His image and He longs for them to return to Him.

Well, to fill you in, on Good Friday Ezekiel went through the most intense re-enactment of the crucifixion that I've ever experienced. And I, like Mary, was there by his side during the whole ordeal that lasted for over an hour. I have to say it left me in a heap. And I am still recovering emotionally. I've been bankrupt for days and physically exhausted. I am beginning to understand that being present to this offering is MY offering, even as Mary was present during the crucifixion.

I am sure that many of you who have seen a loved one suffer know exactly what I'm saying. And I have to tell you. That suffering is your offering, as well, because the Lord has placed you there.

That makes it all the more powerful. When the two are united in unison with one another and Jesus—who still suffers, because of sin in the world. He suffers, because He loves us, and our pain is His pain. He feels the suffering of every aborted baby, the remorse the mother suffers afterwards, the divisions and backbiting and calumny in the Church. He feels all these things, all the time.

In this ordeal, it was not just Jesus on the Cross. The Father, was also united to Him in suffering. He was facing Jesus from the back of the Cross and Holy Spirit, as a man, was also affixed to the Cross, behind the Father.

Some may argue with me and say, “Where does it say THAT in the Bible?” Didn’t Jesus say, “I and the Father are one.” In some versions, it even says “I and the Father are one and the same.” That's John 10:30

And in John 14:9 Jesus said to, “Philip, I have been with you all this time, and still you do not know Me? Anyone who has seen Me has seen the Father. How can you say, ‘Show us the Father’?” 'Cause that's what Phillip had just asked Him. Jesus, show us the Father and it will be enough. And He answered him this way.

And again, for you newcomers, each of us has three parts: a spirit, soul and body. We are fashioned after God. Our spirits are eternal and our very essence; our souls and our minds and emotions; our bodies are the tent we inhabit on this Earth. But we are one whole.

This is the great misunderstanding that the Muslims have about the Trinity. If they understood they would have no objection!

Jesus came to Earth in the image of the Son to demonstrate the true, loving and forgiving nature of the Father. People had known Him as the lightning-and-earthquake, punishing God—but that was only because of their rebellion. His true nature is nothing like that. And He, the Father, sent His Spirit to accompany and comfort us on our journey, once the Lord had returned to Heaven.

So, again I must ask your forgiveness for being so weak. I love you all dearly and feel very badly when I can't share with you what is going on. The way it's been for me lately is, my brain has been like scrambled eggs, with all the things that were going on simultaneously. It's very, very hard to see someone suffer, it really... It just goes right straight to the core and shatters you. And so, I couldn't think straight, to even give you a message. That's why this one has taken so long. But He is beginning to train me to get beyond that. Thank God.

Anyway, in all of this, I am getting stronger. I am learning to get back up and not retreat into a hole until I recover. Not only when I'm foolish and do something to offend Jesus, but also when I feel traumatized by intercession.

There is a purpose for these difficult times, dear ones. The Lord is preparing us to shoulder more responsibility, more gifts, and we have to be tested over and over again before He can entrust us with His choicest graces. We have to bear up under pressure, pass by the schemes and logic of the enemy without buying into it. And most of all: stay out of self-pity. Self-pity is an iron door into the sewer of futility. Don't open that door! And if you do, cry out for help, back out and keep going.

Lord, did you want to add anything?

Jesus began, "Clare, you have understood and spoken My heart very clearly, and self-pity is one way the enemy entices you to sin. 'Poor you! You need comfort, consolation. Surely your loving God will not be offended if you...' do so-and-so. That line of logic is from Satan. And if you are wise, and truly from the heart want to grow into holiness, you will remember that and not buy into it.

"Oh, Clare, we have gone over this subject so many times. You and beauty—and your temptations to beautify your surroundings. And I do understand. I feel so tenderly for you, Clare. Truly, I do understand.

"That is why I have made Heaven so accessible to you. You may go there anytime. You could be sitting in a garbage dump and still be delighted by the fragrances of Heaven, walking with Me. You must learn to live in the invisible realm that is the REAL world. What you have down here is only temporary and will never fully satisfy you."

Plus, it comes with all these hooks and glitches!

He continued, "Did I not take you to the tiny rivulet running from the fourth waterfall and sit with you, enjoying the tiny violets?"

Yes, You did Lord!

"Yes, truly I did. That's why they are there—so you won't set your heart on earthly violets, but enjoy everything about them in your own Garden. Let's go there together more often. This is where I need you to find your rest. It is in this place you find your rest and consolation—in Me. Because I have created this tiny pleasure to embrace you as I wash away the misery of this Earth.

"Please, let's do this together more often. Even every day is not too much. You will stay far more balanced this way.

"When you dwell in My heart, you have found the opening to paradise and Heaven. You need only dwell in My Heart, waiting for Me, loving Me, so that I may open the door for you. Once the door is open, you may return over and over again. Not only that, but you will establish relationships with those you meet in Heaven and they will be forever friends—as there are no dimensions separating you. It is merely a matter of your honing your perceptions to be very, very finely tuned to be able to receive from Me and My Spirit—and communicate.

“Do you understand this? My Spirit permeates and holds together all of creation. There is nothing He does not know or cannot transmit, once it comes into being; it permeates the entire universe. It is merely a matter of your fine-tuning your mind.

“This is why, My children, I tell you to withdraw from earthly entertainment. Withdraw your senses from this gross form of communication, because it dulls your ability to hear Me and My Spirit. What amazing things you will see and understand when you learn to reject the world’s continual manipulative broadcasts! Especially fear broadcasts that are so disturbing to spiritual perception that they literally make you deaf. Why do you suppose the media is flooded with crass, carnal and violent stories, sights, sounds? Because they dull your senses and prevent you from hearing Me.

“Try this experiment. Turn off all the movies, loud and worldly music. Stay away from the city. Listen to very quiet, soothing music—such as Clare’s dwelling music, or recordings of birds and water. Cut off your sensory perception, including reading and pictures from all of this. And after a week, see how much clearer your prayer life becomes.”

That's why people go on retreats! (That was just me, thinking 'that's why they go on retreats—just to get away!')

Jesus continued, “And another hint: seek the wee small hours of the morning, where there is much more clarity, since the invisible buzz of the world’s communications are also mostly silent. Become sensitive and you will see a major difference in your ability to hear Me.”

Well, Lord, that's very interesting. Because I remember when I was in a cabin in the Pocono wilderness with my husband and four children. With only a little holy music. No internet, no communications outside—but long walks in the woods, mushroom hunting and climbing rocks and playing in brooks.

We came into a bustling town and all of a sudden, my mind was hit with an inaudible, naked-to-the-ear FLOOD. Ocean. Tsunami of noises and disturbances that were so painful to my head. Very disorienting. None of that was in the silence of the forest, but once we were out in 'civilization' it was unbearable.

He continued, “And to this day, you are sensitive. And it’s no mistake that you are living in an adobe house, because this protects you from a rash of electronic noises. Nonetheless, night-time is the most peaceful. That is why I wake many of you up in the wee small hours of the morning; you are hearing and receiving most clearly then.

“My people, so many of you are starving and yearning to experience Me. I am continually talking to you, but you cannot hear, because you have drowned out My voice with the voice of the World. Do not be afraid to be alone or silent. Relish this time, because it is then that you will hear Me most clearly.

“Now I ask of you: reach out. Touch My Heart with your plea to hear Me. I wish to impart this gift to you, but with it must come self-control and developing an exclusive ear for My voice. I will anoint you with this gift now—if you will but ask. Time and space mean nothing. As you are reading this, cry out to Me and I will give it to you. It is My heart’s desire to have this relationship with all of you. It is yours for the taking.

“Receive, and now put into practice the discipline of silence and cut out the cacophony of the world. I love you tenderly. Receive this gift from Me now.”

Discernment 202: Advanced Lessons

April 4, 2018

Jesus, You are the Truth and there is no lie or darkness in You. How grateful I am for your lessons in discernment. Please, help us get past our own agendas and to embrace only Your truth. Amen.

Well, my dear family, I really long to share with you all that is in my mind and on my heart. I don't want to wait two or three days to tell you about things. I feel like I need to tell you when they are happening. So, I'm going to share this tonight. It's a lesson in discernment for us.

We have some very dedicated prayer warriors that go the extra mile, anytime of the day or night. And when we call them up—they swing into action. I want to share with you our quandaries with discernment, in hopes that you will all learn something from it, even as we do. Rather than wait, I wanted to do this now, so that you would have a real inside glimpse of what we go through—knowing that it will happen to you, sooner or later.

It began yesterday, a little after 9:00, when Ezekiel called us together because of his pain and travail.

One of our group said, “I saw a lamp swinging from a ceiling, the kind that looks like a wide bell, and a single light bulb inside. Then I saw buildings, multi-story ones and I heard the word ‘Ecuador’. I saw clouds of dust rising. I saw walls and rubble down onto a children’s school, with the top of children’s heads showing, trapped under the walls...”

This was given by one of the prayer members in the Team.

Another person said she saw children a little older. “They needed to hear about Jesus, and they did and accepted Him.” And she was present to them in the spirit.

"I also saw two little girls alone, hemmed in by debris, in the same place as the other children—they were petrified. In the spirit, we went to comfort them. I began hearing Holy Spirit singing them a song—and then there was silence. And I knew they had choked on the lack of oxygen/dust and passed."

EZ saw that there were violent after-shocks...

"I had the thought or feeling for many minutes that this was caused. Bible Promises gave me 'Holy Spirit' when I asked. I don't know how or what, but some evilness set off whatever resulted in the earthquake forming."

(Clare) And when she said this, I thought of Tesla Technology, which can do these things. So, really, I'm reading this in the first person according to what they've given me. And I'm just making comments on the side.

"Ezekiel kept seeing some who were still alive. He asked for confirmation. While we are praying, people are covered up—but still alive, he said. All we can do is be there with them. He saw an overhead electric wire—the big ones that feed everyone in so many miles' radius, and it was broken. People are not only covered up, but literally impaled by shards of building materials."

One of our warriors said many, many angels have been sent out, over and over again.

"I saw many roofing tile in pieces," she said. "Half round. Then found a picture of an Ecuadorian Old-City house and it was just like the roofing materials they used in the house."

"EZ was suffering. Very, very severe pain in his abdomen and chest. How can anyone still be alive, crushed liked that? The Lord did say and confirm that's the reason he was being suffocated. He told him even days and weeks ago: whatever is hitting him, that's what the people are going through. That's why he was coughing. A slab of rock or terracotta had pierced someone. He is seeing that there's a reason for every symptom, every pain—and that's what those we pray over are going through."

"Holy Spirit has been praying with one of the intercessors for the souls involved in doing this... She, too, has heard that someone set it off, and was responsible for this earthquake happening."

"EZ kept seeing the city of Quito in Ecuador. And something off the coast of China or that area. On a map, it is a straight shot from the eastern coast of China and North Korea. It is also on the Ring of Fire."

So, I (Clare) got on the computer and pulled up the quakes and saw that there indeed had been a quake near Quito which began at the same time we were called to prayer, 1:15 their time. But it was only 4.3 earthquake on the Richter Scale. And in Quito, the date was also 4-3. April the 3rd. Coincidence?

Within the last hour there had been several earthquakes along the Ring of Fire. As I looked at the quake map, there was activity across the Pacific as well, but moderately low. Not one earthquake pointing to that kind of devastation.

“Another one of our warriors has been seeing a symbol from long ago that has morphed into a flag now. But the symbol is ancient—the crescent moon and star—flag of Islam, the religion the New World Order will use to gain control of the world and slaughter populations.”

And on that note, I was just envisioning them using the Muslims to kill off a lot of the inhabitants of the Earth. And then doing away with the Muslims when they're done. Who knows how that will end?

Well, we know for sure the Lord is going to be the victor on that one!

So, here we begin to wonder: did our prayers—along with others who were called in that hour—actually stop a much worse earthquake?

Well, that certainly is a possibility, but I wanted to look at all the Bible Promise Readings we got during this event, because we checked on every vision or incident. Was there anything contrary to the suggestion that the quake could have been much worse if we hadn't prayed?

And yes, there was. Someone saw a collapsed school with children and there are no children in school at 1:15 A.M. in Ecuador.

Again, I asked myself: Are we being played by the demons? Or perhaps this was a quake that was going to happen in the future?

So, we decided to pray and go over our readings again.

At the very beginning of prayer, through one of the warriors, a word was given. And that word was: Gossip. Now, I believe that may have been the Lord warning us we were about to be deceived. The person who received it took it as a personal rebuke and was distracted away from what was going on, because they felt badly about themselves for gossiping! Even though they couldn't figure out where in the world they gossiped. That definitely has nasty fingerprints on it.

When we come together to pray, we want to be present to the need—not searching our hearts for who we gossiped against. However, it is a very good idea to spend time in repentance before prayer, because if we are not right with the Lord, our prayers are not as strong. But the devils know we believe this, and they can cause us to be scrupulous and divert our attention to keep us from being effective in prayer.

And I want to say that the second most common fault (the first one being not listening to the Lord and not believing...) The second one is reacting to a word as if WE were guilty—rather than applying it to the situation we're praying for. And you know? Souls that want to be very meek and humble and honest before the Lord, they tend to internalize anything that's negative. And search THEIR souls to see if they did it. And the devil uses this against us.

Then one of our number asked: “WAS there a disaster there last night, Lord?” In Bible Promises the answer was: Help in Troubles.

Now, that could easily mean “I will help you; there is a problem with your discernment” or it could mean “God’s help for the people.”

Do you see dear ones? You can’t assume anything. Things have to be brought before the Lord and weighed. When someone wants to pinpoint their location, they need two coordinates and where they intersect is where they're at. So, for us, it means two points of discernment and finding where they connect to one another. That’s why we need to work together.

She also said, “SOMETHING happened last night, there, and children died. Was it an earthquake?” Bible Promises: Laziness.

BIG RED FLAG! Why would He give us laziness? I most often get this title when I am being distracted away from what I’m supposed to be doing—when I’ve chased rabbit trails. One of the Scriptures under Laziness is “Drink water from your own cistern.” This could mean that we were being given information from another cistern—the enemy’s.

What else could this mean? We didn’t pray enough? I don’t think so; we prayed for a long time. Really, until we felt a release. Actually, it wasn't as much a release as it was just a fizzle... It just kind of fizzled out.

“Was it a blast of some sort?” was her next question. Bible Promises: Seeking God.

Now, that always means: Go Deeper. Go deeper and wait on Me. It usually means: "No. There's something else going on here. You're going to have to go deeper if you want to know what it is." At least, for me it means that. If we had gotten “Holy Spirit” we could have taken that as a confirmation, IF the other rhemas lined up with it.

Another question: “Was there demonic influence going on just to keep us at prayer longer, as Clare suspects?” Mercy was the answer from the Bible Promises.

That could be Mercy for the victims and the BIG quake didn't happen. Or it could be that He is being merciful with us, by disclosing this as a trick of the enemy. "The LORD longs to be gracious to you, and therefore He waits on high to have compassion on you." That's part of the Mercy reading.

So, is He acknowledging this was a deception, and He granted us mercy—so we could spot it?

Oh, discernment is no easy thing; it requires childlike faith, but the wisdom of a serpent.

And her final question was: "Should we have stopped praying any earlier?" And she got: Pride.

Now—that's a RED FLAG! Big one. This would tell me that somewhere along the line we've missed it and got into our own flesh or maybe even our own sense of importance.

And on this note, I just want to interject that I think it's important for us to have an idea of what is going on when Ezekiel is suffering, who we are praying for, etc. But. Trying to get too many details can be part of a ploy that causes us to fall into Pride. 'Well, it's so-and-so and here's such-and-such. And here's that, here's this.' I mean, all these different details. When it gets to be superfluous details—that's when I think the red flags should go up and say, 'Okay. Now somebody's playing us, because we didn't need to know these things. All we needed to know were the basics, so that we could pray.'

So, if it starts to get too flowery and too complicated, you can begin to suspect that someone is being played and being shown things. They are definitely being shown things—it's not like they're dreaming these things up. But it's feeding their pride. That can happen really easily. It's happened to me so many times, more than I can count. Well, and it's brought me to the point where I'm very suspicious when that happens to anyone else. That they're being played.

One danger in any prayer group is that we see ourselves as inferior or superior, because of the knowledge that is entrusted to us. This is a dynamic fostered by Satan to create division. If one feels inferior, they will always seek justifications for their opinion. If one feels superior, they will be blind and discount others, looking down on them. Or even obvious evidence to the contrary of their own opinion—they'll ignore it. We have to come into prayer with fear and trembling and a solid sense of value in Christ alone, with no personal sensitivities and a ruthless commitment to truth to make this work. It's the way it has to be.

And to make it all the more complicated, we can ask the Lord through rhemas—but that does not mean that the answer He gives us will be the answer to our question. Very often, there is a more pressing matter in the forefront of His mind that we're not aware of—and He will point us in that direction, first.

OHHH...is that frustrating!

So, the more appropriate question is: "Lord, what is first and foremost in Your mind right now?" And once that is cleared up, then you can move on to what's first and foremost in OUR mind.

All these possibilities left my head swirling last night, so I came to the Lord, "Lord, I don't know what to believe."

And I heard Him answering me, "Why do you think I put you in this position?"

To help with discernment.

"That's right. And Clare, your job is never done. There will always be something more to discern."

Oh Jesus, I cling to You.

"Dear one, you are not far from the truth."

Lord, please answer me about last night?

He answered, "What do you think?"

Deception?

He answered me again, "Is that what you think?"

I suspect it, Lord.

"Well, you are correct—you were all taken for a ride. This is no reason to give up, Clare. It is merely a caution that you all need to pay better attention to the signs. I know you are in the grips of his agony, but still you must learn to steer the ship when there's a storm."

"The presentations are very convincing. Working together is challenging. And you all have a lot to learn about listening to one another and recognizing warnings."

"One person is especially sensitive about children being hurt; another is longing to make it better, to help. Another to define. Others do take pride in knowing this and knowing that. There's nothing wrong with these traits in and of themselves, but when Satan wants to exploit a soul, he looks for their weak points—the things that really matter to them, what they're willing to defend—and he uses that against them."

"As you said, he plays them. I am training you to pray together and be more clever than the enemy."

"Look at the fruit. Are you being drawn together or pushed apart? Do you have peace and resolution at the end of your prayer, or is it confused? You have had many authentic episodes and last night was different; that should catch your attention, as it did. That kind of change should be a warning sign that something is off."

"I can tell you this much, you are doing damage to the kingdom of darkness. Even though it is only a little damage, it is still threatening—especially if you should grow."

"So, what do you suppose the enemy does with a group that's threatening?"

Send a spirit of division?

"Exactly. Make one feel slighted by another. Cause distrust, confusion and differing reports. All of those are signs of the enemy tampering with something that started off good and pure. When you see that, you need to do exactly what you are doing right now: regroup, go over the symptoms with a fine-toothed comb to reveal the inconsistencies."

"This IS Me, you know."

(I was having doubts but I did not say anything to them.)

Then I answered, "I thought it was You, Lord."

"Well, it truly is, and you are doing exactly what needs to be done. Reminding yourself that it's not important who says what, who does what—only the truth is important. And each member of the team must be more than willing to be wrong, or there will be internal power struggles for dominance. It should come as no surprise to you. I want to be dominant, and will allow setbacks when someone begins to rise up. Or to think that they should be dominant."

"My Beloved Saints, I want you all to work together without any regard for who said what, who was given what, which prayer was effective and which wasn't. And who said that prayer, anyway..."

"Uh huh...you are seeing yourself in there, aren't you, Clare?"

"Yes, Lord...You caught me."

I tend to lean heavily on communion, and having a communion service while this is going on. And that it will have the effect that breaks the oppression. Now in the past, it has. But the last two—it hasn't. So, I have seen that many times, but if it's my personal soap box, I will defend it if it is threatened.

You just can't afford to have an opinion. You can't afford to want to defend ANYTHING. You just can't. Holy Spirit is the only opinion that matters.

Jesus answered me, "Good, you are willing to be caught. Please do not concern yourself about what comes through one or the other or all of you. Before Me, all of you are on the same level and I do not support the need to be right in anyone. Rather, I support meekness and those who are ruthless with confessing their faults and putting down their flesh.

"I tell you this, because Satan will find that weak point and exploit it to the fullest. He will even go through the trouble to stomp on that button over and over again without your knowledge that they've been wounded, so that member will be tender and defensive. Then he will orchestrate a move to cause someone to touch that hotspot and set off a reaction that causes them pain, enmity and leads to division.

"Your job is to see it coming and open it up to the Light. That's why I keep telling you that transparency is absolutely vital to your survival and healing, which you need on a daily basis.

"Confess your sins to one another and pray for each other so that you may be healed." James 5:16

He continued, "This is a very important teaching about working together, My dearly loved ones. Without transparency, you can fall prey to division. I want each of you to look out for the welfare of the other. Know the tender places and apprehensions of one another so that you can calm them in the storm. Charity, above all, will hold you together in prayer. Wrap your hearts and minds around one another, protect each other—but without compromising on the truth. Be in solid, heartfelt agreement that only Truth matters.

"Please. Continue on as you have been doing. This is a very important work to Me and I am with you. Continue to pray. Fast as you can. Pay close attention to your sins and repent immediately. You must be in season to pray, all the time. You cannot afford a sin to linger or you will be less effective in deliverance.

"I love you, dear ones. I honor your great faithfulness to pray at all hours of the day and night. I honor your attempts to yield to one another. And because you are doing My will, I will increase the anointing and protect you from marauding demons breaking in, stealing your time and dividing you.

"Just be very sensitive to one another and My Spirit and do not allow fear or politics to coerce you into saying, or not saying, something I put in your heart and mind."

Ezekiel's Dream About President Trump—A Call to Travail

April 7, 2018

Lord, we bless and thank You for including us in Your army. You didn't let my selfishness exclude me from this great work. Rather, You tenderly called and equipped me to stand in the midst of torments, believing You would rescue our President. May all souls rally to Your side, Jesus and trust You for empowerment.

Well, my dear ones, Ezekiel had a dream about President Trump that ended with a piercing hot poker going right through his heart, that caused him to awake violently. And then, the torment began. Everything in his body seized up and the pain throughout his body was SO intense. I can't tell you what it does to me to see that. But God is giving me strength to stand, anyway.

The dream began in a place looking like the historic district of Boston or Philadelphia. The buildings were early American red brick, and there was one particularly large building where a gala was going on. It was early evening, a mild night in early Spring, as the trees had not yet set out foliage. But buds were peeking through the branches.

President Trump was having a gala there. We were not invited to this event, but we were in the area. And we were observers—and our hotel was just across a red brick walkway from this celebration. We had been outside looking around and taking in the sights when Ezekiel became very sick. And we had to retire to our hotel room.

As the pain worsened, he got very, very loud—as often happens. I had found a few bricks and a plank and made a little altar on the floor, placing clean linen and candles on it. This is something I do at any place we stay, and we spend substantial time there at the altar. But all of a sudden, someone broke the door down to our room. And in came this dramatic SWAT team, carrying arms and weapons and encircling us in the room. And when they saw the altar, with the candles lit and they saw Ezekiel in bed, crying out— they all put their weapons down and came over to him, wanting to help.

A few moments later, some Trump aides came in with two women, one of whom was his daughter. They were all very concerned for Ezekiel. Shortly after that, President Trump came in with three security guards and looked at Ezekiel, who said to him, "Donald! What are you doing here?"

And just as an aside note, the two men recognized each other. Apparently, Donald knew Ezekiel and Ezekiel knew him. And this often happens, that in the spirit we meet up with people who are very significant in our life.

Moving along.

But before the president could answer, he caught sight of the altar on the floor, and rushed to it—collapsing in tears. He actually had laid across it, and his head and elbows were on the floor on the other side of the altar. He sobbed and sobbed and sobbed for quite some time.

Then, he began to compose himself and made the gesture to get up. And two men came and lifted him up, under the arms until he was standing—yet still, a bit unsteady. He looked at Ezekiel and said, "I really needed that. I'm sorry for disturbing your evening."

I had to laugh when Ezekiel told me that. Our evenings are always disturbed, the very same way.

Then he turned to walk out, and looked back at us and said, "Thank you for praying." And that was the end of the dream.

Ezekiel perceived that, at the gala, he was really, really holding a lot down. And he went out to get some fresh air. This occasion of something unusual that he could hear going on next door gave him the opportunity to step out into the evening air, and just get away for a moment. He was holding so much down, when he saw that altar placed where we go to give our lives to God and plead with the Lord—he just couldn't hold it back any more. He collapsed in prayer.

I woke up this morning to find out that the NAFTA trade agreement was coming up today. Dear one, he SO NEEDS our prayers! This man is suffering internally, terrible attacks. Unimaginable pain. He knows all the possibilities and he is so distressed over our country. So much so, that in the middle of all his superficial gala, he could no longer hold it in. He had to get out of there. And the dam of emotion and love for our nation and everyone in it finally burst. The secret service and aides just quietly waited in the background, knowing that something very important was transpiring between Donald and God.

Heartdwellers, this is another call to prayer and sacrifice. Whatever you can give up, in fasting or pleasures, please do it for the sake of this nation and the world. Someday, you are going to look back and see the impact each one of you have had on the nation in this critical turn. I can tell you, we have all had a part in this battle.

I'm beginning to understand, truly understand, the active role that Mary had at the crucifixion of her son. Because she stood there in support of what He was doing, and yet she suffered terribly watching Him suffer. In other words, her part was one with His, and she was willing to suffer that for all of us.

Every time Ezekiel goes into one of these travails, these excruciating problems, I suffer with him— to the point where I feel as though I'm going to collapse. I've tried to push through it and work with music, and even study Scriptures, to get ready for a class or a lesson that I've been wanting to do. But I'm so torn up inside. Really, all I can do is cry and cry out.

Re-enacting the Lord's last supper, the communion service, to back President Trump. To give us strength to go on just one more day. And I have finally been thinking, dear Family—why is it that certain prophets always have good and wonderful things to say about tomorrow? "Breakthrough is coming", etc.

And I've finally come to the understanding that there are Christians who love the Lord. But they're not carrying the entire weight of the world on their shoulders every day. They have a different function in the Body of Christ. And they need encouragement, too.

Then there are Christians that have been called to die daily. Seriously die. Pick up their cross and follow Jesus. They truly have perceived this from the Lord to be their personal calling. So, that's what they do. And enter into the torment of travailing prayer. And the Lord sends others.

So, based on that presumption on my part, I'd say we're due for a break! And a replacement. If that's not what He wants to give us, we will keep fighting and offering and He will just have to strengthen us, because we are beyond ourselves in our ability to keep walking.

For some, it's sickness. For others, it's serious marital problems. For others, it's discernment problems, or problems with their children. Every one of us has some kind of agony we're going through. And every one of us can offer this up for President Trump and the success of his administration.

Jesus told me, "You can choose not to do this, Clare. And you will lose nothing you've gained thus far." This was just before Ezekiel started into travailing prayer. "You will still be in Heaven with Me," Jesus continued. "You will still hear My voice and be My Bride. I will not take anything I've given you thus far." That's what the Lord told me.

And I thought, 'Oh dear. What is this about?' But it really doesn't matter, because I can't say no to Him. Sometimes I say no to Him on something little, but on the big things, I can't ever say no to Him.

So, here I am in all my weakness, crying out every day for our nation. Really unable to do much more, let alone music. When I hear Ezekiel go into travail like that, I can't sing or play. The pain is just too great. But we're going to WIN, Heartdwellers. We're going to WIN. We're on the winning Team. No matter what the enemy throws at us. No matter what God allows them to throw at us and to land—it doesn't make any difference. Whatever lands on us is turned into HUGE intercessory grace, to lift the burden off of President Trump, and help him win all of his battles.

So, let's keep fighting and sacrificing for our Lord. Let's not withdraw.

Jesus, is there anything You wish to add?

He began, "You know I am with you. You know you can never out-give Me. You know I love you and Ezekiel. Is this too much to ask of you, Clare? I know it seems that way sometimes, but you're doing your part. And it is so important to Me. And thus far, have I not given you the strength you need from day to day?"

"Don't worry about music. I promise you that your time will come. You have tended to Me in My infirmities. My Body. (And there He means by husband, Ezekiel.) Lying there in your bed. Broken. Wounded. Weak and stripped. You've been faithful about what was most important. I will be faithful to sustain you and your whole crew. You have nothing to fear or worry about, Clare. All is covered for you.

"And I speak to your hearts, Dear ones. All of you have a part to play in this. Your prayers ascending with hers and Ezekiel's and Carol's and Mine. And all the prayer team. Your prayers added together are an important part of what I am doing. And while you don't see or understand it right now, what you suffer for My sake is vastly more powerful than anything you could do through the ministry that I've given you or chosen for you to do. Music. Painting. Writing. All forms of expression do not hold a candle to intercession, backed by suffering. This is tremendous personal loss! And you're giving it with great love.

"Know, also, that the Cloud of Witnesses IS with you, cheering you on. Watching your struggles. Crying out on your behalf. And We hear their prayers."

When He says, "We hear their prayers." He is speaking of the Holy Trinity.

"Though they cannot suffer in Heaven as they could have on Earth, their hearts are also torn, seeing the dramas unfold every day. And no tear or cry of theirs goes unnoticed by My Father and I. And as I have taught you before: one authentic sigh of your heart and the incense of prayer goes up to the Throne, where My Father responds by sending Grace.

"Holy Spirit permeates all of Creation. Each soul that cries out comes before My Father in Heaven, even as I, too, cry out! You are not alone in your sufferings and battles. For when one member of the Body suffers, all suffer.

"I have put the Body together, giving greater honor to the parts that lacked it. So, there should be no division in the Body, but that it's parts should have equal concern for one another. If one part suffers, every part suffers with it. If one part is honored, every part rejoices with it."

He's quoting from I Corinthians 12.

"Therefore, is not the Cloud of Witnesses part of My Body? Indeed, it is written. 'Another angel, who had a golden censor came and stood at the altar. He was given much incense to offer, with the prayers of ALL of God's people. On the golden altar in front of the Throne. The smoke of the incense, together with these prayers went up before God from the angel's hand.'" That's Revelation 8:3-4

"And again, 'When the Lamb opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of those who had been slain for the Word of God. And for the testimony they had upheld. And they cried out in a loud voice, 'How long, O Lord Holy and True, until You judge those who live on the Earth and avenge our blood?' That's Revelation 6:10

"That was a personal prayer they cried out for Me to avenge their blood."

And at that point, I had a question. I said, 'But Lord. Aren't those who have shed their earthly tent no longer part of the Body?'

He quoted I Corinthians 12: 27 "Now, you are the body of Christ and each of you is a member of it." Then He said, "Where is that written, Clare? That you cease to be part of the Body of Christ when you're in Heaven?"

I don't know, Lord. It's just a tradition accepted...

He broke in and He said, "In error. It's in error. Are not all My apostles busy about My work in Heaven? Have they ever ceased to be a part of the Body? Are they not still functioning as apostles? Is it not written in that same place 'Now you are the Body of Christ and each of you is a part of it. And God has placed in the church first of all apostles, prophets, teachers, miracles, gifts of healing, helping, guidance and all different kinds of tongues.'

"I tell you the Truth, Clare. And for all of you who will accept it. How can Peter, James, John and Paul still be apostles and NOT be aware of what is happening on Earth in the Church? Do you think they suffer when they see what's happening on the Earth? Do you think they cry out? Of course, they do. Once an apostle—always an apostle. For better or for worse. Everyone in Heaven is serving the needs of those on Earth, in one way or another, until My Kingdom is finally established on Earth.

"So, until that happens, all groan inwardly with Me in what I suffer watching the corruption and sin on the Earth. That groan is recorded by the angels as a prayer. As it is written: 'In the same way, the Spirit helps us in our weaknesses. We do not know how we ought to pray, but the Spirit Himself intercedes for us with groans too deep for words.' (That's Romans 8:26)

And there, He's calling groans—prayers. Wow. That ties in!

"The bottom line, Clare. When you groan over the plight of another, you just called upon the Father to assist them. In short, you have prayed for them. So, all who groan in Heaven have sent forth prayers. If not, explicit verbally, in the form of groans. And the Father hears them.

"I have told you before, you will be denounced and hated for this teaching. But what is that to you? You are already hated. As long as I am happy with you, Clare, pay no mind to the detractors. If you understand these things and put them into practice, blessed will you be."

Well, Lord—how do we put them into practice?

"For now, it is enough for you to know and be aware of. The enemy has many counterfeits and before I complete this teaching for you to share, I will speak of these things—that you not be led astray by doctrines of demons, or so-called reformers who lacked understanding.

"My precious Daughter, all Christians in Heaven or on Earth are crying out to the Father in this hour. That what is good will triumph over the insidious evils of the past. And when I say 'all' on Earth and in Heaven—I do mean ALL.

"But for you now, My People, rend your hearts in supplication, for the hour is super-critical. And I need you all. And I need all you can give for Me to deliver this Evil. These are the feet and toes of iron and clay My prophet Daniel talked about. They exist now in this time, but they are being restrained until My Father determines. And then they will oppress and rule the Earth.

"You are to stand in the gap, NOW, to prevent this until the appointed Hour—that it does not come prematurely. Indeed, it is already past. But the Mercy cried out from the Blood of the slain and suffering on this Earth, My Father has heard these prayers and extended the time. And has appointed you, and all who care, to stand in the gap until that fateful Hour.

"In the meantime, thousands who were going to Hell, have been and will be converted and added to the Kingdom. Persevere, My Daughter. Persevere. Do not let the time pass without shedding all your tears on Our behalf.

"Travail, My People. Travail. This Hour is critical."

Rough Water Sanctifies

April 9, 2018

The Lord bless you, Heartdwellers.

I was pondering the extreme difficulties of the past two days, and the Lord illuminated a thought in my mind. It had to do with the benefits of these trials. Things that we don't normally think of.

Thank you, Lord, for revealing to us the hidden things of Your will. It makes it so much more bearable.

The Lord began, "Nothing I allow is without a purpose. All will rebound to My Glory. Why do you weep, Child? Why do you mourn? Even as the song lyrics playing now say, 'It's All About You, Jesus. And all of this is for You. For Your glory and Your name. It's not about me. As if You should do things MY way. You alone are God and I surrender to Your will.'"

Beautiful song by Charlotte Laystrom. It's All About You.

Jesus continued, "Do you not know that I write straight with crooked lines? Would I allow these sorrowful difficulties if they did not serve a purpose in My Divine Plan? Would you be surprised if I told you I ordained them for your mutual sanctification?"

"While I am not the author of evil, I do allow tests in your life. Evil, sickness or suffering comes from the demons, who wait in line eagerly, expecting an opening where I will give permission. That you suffer is not necessarily a sign or symptom of sin or unbelief. You've prayed many times, and seen restoration and miracles. So, the issue is not your faith, Clare.

"He has been healed many times with your prayers. So, the issue is not with his faith, either. What then?"

"Hidden sin? Does not he confess and repent regularly, those things I convict him of? Do you not also confess and repent? Why, then, is this severe trial being allowed you?"

"Could it be that I'm forming you and allowing this to shape you more perfectly? Could it be that your sufferings are relieving the plight of others? Perhaps even preventing the assassination of your President? Or even events you never, in your wildest imagination, dreamt of?"

"Oh, Clare. I heard you so loud and clear last night, when you asked Me to release you both from this trial. I heard. I felt. I grieved. I experienced ALL you felt and My heart was full of compassion.

"And My Father's heart, when you cried out to Him. Was He deaf to your pleas? No, Clare. He was right there beside you, travailing even as you travailed. You are His precious Creation. Returned to Him from far, far away, as you wandered in your life through the world. He was not deaf. Not any more than He was deaf to My cry on Calvary: My God. My God! Why have You forsaken Me?"

And I want to share with you dear ones, that last night I did ask the Lord to release us. It's got to be too much. Ezekiel had offered his life for the world, our country and Donald Trump and his family. But he confided in me last night, "I am so, so sorry. I didn't know or consider the cost when I offered myself. I didn't consider what it would cost YOU".

So, I went to the Lord and asked Him, "Lord. Where is life in this? How can anyone live with this suffering? How can I do all You've called me to do, daily, with this devastating pain he suffers?"

You see, Dear ones, most people in his condition are on morphine. But the doctor will not give him pain relief unless he submits to tests. And the Lord has over and over again told us 'no'. Such a simple thing. A few tests and he could have pain relief. But Jesus says, 'no'. And we must honor that.

So, he suffers not only the pain but the accusation that he's trying to manipulate someone for drugs. He has never been an addict. Everything that was given him for pain was from the doctor, and the doctor's determination. But we had a very good doctor who worked outside of the box, and he got audited, because he did what the patient needed—not just what was insisted on by the government.

Jesus began again, "Yet the Father knew the plan. He knew the glory and release of prisoners this suffering would bring, because I agreed and came to Earth. And He did not lessen the blows, Clare. He did not buffet the spitting and beatings. He allowed what must take place so that you and every other soul would have a chance to be in Heaven with Him. Returned to His bosom. To the very place only they could fill for the joys of Eternity.

"And you, having made an offering of your life, over and over again—consented to this trial—and all I would use to form you. You do trust Me. But your flesh is indeed weak. That is why We could not give in to your request. And have I not strengthened you? Though it is so painfully hard?"

Yes, Lord. You have. I just feel so bankrupt.

"That, too, is in My plan. Do you trust Me, Clare?"

I do. When I'm in my right mind.

"And whether you see or know it, great relief and conversion is coming to souls, because you DO trust Me. But most of all, I want everyone to know that nothing I allow in your life is without a very specific purpose. And if it were not to your ultimate benefit, I would never allow it.

"I have so much in mind when I allow these things. So much! And you stumbled on one today. You will know first-hand what spouses suffer when their mates are very, very sick. And it will give you great compassion and deep feelings of wanting to pray for them and relieve them."

"The effectual, fervent prayer of a righteous man avails much." That's James 5:16

"And how can your prayers be effectual and fervent if you've not experienced those terrible pains first-hand? I'm enlarging your heart, Clare. Oh, don't you see? This is all a part of your training. From your actions, you've proved to Me you're not set on your own will of creating music, messages or any other work. Even those requested by Me. You are set on My moment-to-moment will of nursing your husband. Which at times requires you to lay down what you were doing—especially when you were enjoying it.

"Oh, that has such great benefit, both now and in the times to come. When you faithfully lay down with these things, it opens a whole world of grace for others. And sanctifying instruction for our Channel.

"I want you all to grow in holiness, My Heartdwellers. Holiness is not just about being happy with your work when you are serving Me, when things go well. Holiness is about being happy to do My will, especially when it deprives you of something. I like to have complete control of the helm. And in this way, you will always be blown to your destination by the sanctifying winds of Grace that come with every trial.

"My Beloved Heartdwellers. I bless you now to go forth in endurance and resolve. Fully aware that even the littlest things in your lives have been permitted by Me, and have a very specific purpose. Reflect on this when you want to be angry or hurt. And put to rest the anxiety that attacks your peace in those moments, reflecting, 'The Lord has a purpose for this. All glory and honor to Him. He, who could have easily prevented this, but chose instead to allow it to form me in holiness. Bless Him.'

"And say to yourselves, 'He's not interested in the little benefit, having all things go my way would produce. Rather, He's looking at me as a finished work of Grace and Glory in Heaven.'"

A Messenger from the Great Cloud

April 13, 2018

Lord Jesus, please open the hearts and minds of those truly seeking You, that they may receive a new understanding of Your Cloud of Witnesses and what it means to live beneath an open Heaven. Amen.

Well, Heartdwellers, I have so many exciting things to share with you. We are bearing fruit all over the place and it is amazing what God is doing.

But today, I want to share with you an experience of a young mother of two children. An experience she had when she was in prayer. She received a message—just like I hear a message—except she received it from one soul in the Great Cloud of Witnesses.

A little history about this young woman. She had a turbulent—but Christian—childhood, which was also rich in spiritual experiences. She was able to see the guardian angels of different people and having a real sensitivity to the Lord, and what was right and what was wrong.

When she left home and went out on her own, she got involved with the wrong crowd and ended up having two children with a drug dealer, who grew marijuana in the mountains, and was finally arrested and put in prison. She didn't use drugs, but she lived in that seedy environment.

When her relationship broke up with this man, he threatened to kill her and she had to go into hiding with her children. At the same time, she came down with a rare form of cancer that spread quickly in her body. For ten years, she fought the cancer and felt like dying and giving up many, many times.

Finally, she seemed to be getting a handle on it. And she and I started corresponding.

She had a gift for music that had been suppressed by the turbulent lifestyle she led. And when the father of her children poured several six packs of beer on her very expensive keyboard, he destroyed it. For 10 years she went without any music at all.

Well I started encouraging her and she was able to get a new keyboard and start playing again. Then she got a recording program and started to blossom.

She had known Jesus as a little child, but she just recently returned to Him and dove into a very deep relationship—in which He spoke to her many times. Appeared to her in many visions and dreams. He came to her as a child—the Child Jesus. And she would see herself as a child, as well. And they conversed.

He encouraged her with her music and appeared to her in many visions and dreams.

Lately, she, like the rest of us, had been having a very hard time concentrating and staying in the saddle. She was feeling discouraged and fearful and prayed, asking the Lord to give her some kind of confirmation and encouragement.

She began to tell me her story, “Since Friday, I was frustrated, because I felt as though I could not concentrate or practice. I was making so many mistakes. I could not seem to focus. Then out of nowhere, doubting thoughts ran through my mind.

“I was for some reason fearful about cancer coming back. I was allowing that worry to drip back into my mind, but I have no idea why. I’ve not worried about it for many months. In fact, before these doubts came into my mind, I felt completely focused.”

That’s when she had a vision of one of the Great Cloud of Witnesses, Hildegard of Bingen, (that’s in Germany) who was a Benedictine abbess, artist, author, composer, mystic, pharmacist, poet, preacher and theologian. What a woman!

She came to her in the spirit, and began this beautiful, beautiful letter of encouragement. She said, “With that battle (the battle of cancer) you learned who your true friends were, how much your family loves you and the power of God’s grace. And the power of God’s mercy. The secular world means less to you now; and you’re free from the influence of those who intended you harm.”

Let me tell you, guys—there’s a whole lot of witchcraft in this world. Curses for cancer are very common. She continued.

"You have connected once again with humility and a pure joy has been gifted to you. If you hold in your heart this feeling and allow the Holy Spirit to flow through you, God's healing energy will always be present. Your gifts will be cultivated and fertilized by the inspiration of your love for Christ.

"Do not be frustrated when you feel blocked or uninspired. This is just a sign that Our Lord Jesus wants you to come to Him in humility and ask for help. Do not forget that you can't ask too much of Him. He loves you, and is stronger than you can possibly imagine.

"God does not want you to be too judgmental towards yourself. Being humble does not mean you compare yourself to those with who you consider to be more talented. Instead, understand that Jesus is working with you to become the instrument that He wants you to be."

Boy, does that sound familiar to me!

She continued, "His gift happens in His time. Stop rushing yourself; it will only cause you more frustration. When you doubt God's plan for you, you allow the enemy in. Satan plants those doubts to try and break you from the path that God has intended for you. Through the holy Name of Jesus Christ our Lord, repel the demons of doubt. Jesus is our deliverer. Demons cannot survive His presence.

"Child, this is the message you are intended to hear. This doubt is not of God. It is a demon of Doubt sent by Satan. He hates that you have chosen the path God has intended for you. He will never stop attacking you. Remember the prayers that invoke the Pure and Divine power of Jesus' Name. Only He can dispel the impurity that seeps from this disturbing and interrupting demon."

And that was the end of St. Hildegard's message to her. Wow!

Then the young mother said, "I asked the Lord for some guidance. I think she was that guidance. What do you think? Do you know anything about her?"

Well, I immediately wrote to this young mother and told her she had received a great grace from Heaven; a saint from the Cloud has taken her under her wings as a spiritual child and encouraged her with these words from the Heart of the Holy Spirit.

Dear ones, we have no concept of what the Great Cloud is doing in our presence in these moments. Everyone is so afraid of a familiar spirit, they keep their distance from even Jesus—let alone the saints in the Cloud who are cheering us on. I know many of these saints from times that I've spent in Heaven, and they visit me regularly—especially during communion. They are there to encourage and let us know we are loved and accepted by Heaven, and they truly are cheering us on in the race for sanctity and the salvation of souls.

I wrote a song about this very thing. When God the Father came to me in Heaven. In fact, the name of the song is Come To Me. And it goes something like this:

Come to Me,
Can't you see just how much I love you?
Here you're free, just to be
All you've ever hoped for.
Now you're Home, you're not alone
Your family adores you.
My Child, I welcome you Home.

And it's about the Bride of Christ. Probably in one of the song lists. But the lyrics to this song plainly, plainly talk about us being Home, in the sense that we've encountered Heaven, we know Heaven, we know what it feels like—and we are loved by the Citizens of Heaven. And this is definitely a reference to the Great Cloud of Witnesses. I think you'll find that it's very edifying and very confirming of what this young mother experienced.

And I should know the difference between a saint and a demon. I was training to be a trance medium. I thought I could help people. When the Lord visited me, I put that all away and was fearful of any spiritual encounters other than Jesus.

But the sad truth is, Satan has a counterfeit for everything. He has his black mass with human sacrifice. He has his spirit guides, who are demons assigned to mislead people. He even has his healing miracles. He has a counterfeit and imitation for everything God created.

So, should we never see or understand anything in the Spirit? Because we might be misled, of all things? That's his agenda: keep us so fearful we will not trust any inspiration in the Spirit and lead a lukewarm, lackluster life.

And if we dare to try, we will inevitably be tricked by a false Jesus and be misled. So... should we give up? No! Never! We need to get serious and learn proper discernment and how mistakes in discernment happen and why God allows them.

Note that in St. Hildegard's message to the young woman, she talks about humility. She said, "You have connected once again with humility and a pure joy has been given to you." Yes indeed, I told this young mother. The cancer had to do with her pride and rebellion as a young girl. It took God 10 years to bring her to the point where she really needed Him and would be willing to submit to His loving plan for her life.

And she freely admits that she has been very, very proud and self-righteous.

A demon is not going to teach on humility, guys! Or encourage a holy gift. People who are afraid to connect with Jesus, angels or saints are really just lacking in discernment. How do you know those trips to Heaven are from God? Because a bad tree cannot produce good fruit.

That's Matthew 12:33 The messages from God and Heaven are always accompanied by conversion of heart, deep humility and unyielding perseverance to God's plan for their lives and finally—peace.

Dear ones, the Cloud is there to assist you, and Holy Spirit will not allow you to just go flying around looking for a saint. Rather, He will bring one into your life. One who is an inspiration and one who will pray for you, just like a best friend.

You see, in Heaven everyone helps everyone else, and their entire life's work is to bring in the Harvest, helping us down here on Earth to accomplish our own dreams and goals which God has given us for His Kingdom. This young lady's encounter is only one in millions that have happened since that Time began.

But now in the words of the prophet, "...this is what was spoken by the prophet Joel: 'In the last days, God says, I will pour out My Spirit on all people; your sons and daughters will prophesy, your young men will see visions, your old men will dream dreams. Even on My servants, both men and women, I will pour out My Spirit in those days, and they will prophesy. I will show wonders in the heavens above and signs on the earth below.'" Acts 2:16-19

And there is no doubt in my mind that the removal of the veil between Heaven and Earth is revealing the activity of the saints and angels who are part of this end-times Harvest.

And what does it mean to 'prophecy'? For prophesying, you have both the foretelling of things that are to happen in the future, unless they are prayed down, and they don't happen because of intercession. And you're also encouraged. Prophets are there to encourage you. And that's exactly what this woman from Heaven was doing, was encouraging her.

This is not about "woo-woo" visions and escapades in the spirit world—that's what the dark side lives for. This is about the salvation of souls and the activation and cultivation of those of us down here in this last Great Battle of our gifts. We need all the help we can get! And isn't it just like Satan to have counterfeits, so that we don't get the help we need?

Consider: what would this young mother be going through right now if she hadn't had this supernatural encounter with the Cloud? She would still be limping along, and struggling with unbelief.

As far as discernment is concerned, all of you who have been with me for several years know that I am very big on knowing what is of God, and what is of the flesh, and what is of the Devil. I think I've probably got at least 50 messages, 50 teachings on Discernment. And examples of me being deceived and of me finding out the Truth. And authentication of visions and encounters with the Lord.

If you have sought to have a deeper relationship with Jesus, you have most likely run into a Fake Jesus. Or the devil's counterfeit—an angel of light—which is only a demon in disguise. And you, if you are discerning, did not let yourself be turned back from your resolve to know Jesus and grow deeper and deeper into your friendship and even the spiritual marriage to Him.

So, the very same rules of discernment apply to the Cloud of witnesses. You don't just accept anyone posing as a saint. And I can tell you from experience, that demons pose as different saints. You test the spirits, to see if they be of God. That's 1 John 4. "And you will know them by their fruits." Matthew 7:15

They may deceive you a couple of times, but sooner or later they will give themselves away when they depart from Scripture and Truth—and their disguise will be uncovered. You must be vigilant and discerning. Never lazy or taking anyone or anything for granted. Please, listen to my teachings on discernment until you grow in understanding. It'll give you the tools that you'll need to know the difference.

You see, God intended us to have a relationship with the Great Cloud, because they are our family in Heaven. Just as we go to Heaven, we also meet saints there who know and care about us and we are part of their family.

But Satan side-tracked people into 'spirit guides,'—who are demons in disguise—and into séances, calling up of the dead, which are a substitute for a true encounter with a heavenly being.

We cannot afford to let the enemy steal what God meant for us to have for good. Just as the Lord has sent us angels in these end times, He has also allowed us to be introduced to the citizens of Heaven. They are as much a help to us as a prophetic person here on Earth is. This is not "calling up the dead". When that happened, the Lord had NOT opened the realm of the dead and released them into Heaven yet. That happened when He descended into Hell and He took all the saints and patriarchs and prophets into Heaven with Him. And this is life in the Spirit, in the heavenly realms, which have been opened to us in these end times.

Lord, have You anything to say?

As I waited on Him, I really cleared my mind, 'cause I didn't want to continue on with my own thoughts. When He came up with a few remarks in this next paragraph, I knew it wasn't me...

Jesus began, "Make no mistake about it. The enemy has stolen much of what I wanted to give you, through the misunderstanding Religious spirits generate in the minds of faithful, Bible-believing Christians. When you come to be with Me, you will be astounded by the amount of grace you were deprived of.

"Demons were assigned to influence those who lacked a depth of understanding of Scripture, as well as discerning of spirits. They have kept you away from My vessels unto honor, by scaring you into thinking those things were demonic. Much of this stems, not from Scripture, but religious tradition and men's opinion.

"When I stood upon the Mount of Transfiguration, I declared the Heavens open. And from that time forth, a river of manifestations of the Kingdom of Heaven upon Earth began. These are not idle words, "The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand" which I spoke in Matthew 12. These, as well as many other of My words, were meant to be taken literally.

"But those inspired by fear, needing man-inspired walls and retainers to stay safe, stripped them of their true meaning. When I stood upon the Mount, I gave you an example that you should encounter the patriarch's and saints of old, to be strengthened in your journey on this Earth so fraught with deadly traps of quicksand and so devoid of encouragement. And so, for My purposes, I permit heavenly beings to visit Earth to strengthen you.

"But those desperately lacking in discernment have perverted these visitations, making them a 'demonic manifestation' in the minds of other Believers.

"Why should Satan have more devices of evil than I have of grace?? Shall I not be permitted to send My holy messengers to My struggling Body to be refreshed? If Satan can encourage his evil ones with devils, can I not encourage My holy ones with saints?"

"Wake up, Church! This is the time for you to set aside the Pharasee-isms of the past and embrace an open Heaven, and receive those I send to you for encouragement—whether they come to you from Heaven or as those now on Earth.

"It cost Me all I had to tear that veil open so you would have access to Heaven! Do you not see the meaning of that event?"

"Many of you know beyond a shadow of a doubt that loved ones have been present to you after their passing into Heaven. You know that you know that you know the presence of your mother, whose spirit has been set free in Heaven. You know that it is your mother and not a masquerading demon.

"Well, you should know also that there are thousands of others angels and saints that are My messengers. They come to you in visions and dreams and some have even been seen by the naked eye."

Well, that certainly happened on the Mount of Transfiguration, with Moses and Elijah and Jesus.

He continued, "And if you turn them away, because you are just too lazy to learn how to discern, and you prefer the status quo errors of the past—then it's your loss.

"For those who will accept this revelation, I bless you with keener discernment than you have ever had in this life.

“For those who question, I encourage you to pray for clarification and confirmation, and it shall be given unto you.

“For those who reject and scorn this Truth, you will be held accountable for every error you teach. I would rather that you sincerely seek Me and be willing to find out you were in error, because those good men and women who taught you were also in error. But you do not have to continue in the same error. You are being given the opportunity to discover for yourself whether what I have said here is true or false.

“In any case, I will always love you and never forsake you. I just wish for you to have all the tools I left you with on this Earth for your sanctity and the Harvest of souls.”

And that was the end of His message.

I just want to take a moment to thank you all for being so faithful in supporting and praying for our ministry. After three years, we're finally 501C3. And if you need anything for your taxes, please let us know, and we'll do what we can to give you the numbers that you need.

But I want to tell you that it means so much to Ezekiel and I that as we labor, we have friends around the world who really do care and want to keep our ministry alive and stable.

An extra thanks to you, dear ones. Our donations have been low and your help is so greatly appreciated. Forgive me for missing so many messages. I am just learning how to cope and take care of you and my husband, who requires a great deal.

You have been so patient with me. Thank you more than I can say. You all are greatly loved. Though I do not know each of you, I hear your cry for help and prayer and wisdom and my heart rushes to your side even though I cannot always answer you by letter or email. I do carry you in my heart to the altar with tears.

God bless you.

The Test: Will I Trust in God Alone?

April 18, 2018

Dear Jesus, thank You for giving me the faith to pass by that big temptation to rely on doctors, but rather to and cling to You and Your promises. Thank You, Lord. Please continue to strengthen our faith. Amen.

Well, a few days ago, I went in to check on Ezekiel and the sound of his breathing bothered me very much—and I gave into fear. Interestingly enough, I had made an appointment with a gastroenterologist months ago, and the very next day was that appointment. I didn't realize it until I checked my messages. I thought to myself, 'How timely. Now we'll really get all this cleared up and straightened out.'

Here we go again with my flesh!

The Lord did not want us to go 75 miles away on this appointment; He wanted to take total responsibility for Ezekiel's condition and healing. I could not get it across to the doctors that we didn't want invasive tests; we just wanted him to be comfortable. But being in the flesh and not trusting the Lord to alleviate the pain, I made that appointment, anyway. Because they continued to encourage me to do it.

And here it was, the day before. And actually—I was hoping I'd totally forget it. Although that's not very nice. I don't like to stand people up. So—here it was, the day before, and Ezekiel wasn't sounding too good. It seemed like maybe God changed His mind? And it was OK to take him to the doctor in Santa Fe?

Whoops. The flesh again.

So, in thinking this way, at 2:00 in the morning I started packing for a three-day stay in Santa Fe, figuring they would need time to get all this done. I let everyone know the plan and went to sleep.

But the next morning when I woke up, the very moment I woke, my very first thought was, 'What if the Lord really doesn't want you going to that doctor and getting all those tests? Are you willing to obey? And what if you go, and it turns out to be a disaster... and something you couldn't afford, anyway?'

But the main thought was: Really. Have you thought about, maybe, Jesus doesn't want you to go to that appointment?

Well. I jumped up and ran to Ezekiel (who was wide-awake) and said, "Honey, I don't think the Lord wants this." He let out a big sigh of relief and said, "I'm so glad you see that. No, He doesn't. He wants us totally reliant on Him."

Well, around the very same time that this happened—because things were getting critical. He kept having seizures and shaking. And we just couldn't figure out what was the matter? The doctors couldn't figure out what was the matter.

Well, Carol had been getting rhemas about St. Antony day after day. Now, this is where the great Cloud of Witnesses come in really handy. She kept getting these little reminders about St. Anthony and she finally decided, 'Okay. He keeps coming up, day after day, week after week. I'd better find out what this is all about!'

And found something about a sickness called St. Anthony's Fire, which is something called ergot poisoning. You see, ergot is a mold that grows on grain crops, but can be fatal—even if ingested in bread that's already baked. In fact, someone suggested that ergot poisoning is what caused women to act strangely and the witch hunt started on the East Coast. Because they ate some contaminated bread.

Well, the symptoms of the disease were frighteningly similar to what Ezekiel's been feeling so very intensely.

I began reading about that and found the poisoning factor was a chemical that caused an increase in serotonin in the brain, and in fact, caused Serotonin Syndrome—which can be life threatening. Boy, can it ever! I mean, your heart is hurting severely. You have trouble breathing. You're shaking like a leaf. You're having all kinds of seizures of legs and arms. Talking loud and strangely.

Well. At that point, I began researching the drugs he was taking and I found out that out of 6 prescriptions, 5 of them increased serotonin in the brain. Wow. That explained some of his worst symptoms.

Well, immediately we backed off on them all and just kept him to a very tiny maintenance dose of one. And I called the doctor two days after we did that, and he agreed that that was the right thing to do. And from that day forward, he hasn't had any reoccurrence of these terrible, terrible symptoms. Wow! Overnight these terrible symptoms disappeared and his whole situation changed. He has been peaceful with no more serious symptoms and is actually getting a little better every day.

I know the Lord told me this would soon be over, Heartdwellers. But having listened to the word 'soon' connected with the Rapture, I had a difficult time receiving this as something in the immediate future. Poor Jesus. How patient He is with our unbelief!

Are we going to trust God or man for our healing? This question becomes complicated when human flesh gets involved. Fear. Apprehension. Anxiety. Panic. And it also is strange when the Lord acknowledges that we need to see a doctor on some occasions, even approves medication—yet at other times, He wants to do it all, Himself, to reveal His love and mercy.

So, Ezekiel is getting stronger every day. Praise be to God! We still get attacked, but many, many times it is lying symptoms and not an actual physical malady.

So, it really took quite a bit for me to cancel that appointment in Santa Fe. I was so looking forward to having all my questions answered and Ezekiel finally getting approved for pain management. The night before, I allowed fear in when I was tired and I heard him breathing and knew that he went through a terribly painful day of seizures and shaking.

So, faith is not easy when you're confronted with a situation like that and a choice to make. The Lord, I'm finding, is continually stretching our faith, until He has us where He wants us: total reliance and obedience to Him.

Just when we reach the crest of the mountain and look over the rise, finally getting a view of what is ahead—fully expecting to be above it all looking down into the valley... It just. Doesn't. Work that way. Rather, as we finally conquer that crest, we get to see an even bigger mountain looming before us.

Sometimes I quip to the Lord, "You're just like my midwife... 'One more push, just one more...!' Thirty minutes later... 'just one more push. Push! One more push...'".

I know that is His mercy in action, because we could not bear to see what's really up ahead; we just aren't ready for that yet. But he's getting us ready with every step we take. So, little by little, line upon line, He prepares us and we continue on dying to ourselves to live for Him, until the day He takes our hand and we ascend into Heaven. Finally. Hallelujah!

And I would also like to make this point to you, Heartdwellers. In my situation, Ezekiel and I—when we pray and go to the Lord, and accumulate a few Bible readings—we KNOW that He's going to heal us. We understand what He's saying to us, and we can stand on that in Faith. So, I'm not suggesting that every person should discount their doctors and not keep their appointments. That's between you and God. If you get into prayer, and you have very strong indications and confirmations that He's going to heal you without the help of a doctor, then I would go with that.

But. If you don't have confirmations and you're shaky on your feet and you don't know what to do—of course, we fall back into human wisdom at that point. And that may be just exactly what Holy Spirit wants you to do. Every situation is different. Every person is different. And we can't say ahead of time which way something's going to go. That's why it's so important for you to seek Him daily and really know Him. Love Him with all your heart. Know His voice. And know the directions He wants you to go in, and the directions He prefers you not to go in. And be faithful to Him. The power of obedience and faith are miraculous. And if you're walking in total obedience and faith, the Lord will provide for your circumstance. He is Faithful.

Well, at this point, the Lord had something to say. So, He began, "I cannot even begin to tell you the horrors you would have encountered if you had gone ahead with your plan, Clare. Men know so very little about the human body, let alone the spiritual realities that affect it. You would have given up the perfection you receive in My care for him, in exchange for batteries of painful tests you could never afford—and you know how I feel about being ‘on the system.’ If I cannot take care of My own, what kind of omnipotent God am I?

“And I know you asked that question, finally, when you woke up. Oh, blessed sleep!

“Dear ones, do you know what we do together when you sleep? Oh, you are very busy at night getting instruction and even ministering to others. I do not permit you to remember most of it, because you are still too vulnerable to Pride. It is safe to keep the King’s secrets between the two of you.

“But I do spend time with you at night when you sleep. I do instruct and brief you and I even heal your broken hearts at night. That is why you can go to bed feeling so badly and awake feeling happy and refreshed, and back on track. I cherish you, and I know how very difficult this vale of tears is. I do not leave you on your own, but I come to comfort you.

“I wish for you all to set aside the opinions and views of men, more and more every day, in favor of My instruction to you. Then, when the enemy threatens you with all sorts of fears, you can stand strong—because you are used to relying on My words to you, not theirs. And am I not always faithful in what I promise you?

“I will tell you a secret. The more you rely on Me, the greater your faith will grow and move into operation in all circumstances. When there is nothing more to be done by men, then it is My turn. And the sooner you arrive at that conclusion, the more peaceful and productive your lives will be.

“Oh, dear ones, I want you to watch ever so closely, every day when there is a decision to be made. Be ever so careful. I see when you are tempted to give in to the advice of men, even influential and well-educated men who pressure you. I see when you brush their counsel aside, and go instead with My promises to you. And oh, how overjoyed I am to behold your growth! The greater the stakes, the greater the temptation to give in to human reasoning. I understand this well, but I also know what I am storing up for you, willing to give you when you do make the right decision.

“Cling to Me in every trial. Cling to Me. Memorize My faithful words to you. Call out for strength and I will give it to you. You cannot overcome many of these trials alone, on your own; truly you need My empowerment from moment to moment. The devil is very clever and unless you cling to Me with all your heart, strength and mind—he will mislead you.

“I impart this to you now—those of you who hunger for this. Be it unto you, even as you believe. And never stop climbing, reaching, believing, waiting on My faithfulness. For I will never abandon you.”

Imminent War & Rapture Warnings /Jesus Speaks on Copyrights

April 19, 2018

Well my Dear Heartdwellers, here we are again... wars and rumors of wars and constant Imminent Rapture warnings.

Dear Jesus, please keep our focus where it should be, that we might be found worthy of being taken when You come for Your Bride. And yet, don't let us be sloppy, Lord. Let us always keep our lamps lit and ready for You. Amen.

Well, Dear Family, there are so many videos about the Rapture occurring very soon, like within a month or two. One video about a dream a young woman had in two parts was brought to my attention. It was a war that would happen on our soil. Very, very realistic, with soldiers and planes and bombs and bullets... It seemed very plausible. It felt anointed and even made mention of a draft of former military servicemen that might be put into use.

Now, I also wanted to mention that the young woman who had the dreams was given a Scripture to look up. And somehow, she felt it was anointed when she opened her Bible two chapters before that Scripture she heard in her head. I read it. It's Ezekiel 22. And basically, it's all about the Deep State and Zionists.

“Son of man, will you judge her? Will you judge this city of bloodshed? Then confront her with all her detestable practices and say: ‘This is what the Sovereign Lord says: Your city that brings on herself doom by shedding blood in her midst and defiles herself by making idols, you have become guilty because of the blood you have shed and have become defiled by the idols you have made. You have brought your days to a close, and the end of your years has come. Therefore, I will make you an object of scorn to all nations and a laughingstock to all the countries. Those who are near and those who are far away will mock you, and you will be an infamous city, full of turmoil.”

“See how each of the princes of Israel who are in you uses his power to shed blood. 7In you they have treated father and mother with contempt; in you they have oppressed the foreigner and mistreated the fatherless and the widow.”

Wow! This makes me think of human trafficking.

“You have despised my holy things and desecrated my Sabbaths.”

Preventing children from praying in school.

“In you are slanderers who are bent on shedding blood;”

The slanderers with the news, constantly slandering Trump. Inventing lies against him.

"...in you are those who eat at the mountain shrines and commit lewd acts."

Ughhhh....

"In you are those who dishonor their father's bed;"

Oh, it's disgusting....

"In you one man commits a detestable offense with his neighbor's wife, another shamefully defiles his daughter-in-law, and another violates his sister, his own father's daughter. In you are people who accept bribes to shed blood; you take interest and make a profit from the poor. You extort unjust gain from your neighbors."

Yeah. Like 'you have to pay me to play whatever I said.'

"And you have forgotten Me, declares the Sovereign Lord. 'I will surely strike my hands together at the unjust gain you have made and at the blood you have shed in your midst. Will your courage endure or your hands be strong in the day I deal with you? I the Lord have spoken, and I will do it. I will disperse you among the nations and scatter you through the countries; and I will put an end to your uncleanness. When you have been defiled in the eyes of the nations, you will know that I am the Lord.'" Ezekiel 22

Ughh. Well, that's certainly the Deep State, certainly what's going on right now. These detestable things are being exposed.

So, even though this was interpreted for having to do with America, I don't believe it has to do with our nation. I think it has to do with the Deep State nation, which is a whole other entity.

And the way this was presented to her felt urgent, and so she posted it immediately.

I was asked to comment on this and again it brought up the issues of the Rapture being imminent. Oh, how I wish that were true!!! And I do hope I am wrong, but the Lord has not talked to me about changing anything. His main focus is on praying the corruption out of America and the world, and backing President Trump in all his efforts, as well as praying for his safety.

Personally, I feel that Rapture dreams are wonderful, especially the ones from God. And I tend to believe hers was from the Lord. But why are people getting these urgent feelings when the Lord has told us different?

Well, very simply, I believe we must always be on the alert, but also stick to what we really believe is God's timetable, so we do not go astray and waste what time we have here. When we share these dreams with family members who are unsaved... well, they either laugh us to scorn, because they've heard it sooo many times before and nothing happened—or they get quickened to pay attention, so they are not left behind.

So, it's a difficult thing to calculate. I don't think that these Rapture dreams should ever stop. I think they do play an important part in keeping the dream alive. And also, keeping us on the alert.

However, on our Channel, I have heard countless stories of people who have sat by idly, postponing school. Postponing honing their gifts for the Lord. Because they were convinced there was no more time left.

This is exactly where we were at 5 years ago when the Lord told me time was up—and I really believed it. And you know what? Time WAS up! But we prayed and got more time, more grace, and more mercy. Now thousands of Muslims around the world are being saved and added to the Kingdom. Hallelujah!

I asked the Lord, "How do I to approach this, Jesus?"

Jesus answered, "State clearly what I have told you and yes, do ask that question. (I had a question in my mind.) 'What have you gotten done in the five years you've postponed your life waiting for the Rapture?'"

Oooph!

So, in other words, if people who were persecuting our Channel for saying that the Rapture had been delayed for three years, and every day they're waiting for the Rapture to come. What have they gotten done? What did you do with your gifts? How have you served the Lord?

And then the Lord continued, "Yes, I DO want you to speak up about this, Clare. We are at the same exact point now that we were at 5 years ago, and there is still too much to do. I wish for My prophets to have a wider worldview and to understand that salvation is taking place right now in the thousands, because people are out laboring in the fields.

"Place ten people side-by-side—same age, same commitment level to Me, same education and cultural economic background—and present them with this message. Line them up in a row and declare: 'The Rapture is Imminent'. Now, stand back and watch what they do. You will see that nine will react in fear and begin building their shelters, laying up food, warning their relatives and so on. You will see one walk away and go into the mission field or ministry to help with the Harvest of souls.

“Now, place 10 more people more or less of equal value and commitment and tell them, ‘The Rapture is postponed for 4-6 years’. Watch what they do. One will go home saying ‘Cool!’ and play their video games, thinking they have all the time in the world. Six will begin to question, ‘Lord, since we have that much time left, what can I do for you?’ And three will go into accelerated drive and put their dreams for My Kingdom as their only priority in life.

“I tell you the truth: these continual Rapture warnings, if not presented properly, drive people into fear and self-preservation—which causes them to abandon their dreams and gifts in favor of taking care of loved ones who will not be taken. Speaking mathematically, one out of ten will launch forward to bring more into the Kingdom. The other nine will turn inward to their own families and prepare.”

Now. I want to take an aside here. He brought up a very good point. The first point that He brought up was that these Rapture warnings drive people into fear. And we know immediately, Fear is not of God. Right? The next time you have a dream that causes you to be afraid, you need to suspect the source. Because the Lord does not give us dreams that cause fear. Conviction—yes. Warning—yes.

And I'm not saying that her dream is not from the Lord. Not at all, because I do think that it's anointed. What I'm saying is: watch the reaction people have on the presentation of the dream. And if they swing into Fear, they are going to turn inward. It's self-preservation. It's probably the most basic, primal reaction to anything, is to preserve oneself.

And most people are going to react that way. 'Uh oh, what can I get going here? What do I need to do? How can I protect my children...blah, blah, blah.' And that is just. That's just human nature. In the raw, the flesh. The last thing a person's going to think about is striking out, going out into the mission field and helping other people come to the Lord. Most people are just not going to be thinking that broadly.

The Lord continued, “It is difficult to maintain a balance here. I want people to know that the Rapture is within their lifetimes and soon. But I do not want them to think that their time is up. They can't start any works for Me; they don't need to finish school, etc. This is self-defeating and lessens the numbers in the Harvest at these end times.

“What I do want is everyone swinging into action, using the gifts they have as they are given opportunity, and as with you, Clare—honing their skills. Do you see how self-defeating urgent warnings can be?

“Those waiting for the Rapture will not be busy about My business when I come, and they may very well be left behind. Those working hard while they still have time will be rewarded with a flight to Heaven.

"There are many rooftop sitters who will go through the great Tribulation, because they were not clothed for the wedding feast—and there was no oil in their lamps, because they were living for themselves. This is the great danger here."

Lord, so, how do we proceed?

"Just as I have taught you. You have very little time left, but enough to do what's been assigned and even cultivate new talents and put them to work to save souls."

"The Muslim nations are crying out for truth. They are disenchanted because of ISIS; they have serious doubts and concerns about what the Koran teaches. And some even wonder if the Christian's God IS the One True God. But there's no Christian there to tell them, because they are all at home working on their shelters and trying to get their families prepared."

"I have told you what qualifies a soul for the Rapture. It can be summed up in one sentence: Love the Lord thy God with all your heart, all your strength. And Love you brother as yourself. In other words, think as I think. Comfort the poor, the lost, the sick with My comfort, My words and prayers. And live for others, not for yourself. Then you will resemble Me when I return and I will recognize you as My Bride immediately."

"Do you see? The affluent, self-preoccupied Christians will be nowhere in sight, because they are at home serving themselves. But those who are out and about, expending themselves for others, those I will see and take immediately."

Now, that doesn't mean that if you are affluent, you will be left behind. What He's trying to say is that, if you are affluent and self-serving, then you may very well be left behind. You can be affluent and serve others. There's nothing stopping this.

"And a word to warn you about these," He continued. "Those who have built up edifices and international ministries based purely on their love for their brother—I will take."

"Those who have built up edifices and international ministries based on the dollar and their fame—will be left behind."

"Many in that day will say to Me, 'But I prophesied in Your Name, Lord! I healed the sick, I cleansed the leper!' And I will answer them, 'Depart from Me you evil doers. I do not know you.'"

"Why? Because they were serving themselves and making empires out of their ministries. And yes, they oppressed the smaller ministries who tried to take their words and share them around the world."

"Even as you have experienced lately, Clare. Do you understand, this is an abomination to Me?"

What He's talking about here is that a very prominent ministry, who I had lifted a section of video from one of their video presentations. And I had put it on my Channel—of course, crediting them. When they found it, they gave me a 'strike' against my Channel. And strikes are serious. You get three of them and you're banned from YouTube. Period.

So, yeah—I would have expected this from a Satanist... But from a minister? I was really devastated. I don't mind telling you, it hurt me bad. I walked around for two days with a hole in my gut. I just couldn't believe a minister could do that to another ministry. Of course, the video came down. But you know? They could have asked me. They could have said, 'You know—we really don't approve of you using this material.' Which, I think, is still wrong, but I would have at least honored their request and taken it down. The Lord goes into this at greater depth here.

He said, "Yes, even as you have experienced lately, Clare. Do you understand, this is an abomination to Me? You were given a strike on YouTube by one of these ministries that could have endangered all your videos on YouTube."

You know, what He's talking about here is 1,000 videos. And ONE video happened to be something that somebody had said. And I was accused of using their name to attract viewers to my Channel! Oh, my gosh.

He continued, "Why? Because you did not get their permission to share My words."

"This is a travesty."

Wow. Did you get that? 'YOU did not get THEIR permission. To share MY word.'

"This is a travesty. When I anoint a minister, 'his' words are no longer his; they belong to My Holy Spirit. This is Simony—selling the anointing—and it is detestable to Me. These men and women do not need an income from My words. They are already quite wealthy from donations. Why do they want to control My words to them? Are they not Mine to be shared without cost or restriction? But they are blinded by the God of this world, money, and corporate procedures—which are fine for Caesar's palace, but an abomination in the House of God. They are the Temple of the Living God."

"Oh, Clare, so much will be exposed at the Rapture, when these massive ministries are left behind in weeping and gnashing of teeth. Because they did not do My will; they harnessed My word for filthy lucre. It will indeed be a sad day when their shame is exposed."

"I love everyone one of them dearly, but when they are ruthlessly persecuting My little ministers who hear My voice in their messages, and want to pass that on to their little circle. And they take legal action against them? Oh, My Heart is grieved! They are blind and do not see what they are doing. Oh, pray that their blindness will be healed and they will see, and understand and repent, before it is too late for them."

“What shall I say to the members of their ministries left behind? What shall I say? ‘You have been ministers of the dollar, not of the Word. Freely I gave; freely you were to give. But you did not. In your greed, you withheld My words from the little ones who could do you no harm and do Me only good. Great good by repeating what was imparted from Heaven.’

“It will be a very sad day for the angels in Heaven at that time, because they ministered in your services and conferences, and so many you touched will be with Me because they were not corrupted by your practice.

“Yes, your teachings were fine. But the way you lived your lives—oppressing others and controlling the words inspired by Me—that was an abomination not to be taught to anyone. And you may thank Me that so few know of your sin. Otherwise they, too, would have followed your example.”

"That indeed is what I will say to them in the secret place when they come to be with Me."

Uh oh!

I said, "Oh Lord, I need to change the copyright information on all my books. They put standard copyrights in them and I thought I had told everyone putting books together that they were to be free to copy or distribute at no charge without my permission. I don't know how that happened."

And that's basically it. You're welcome to use my music, my writings, my teachings—anything the Lord has given me to share with you. Freely. You can use it, freely. Just don't charge money for it. That's my only stipulation. You can copy it, reproduce it, store it and do whatever you want. But don't charge money for it, please.

If you have to distribute it, and you have to have the money to get it into print, that's a different story. I mean, we all need to have the money to put things into print. When I'm selling things on Amazon, I'm only doing it for the exposure. If you write to me and ask me for a book, I'm gonna send it to you for free. And you can get free downloads on our website. But on Amazon, in order to have that distribution throughout the world, I have to do that.

And the same with iTunes, as well. You can still get that music for free off my website or even my videos. You can download, no problem. Use Clipgrab.

Anyway.

The Lord continued. He said, “This is something you need to address in the future, Clare. You must be very careful. Though you have publicly stated that and put free downloads on your website, you still need to explicitly say that they are free to use without charging any money or obtaining your permission. You see, they already have My permission to copy what I have given you. What you have shared stopped belonging to you when you gave your life to Me. Now all that you do is free to the whole world, because it came from My Heart going to their heart. Please see to it that is corrected."

I will, Lord. I'm so sorry.

"Well, I did not wish to beat anyone here," Jesus continued. "But I wanted to call your attention to a worldly practice that hurts others."

Everyone who thirsts, come to the waters; And you who have no money come, buy and eat. Come, buy wine and milk without money and without cost. Isaiah 55:1

Jesus Took Me Dancing & My Shame for Wasting Time

April 20, 2018

May you all be enriched by the sweetness of Jesus as you listen to this, and know that He has done for me what He wishes to do for you. You are so precious to Him! And these dialogues are for the purpose of demonstrating that to you, dear family.

When I came into prayer tonight, it was with a heavy heart. I had allowed distractions into my life that were eating my time like locusts buzzing a ripe field of wheat.

I felt such conviction and futility and was truly ashamed of myself. When Jesus approached me in a tuxedo, and I saw myself in an evening gown suddenly... everything came spilling out and all I could do was cry.

He took my two hands in His and held them over His heart. He was so poignantly aware of my deep feelings of failure and futility. I could sense that all He wanted to do was comfort and restore me. We were somewhere in the deep space of heavens on a dance floor suspended by four angels. There were comets rushing by, bursts of light and fireworks and it was so romantic.

But mostly, His attention was so riveted on me. His chin tenderly rested on my head and I felt His love and deep caring so intensely and all I could do was cry tears of gratitude.

Jesus began, "Oh, how I have wanted to talk to you, Clare. All this pain and sorrow, for nothing. Just for nothing. I know what you're feeling and going through. I understand it all and we are going to come out of it. Now. You have your priorities set in your heart, you see that your flesh is taking too much from your life. How I want to extricate you from this pit, Dearest. Will you cooperate with Me?"

Help me, Lord. I want to cooperate with You.

"Are you at the end of your end yet?"

I think I am pretty close.

"More circumcision, more releasing the foolish things. You try to fit them in, but they take far more time than you have to give them."

And what He's talking about here is, sometimes someone is sick or doesn't show up for work, I end up doing menial things instead of just ignoring them. And waiting for them to pick up on it the next day. Or if they are really busy, I try to help them out.

But really, I've got to be so much more focused on music than on this stuff. And also on my messages to you. 'Cause I want to share everything the Lord is doing. They're very exciting.

He continued, "This calls for more self-control in your life. More release of the foolish things. Are you with Me? The enemy has buffeted you with your own self-will and caused you to form habits. Once they work on you for long enough, they don't have to continue to do so—they only keep an eye on you to make sure you are still wasting time."

Wow! That's a revelation.

"But for the most part, they leave off with that work, since you're chasing your own tail under your own compulsion and habit. They just revisit to cause you to go further and further into it and make sure you don't get out."

"But I am removing that influence from your life and all you need to do is say, 'NO. I have better things to do with Jesus.'

"Because we do things together," He continued. "That is, the things that matter to Me, we do together. The other things—flights and fancies—you do on your own. Doesn't it feel badly when you know you are wasting time?"

Yes, Lord. It feels very badly. Lately I so relate to Paul. He said, "I do not understand what I do. For what I want to do, I do not do. But what I hate, I do." Romans 7:15

That's interesting 'cause I got his rhema this morning and I thought, 'Paul. wow. Maybe an intercessor from Heaven.'

And then the Lord said, "Yes, Clare. You have those looking on at you who truly care for your predicaments and really want to help you—both by the example of their lives in history. And to pray for you. You don't even have to ask for prayer. They just observe your situation and their hearts are moved to pity."

Lord, You just gave me that Rhema and I wondered what it meant. "My Heart is moved to pity for you." Wow. Now I understand.

"It meant all the things you shed tears about tonight. I have much pity and deep understanding of your struggles. It doesn't suffice to say you are much too drawn to the world. You have to feel the deep futility of the time you could have been singing and instead you were doing something of the flesh. Something someone else could have done if you were more patient.

"But back to what I was saying. You don't have to send a message to Paul through My Holy Spirit. He gets it. Because the Great Cloud is completely saturated—for lack of a better word—with My Holy Spirit that permeates all of the created world. He looks with compassion on you, Clare. He sees your potential. He sees that you are falling the way he fell, doing things that wasted enormous amounts of time, and his heart. His loving heart cries out to the Father, 'Lord, help her!' because he wants to see you delivered and fulfilling your potential."

Oh, Paul, thank you!!

Jesus continued, "He also received a lot of prayer. He was not perfect, although he desired it with all his heart. I had to humble him many, many times through this fault we are discussing. There were times when he ripped his garments in two, because he saw the foolishness of his ways. That is why he has taken up your case to pray to the Father for your deliverance.

"So, we are working on this now, aren't we?"

Well, I certainly feel the conviction, Lord.

"And that's where it begins, Beloved.

"Now, I wanted to dance with you tonight, because above all things, even your function in My Body, you are My Bride, My Wife—and I long to comfort you as any good earthly husband would. I want you to know how in love I am with you, in spite of all your weaknesses. And I want you to try again, Clare, to get ahold of yourself and refuse these distractions.

"Now your enemies are going to flood you with them, because they understand what I am doing. But this time, I will not allow it. And what I do allow, will be to give you a hurdle to overcome. In other words, there are going to be distractions allowed that you, yourself, will have to exercise great wisdom and will-power to overcome.

"But I am with you and My grace is sufficient. You will be able to do this with much resolve. And don't forget, the Great Cloud is looking in on this battle and sending up prayers to the Father that you will indeed succeed. You couldn't have a better group of intercessors, although the ones you have on Earth have the ability to offer sacrifices to increase the power of their prayers.

"Coming to the conclusion that you could be doing so much more for Me is the starting point. And it's not just about productivity. I want you to be happy. I know you will be happiest when you share with others the marvelous gifts I have given you. And they, too, will be inspired to dig deeper into their treasure chest of goodies to see what surprises I have for them.

“It all works seamlessly and synergistically. My Body is as integrated and dependent on all the other parts as your physical body is. When one is out of whack, it affects all the others. Isn't it true that when you stub your little toe, the pain shoots through your whole body?”

Yep, it sure is! In fact, that just happened to me recently, and I walked around all day in pain.

“Well, that's what I am talking about. You are beautifully and wonderfully made—all parts fitting together, just as My Body is, with Me as the Head. And so, when one suffers, all suffer.” That's I Corinthians 12:26 He's quoting.

“Know that I am with you, Clare, and don't lose track of My presence—not even for a second. I am right here steering and guiding you. Please be responsive, as I am helping you.

“And for all of you, My dear Heartdwellers, who can relate with her plight. I want you to know, beyond a shadow of a doubt, I am also with you in the very same way.

“Each of you have unique gifts, and for different reasons, the enemy has taken great trouble to make sure they do not get used. So, if you are feeling the pressure of this same thing in your own lives, know that I am also with you to pull you out of this pit—hopefully, forever.

“Understand that those closest to you will, at times, be the very ones to put demands on you that will steal the time that belonged to Me. There are times you should yield and there are other times you must draw a line and state your commitment to Me, and the right to decline the demands of the world they are trying to use you for. Many times, their lives are disordered, so they look to you to pick up the slack and fix it. There is a difference between being kind and enabling others to continue a lifestyle of disorder. I want you to be aware of that and take each distraction on its own merits and choose to be faithful to Me, not the world.

“On the other hand, if you have someone sick in your family and needs special attention, and you are the only one who can give it—then it is meritorious for you to stop what you are doing and serve them. This is very pleasing to Me. But if this becomes a self-serving habit for them, you will have to put the brakes on it.

“My family, the enemy comes to you under many guises. I also test you under many guises. You must learn to call on Me to help you discern those things that you should do and those things you should not do. In this way, Satan will not steal hours, days and weeks of your time. So, please. Pay attention to what you are doing each day and the time that belongs to Me. Do not compromise or give to any other activity. To do this, you must be very serious and crystal clear about the role that I play in your life and to whom is your first and greatest allegiance.

“I will reinforce this in your hearts. Listen for My still small voice and prompting.

"I bless you now with the heart to follow Me and to know the difference between the sacred and profane, and keep to the high road. Together we shall do marvelous things because you obeyed."

Wow! What a timely message! Thank you, Lord. I really needed that, Heartdwellers.

Well, I've also been reading Make Today Count by John Maxwell. And one of the things he brings to mind in his book is that many, many, many high-level executives do the things that are least important first. Like, clear the decks and then get down to the really important things next. And he's saying that's a mistake. You should do the thing that is most important to you first. And then do the littler things later.

And boy, I've struggled with that one. Because I love to get up in the morning and read replies and answer emails. But on the other hand, it doesn't quite feel right. What feels right to me is getting up in the morning and warming up my voice and working on a song. Which, once I get started on that, could be 6 or 7 hours go by before I'm actually ready to stop.

So, I definitely need to pay attention to that. And this book has really brought some things to mind in that area.

But, isn't Jesus wonderful? Just when we are feeling lousy about ourselves, He dresses us up and takes us out for the night! We don't have to be told we've blown it. We need to be forgiven, and lifted out of our mess. And that's exactly what He does for us.

Oh, Heartdwellers, love Him with all your heart. He deserves so much more from us.

And I want to take a moment to thank my dear friends who have been so kind and faithful to help our mission. April is always a hard month, because of taxes. And we wonder some days what the Lord is doing, if we have missed Him or what. But I have three wonderful people working for us and they are willing to take a cut in salary when things are skinny. I thank God for their immense dedication and kindness. We are truly blessed, Heartdwellers, with some very fine and committed people.

So, I want to thank those of you who are keeping us running; it means so very much to us. And during these times, we typically can't donate to child trafficking until things swing back up again. But we do take care of the smaller needs in our community. And I promise you, we will continue to support child trafficking as soon as our operating expenses are met.

And I just wanted to take a moment to answer our 501c3 objections that have been getting posted. I want to make this real clear. The Lord has never let us seek that status before 2016. But at that time, He told us to do that, because we were giving away a great deal of money that came to us to charities and local people in distress, paying electric bills, etc. Buying food. Paying the rent for a gifting shop, The Giving Tree, where people can go and get food and clothing and things for their house for free. Wonderful. And different food banks, as well.

So, we became a charitable organization—not a church. But a charitable organization under the 501c3 rules in order not to be fined for giving money away. We were getting fined for that. That makes it easier for those of you, also, who take advantage of a tax break.

There are many fine and well-informed preachers on the internet, dear ones. There really are. But please understand. Just because a prominent up-and-coming preacher or prophet tells everyone how bad 501c3 is... I'm sorry, but that does not replace the voice of God in our conscience. We have always marched to the Lord's tune and not that of any man. I wanted you to understand that we were told to do this by the Lord.

Of course, He already knew that President Trump was going to change the tax laws, and repeal that ugly law we have about us not being able to support a candidate publicly. So, you see, God knows what He is doing, and He know what is best after all. We just need to obey what He's saying to us at the time.

In any case, thank you, dear ones, for being faithful. It means so much to us. We truly love praying and giving to you and are deeply appreciative of your kindnesses to us.

And if you haven't gotten a thank you back, please don't be upset with me. You would not believe the burdens we've had lately, and it has been impossible for us, because of the huge volume of mail. But know that we love and cherish each of you in our lives, so very much. God bless you.

More Suffering... Have FAITH

Lord Jesus, please forgive me for being a coward. Strengthen us all in your grace when we must walk a dark path of suffering. Strengthen us so that we love You just as much as when we are walking the paths of joy. Amen.

Well, precious Family, I pray you will not be scandalized, but I cannot withhold from you my weaknesses. I wouldn't want you to believe I was some kind of hero, because I'm not. In fact, I am very cowardly, as this episode reveals today.

The Lord had told us that Ezekiel's healing had begun, and he has had two very remarkable days—out of bed for a good 12 to 13 hours, on his feet and working a on a bit of music.

But today, he had a set-back episode that really knocked me for a loop and discouraged me. He had gone swimming two days in a row in our little pool, which is perfect exercise for us. But today, he had a very bad reaction to one of the chemicals in the pool water.

Now this has happened before. But we were hoping it wouldn't happen again. It caused him to be tormented with itching—severe itching—all over his body to the point of desperation. I could not give him any Benadryl, because it causes him side-effects. So, there was nothing we could do but wash as much of the chemical off as we could and apply Benadryl externally. And that didn't seem to touch it.

But because the anxiety was so severe with the itching, it set off cramps in his abdomen, his heart and his head. And what he went through looked very much like what had happened with him before when his meds were interacting in a bad way.

However, it did come to a stop after an hour, when my son laid hands on him. It immediately stopped.

But I have to tell you, I was completely discouraged and crushed. I prayed against lying symptoms, but this was not a lying symptom. Rather, one of our team members saw Russian troupes on the move and Ezekiel was standing in the gap to prevent an incident that could have pushed us into WWII.

So, here is my cowardice. I came into prayer complaining to the Lord, “Lord, I can’t handle this. There is nothing left for me, Jesus, to create with.”

And in that sense, I was thinking of the songs He wants me to do. Which I'm getting very close to being able to sing.

So, I said, "There is nothing left for me, Jesus, to create with. This is so taxing, so excruciating, to see him suffer this way and behold his skin-and-bones body. You said You healed him, and yet look at this event today! It was just as bad as the others. And the pain! Oh my God, how can You stand to see him in that kind of pain? How can You stand to see me suffering this way? I don't understand You, Jesus. Your answer is not 'yes' today and 'no' tomorrow. None of this makes sense."

Then I thought about it for a moment, because the Lord was silent. I said, “Well, ok. He did provoke it by getting in the pool and his skin reacted. And I can see that something provoked that reaction in his abdomen and all over his body. But then all the pain after that? The shaking and the pain in his head and behind his eye. I thought You were done with these terrible attacks?”

And so, I came weeping to the Lord about this suffering on the heels of His promises that he was healed. And we felt so good about that for two days... And then all this. And now what was I feeling good about; the man is still sick!

“I don't understand You, Jesus. One moment is 'yes', how can the next be 'no'?”

And I went over and over this in my mind, crying even more. And then the song Dance With Me, Lover of My Soul came on and I said, "I am not in any place to dance, Lord. No, not in any place at all." Because He's in charge of what song plays when.

And so, I sat it out.

But then He came and wanted me to dance with Him and so I did stand up. And His face was so clear. His whole body was so clear.

But my heart was far from being that place of enjoying that time with Him.

All He said to me was, "Faith," as we were dancing. He said it again, "Faith. Have Faith."

And those words cheered me up a bit, for a little while. And now, here I am feeling stripped of all desire to do anything but crawl into a hole and die.

Oh, if only the Rapture would come soon. Oh, if only. But that is selfish of me. I want to get behind what God is doing, not flake out on Him.

Jesus still didn't reply to me.

So, I said, "Lord? Where are You?"

Jesus began, "Where am I always? I know this is hard for you. But it is, believe it or not, part of the healing process."

He thought he was doing something good, getting in the pool, Lord. And look what happened. He even thought it was pleasing to You. Oh, Jesus, these Sundays are so dark and hard. Please help me. Please, Jesus, say something.

He replied, "I love you."

Would You please help me get a handle on this?? I know there will always be suffering, but please. Can't you pass this on to another faithful servant? Preferably someone I don't know??

He continued, "You don't really know what I am doing here, Clare. You really don't. It's not just suffering for others. There is sanctification involved, for both of you. It needs to go a bit longer to get everything into line, just as I want it. Yet, it is on the decrease and he is beginning to heal. But you know how hard these episodes hit you. Part of that is your responsibility to suffer for your sanctification, as well."

"Put the guilt away. What I am doing is much deeper than that. Much deeper, Clare.

“There is a certain seasoning that must take place within your souls—a tempering that only suffering brings. It’s hard to explain to you, but you are moving from a childhood of sorts to the maturity of the daughters and sons of God. It is not an easy path. It requires a very deep level of commitment, not to be shunned or passed on to another. This is all for your good, or I would not allow it.”

But how do You expect me to create with this kind of oppression, Lord?

“That, too, is your option—but it is terribly limiting, and that’s part of the scheme of things. How well do you take these limitations? How well do you surrender your rights for the sake of another who needs you? Without throwing your hands up in the air and saying, ‘All right then, I’ll just drop it for now.’ No, that attitude doesn’t fly, although I have heard your temptation to do that.”

Yeah, like it's the Lord encourages me to work on a song, or work my voice—work on the piano. I get all excited for the time to do that, and then BANG. Something like this happens and I'm just running back and forth between prayer, trying to keep him comfortable, bringing everything he needs. You know, soaping him down and trying to rinse that chemical off him... just everything you can imagine. And just listening to him in that kind of pain. It just drains you.

So, yeah—there's times I just want to say, 'Forget the music! I'll just crawl in a hole and I'll just take care of him. I'm not going to worry about the music'. But He's saying here that that attitude doesn't fly...

He continued, “This is more about sanctification, deeper and deeper, to the things that really matter. I will say this much: you will never regret this time of suffering, never. Not when you see what it produces in both of you. Never will you regret it. Trust Me in this. And in everything else. But especially in this, which you just don’t understand now. You will understand later and thank Me for it.

“My love, for now, just do your best. Write, sing, play—and when you can, as you can. And don’t feel guilty for being crushed in spirit and not being able to do anything but cry. Don’t feel badly; it’s ok. You have My permission to cry. I just wish you didn’t have to cry so much.

“All My promises to you are true and this leg of the journey is rough. It the last leg. Or the first leg of the next phase. And it sums up everything you have learned so far. It is like defending your doctoral thesis; it is, in a way, the culmination of your education, thus far.

“Do not allow yourself to be burdened beyond hope by it. Take note that there are signs of breakthrough and improvement and a very, very slow climb upward. But still trials. Trials that accomplish a work that cannot be had through any other pathway.

"In the moments you are beside yourself, come to Me just like this—your raw feelings hanging out—and let Me comfort you. Allow Me to explain to you what is necessary in this season and encourage you to continue on the upward Faith path that you began when we turned a corner."

Did we turn a corner, Lord? Or was that an illusion? Or just wishful thinking. And You know I hate wishful thinking. I am a realist.

He answered, "In all your 'realist' reality, we did turn a corner and begin a climb to his healing and restoration. It will be a slow climb and there will be moments when it seems like setback, but they are only moments of deeper sanctification and they will soon be fewer and fewer. But you must walk in Faith; not by sight."

But what about lying spirits, Lord?

He answered, "They come and go. When I am allowing an attack for the sake of other souls or world situations, it is the real thing. But there is nothing I allow that cannot be repaired instantly."

"You are beginning to understand that you cannot control the length of these episodes by any of your own devices—no matter how appropriate."

And what He means by that is that, gosh. I prayed the binding prayer - I bind this, I use the Routing sword, I do everything I can possibly think of. And no change. So, it makes me feel like, 'Golly. MY prayers aren't worth Diddly!'

But that's not true, I know. It's just that He is saying here that, "No matter how appropriate your prayers are, they're not going to 'work', because there's a certain length of time this needs to go on. And I'm in control of it" is what He's saying.

He continued, "Because I am using each one for a different purpose. One episode may be to prove the veracity of My anointing through ordination; another may confirm the power of the sacraments I have established through ordination. Another may be to confirm a young soul in the power of his healing gift, and to bring into being deeper levels of faith and compassion. Another may be to enlist the prayers of others, like the man who visited him in the worst moments and went out to the community and gathered many prayers."

"With each episode, there is a truth and a confirmation being stamped and confirmed into reality for those present. It is My reality, and I use these moments to accomplish more ends than you can fathom, in everyone present."

"And I want you to remember: many are called, few are chosen. And even fewer respond. No matter how deeply this grieves Our hearts, We will not lessen Our love or charity, nor will We give the devils opportunities for division. Each must choose their own path. Whether it is Mine or theirs, still it is free will—and I honor that, no matter how painful."

"So, I have explained much of your cross to you. Now you must take it up and walk with it. However, even as Simon, a mere mortal, helped Me carry My cross—so I am with you, Clare, in My Divine Power, helping you carry yours. Of this you can be sure. And I know in minute detail every step up that hill.

"Persevere in My grace, I will not let you down.

"And for you, My Heartdwelling Family, know that it is no sin to grow weary. As long as you just don't give up. Come to Me for the strength you need. And I will supply it. That is My promise to you."

And that was the end of His message.

So, Dear Heartdwellers, that gives you a pretty... pretty clear picture of where I'm at in all of this. Every day is different. Some days are good; some days are full of challenges.

Speaking of which, I wanted to let you know that we've been having some problems with the donation button. Which is really bad timing for us, right now. If you want to donate to our cause, you can go to Heartdwellers.org and click on the donation there. If you have any problems with anything, let us know, and we'll see what we can do to clean it up.

There's also a link on our Home page on YouTube for donating. As far as I know, that's working.

But I thank you for your faithfulness, believe me. It keeps us... keeps us alive and moving along in the strength of the Lord.

God bless you all, Heartdwellers. Thank you for your prayers. I love you very much.

A Soul Who Got it Right: Chiara Luce

April 24, 2018

Jesus thank you for introducing us to a true saint. A young girl who was passionately in love with You. Who had everything to live for in the world, but she felt nothing at all for the world or her own comfort.

Her motto was "If You want it, Jesus, I want it too."

Help us, Lord, to love You as she did. Forgive us for being afraid of suffering for Your sake. How very sad we must look to the souls in Heaven who conquered everything for love of You.

Lord, I am not willing... but You can make me willing to be made willing.

Well, my dear family—don't ask me how... I have no idea. This is a Holy Spirit moment. I just 'happened' upon a girl who suffered heroically, and gave Jesus every offering and she is one amazing soul; totally in love with Jesus.

Now, this is a real hero, this young lady. And believe it or not, I think I got snooty with a Pinterest email and that's how I discovered her. Usually I avoid them like the plague, because I could end up spending 20 minutes on Pinterest, or an hour, without any problem at all, collecting pictures.

But, in this case, I was so struck with her example. I couldn't NOT give it to you. I want to share it now.

This is from Wikipedia: Blessed Chiara Badano (and correct me—I'm sure I pronounced that wrong) was a young Italian teenager. She was born in 1971 and she died in 1990. She is currently in the process of being pronounced a saint by the Roman Catholic Church.

At age nine, she joined the Focolare Movement and received the nickname "Luce" by the founder Chiara Lubich. When she was 16 she was diagnosed with osteogenic sarcoma, a painful bone cancer.

Chiara succumbed to the cancer on October 7, 1990 after a two-year battle with the disease. She was beatified on September 25, 2010 at the Sanctuary of Our Lady of Divine Love in Rome. Her feast day is celebrated on October 29.

Okay. So that's just the common thing that Wikipedia would do, bringing up the fact that she was Catholic, and that was her status with the church.

THIS is the really neat part, though:

Chiara Badano was born on October 29, 1971, to Ruggero and Maria Teresa Badano in the small village of Sassello, Italy. The couple waited and prayed eleven years to have Chiara. They considered her to be their greatest blessing. While Ruggero worked as a truck driver, Maria Theresa stayed at home to raise Chiara. Chiara grew up with a strong and healthy relationship with her parents, but she did not always obey them and would occasionally have fights with them.

One day, Chiara took an apple off a tree in a neighbor's orchard; her mother later recounted the event:

"One afternoon, Chiara came home with a beautiful red apple. I asked her where it came from. She replied that she had taken it from our neighbor's orchard without asking her permission. I explained to her that she always had to ask before taking anything and that she had to take it back and apologize to our neighbor. She was reluctant to do this, because she was too embarrassed. I told her that it was far more important to own up than to eat that apple. So, Chiara took the apple back to our neighbor and explained everything to her. That evening, the woman brought her a whole box of apples saying that on that day Chiara had learnt something very important."

The Focolare Movement

Chiara attended her first meeting of the Focolare Movement in September 1980 when she was only 9 years old. This group, especially its founder Chiara Lubich, had a profound impact on Chiara's life. The group focused on the image of the forsaken Christ as a way to make it through difficult times.

Chiara later wrote that, "I discovered that Jesus forsaken is the key to unity with God, and I want to choose Him as my only spouse. I want to be ready to welcome Him when He comes. To prefer Him above all else."

Wow.

While Chiara was a conscientious student, she struggled in school and even failed her first year of high school. She was often teased in school for her strong beliefs and was given the nickname "Sister."

Chiara made several good friends, often going out late at night to have coffee with them. She also enjoyed the normal teenage pastimes such as listening to pop music, dancing, and singing. Chiara was also an avid tennis player; she also enjoyed hiking and swimming.

During the summer of 1988, when she was 16 years old, she had a life-changing experience in Rome with the Focolare Movement. She wrote back to her parents, "This is a very important moment for me: it is an encounter with Jesus Forsaken. It hasn't been easy to embrace this suffering, but this morning Chiara Lubich explained to the children that they have to be the spouse of Jesus Forsaken."

(And that's the focus of this particular group. Not all groups are focused on that.)

After this trip, she started to correspond regularly with Chiara Lubich. She then asked for her new name, as this was going to be the start of a new life for her. Chiara Lubich gave her the name Chiara Luce. This was a kind of play on words since in Italian "Chiara" is a common girl's name, taken for example from the name of St Clare of Assisi, but it is also an everyday word meaning "clear."

"Luce" is occasionally found as a girl's name in Italy, though it is mostly secular rather than religious, and it is also an everyday word meaning "light." So "Chiara Luce" means "Clare/Clear Light." Lubich wrote to Chiara that "your luminous face shows your love for Jesus," which is why she gave her the name Luce.

In the summer of 1988, Chiara felt a sting of pain in her shoulder while playing tennis. At first she thought nothing of it, but when the pain continued to be present, she underwent a series of tests. The doctors then discovered she had a rare and painful form of bone cancer, osteogenic sarcoma.

In response Chiara simply declared, "It's for you, Jesus; if you want it, I want it, too."

Throughout the treatment process, Chiara refused to take any morphine so she could stay aware. She felt it was important to know her illness and pain so she could offer up her sufferings. She said, "It reduces my lucidity and there's only one thing I can do now: to offer my suffering to Jesus, because I want to share as much as possible in His sufferings on the cross."

During her stays in the hospital, she would take the time to go on walks with another patient who was struggling with depression. These walks were beneficial to the other patient but caused Chiara great pain. Her parents often encouraged her to stay and rest but she would simply reply, "I'll be able to sleep later on."

One of her doctors, Dr. Antonio Delogu, said, "Through her smile, and through her eyes full of light, she showed us that death doesn't exist; only life exists."

A friend from the Focolare Movement said, "At first we thought we'd visit her to keep her spirits up, but very soon we understood that, in fact, we were the ones who needed her. Her life was like a magnet drawing us to her."

Chiara kept her spirits up, even when the harsh chemotherapy caused her beloved hair to fall out. When a lock of her hair would fall, Chiara would simply offer it to God saying, "For you, Jesus."

She also donated all of her savings to a friend who was going to do mission work in Africa. She wrote to him, "I don't need this money anymore. I have everything."

To help prepare her parents for life after she died, Chiara made her parents dinner reservations for Valentine's Day after they refused to leave her bedside. She also ordered them to not return until after midnight. She also wrote, "Holy Christmas 1990. Thank you for everything. Happy New Year", on a Christmas card and hid it among some blank ones for her mother to find later.

While undergoing a painful medical procedure, Chiara was visited by a lady, "When the doctors began to carry out this small, but quite demanding, procedure, a lady with a very beautiful and luminous smile came in. She came up to me and took me by the hand, and her touch filled me with courage.

"In the same way that she arrived, she disappeared, and I could no longer see her. But my heart was filled with an immense joy and all fear left me. In that moment, I understood that if we're always ready for everything, God sends us many signs of his love."

(Wow. That sounds like someone from the Great Cloud of Witnesses that came to visit her and imparted a grace to her.)

Chiara's faith and spirit never dwindled, even after the cancer left her unable to walk and a CAT scan showed that any hope of remission was gone. In response, she simply said, "If I had to choose between walking again and going to heaven, I wouldn't hesitate. I would choose heaven."

On July 19, 1989, Chiara almost died of a hemorrhage. Her faith did not falter as she said, "Don't shed any more tears for me. I'm going to Jesus. At my funeral, I don't want people crying, but singing with all their hearts."

Cardinal Saldarini heard about Chiara's illness and visited her at the hospital. He asked her, "The light in your eyes is splendid. Where does it come from?" Chiara simply replied, "I try to love Jesus as much as I can."

Before she died, she told her mother, "Oh Mamma, young people... young people... they are the future. You see, I can't run anymore, but how I would like to pass on to them the torch, like in the Olympics! Young people have only one life and it's worthwhile to spend it well."

When Chiara realized that she was not going to get better, she started to plan for her "wedding" (her funeral) with her mother. She chose the music, songs, flowers, and the readings for Mass.

She wanted to be buried in her "wedding dress" a white dress with a pink waist, because her death would allow her to become the bride of Christ. She told her mother, "When you're getting me ready, Mum, you have to keep saying to yourself, 'Chiara Luce is now seeing Jesus.'"

During her final hours, Chiara made her final confession and received the Eucharist. She had her family and friends pray with her, "Come Holy Spirit." Chiara Badano died at 4am on October 7, 1990,

(Boy. A lot of very special saints died around that same time. Therese of Lisieux, Faustina and St. Francis. And I think a couple more.)

She passed with her parents at her bedside. Her final words were, "Bye, Mum, Be happy, because I am."

Two thousand people attended her funeral; the mayor of Sassello shut down the town so people would be able to attend.

Beatification

Chiara's cause for sainthood was promoted by the former Bishop of Acqui, beginning in 1999. It was through this process that she was declared a "Venerable" on July 3, 2008.

In December 2009, Pope Benedict XVI acknowledged the miracle of a young Italian boy whose parents interceded to Chiara to heal him from meningitis that was destroying his organs. His doctors could not medically explain his sudden healing.

Yeah - the Catholic Church is pretty fussy about that. There has to be two miracles, substantiated miracles, before someone can be considered for beatification.

Chiara Badano was declared a "Blessed" in the Catholic Church on September 25, 2010 at the Sanctuary of Our Lady of Divine Love in Rome. Thousands of people came for the event.

Archbishop Angelo Amato, the head of the Vatican Congregation of the Causes of Saints, said that Chiara was a great example of how the short life of the young could be lived out in great holiness and "today there are virtuous people, who in family, at school, in society do not fritter away their lives."

And her feast day, the day they celebrate her entrance into Heaven, is October 29.

Hey—I think that's a pretty cool tradition. You don't celebrate your birthday, you celebrate the day you get into Heaven. Because that's your TRUE birth, isn't it? Into Eternity.

The Lord bless you, Heartdwellers. This story really warmed my heart and definitely challenged me. Ezekiel was also a avid tennis player. I know when he hears this story it's gonna really bring warmth and courage to his heart.

God bless you all, Heartdwellers.

Another Visit from the Great Cloud

April 25, 2018

Lord Jesus, thank you for the saintly soul you've brought before us to consider. I think we all feel conviction and see ourselves as having fallen way far short. Please help us not to recoil or condemn ourselves, but to acknowledge that there is room for improvement in denying ourselves, picking up our crosses and following You. Amen.

Well, today was one of those days when every time you turn around something falls apart. My doctor and I parted ways; my car broke down when I went over a curb that I didn't see. And Ezekiel had a very rough day—really, some terrible nightmares that when he woke up, threw him into a panic. They were just awful.

I have to remember he has Fibromyalgia as well, and yet has nothing for pain. The hardest thing for me was when he listened to the message about Chiara, he cried and cried and cried.

So, when I came into prayer tonight, I was spent, absolutely empty and had I cried a great deal with him and for him.

As I listened to and entered into worship, I thought I saw Chiara in the spirit holding my right hand, with Jesus beside her.

So, I said, "Is Jesus your Lord?"

She replied, "Jesus is My Lord, My God and My all."

Now guys, in my experience I have never heard a demon make that confession; they have always, categorically, stomped off indignantly, saying in an ugly voice, "NO! JESUS IS NOT MY LORD!!!!"

So... that was a pretty good indicator to me that something unusual was going on.

Anyway. I decided I'll listen very cautiously. Believe you me, I'm gonna check this out with the Early Church Fathers. I want to see exactly how this all fit in with the Early Church.

And, she did begin to speak to me. She said, "Do not beat yourself up, Mother. There is so much that is yet a mystery to you. But I encourage you to embrace His will with all your heart, and be convinced of His Faithfulness—for much glory will come from this healing. In no way would Heaven mislead you in these most difficult hours and lead others astray. What He has told you, what He has said, shall surely come to pass. You must be strong and faithfully believe in His promises to you.

“As you have often said today, ‘Not all are called to die at 18 or even 22, as many of the Saints have.’ You have not been called to die at all; not because of fear, but for the purposes of God—as startling and unusual as they are.

"Your only call is death to self—and believe me, that’s a big one, especially in your case. But do not be concerned. It is a long journey with many baby steps and you are progressing. There are times that seem like a setback to you, but that is only an illusion. They are times of reconsideration, so you may step back and see how far you have come, then move forward with more energy and resolve that you are going to make it, because He lives in you and is with you in every possible way."

Just as an aside here, when she was saying that—I was wondering, 'How does she know all these things?' And I realized, in Heaven, everything is plain and clear to everyone else. They look at you and they already know everything about you. It's instantaneous, because Holy Spirit permeates everything. And there's no flesh to get in the way. And there's no demons to deceive you!

She continued, “I was asked to visit you both, because you are suffering much as I did and you have brought glory to the Lord Jesus by sharing my testimony. And for that, I thank you greatly.

"There are so many young people, Mother, who haven’t a clue as to how to live a holy life. They look at the saints of old and say, ‘That was then, but now are modern times. It’s not the same.’ I beg to differ with you, young ones; it is quite the same. Suffering and long-suffering are still very big factors in the lives of modern men. And for that reason, I was chosen to live and die a white martyr—testifying to the power of Jesus to transform souls, until there is nothing in the world left for them and they are pleased to ascend into His arms, leaving everything of the world behind.

“It was very, very hard for my mother and father. They were quite beside themselves that now, their only child whom they prayed and waited for, was to be taken from them. This was unbearable pain to them until the Lord’s love stepped in and embraced them, making them saints, as well. As you have often observed, Mary made the sacrifice of her son for us—and that, too, is excruciating.

“I want to encourage you to remain faithful to His promises to BOTH of you, for He will surely do as He has said He will do.

"I love your Channel, and I will surely send souls to you who need to confront their fears and misunderstandings about who Jesus really is to them.

“Good bye for now. But I am only a thought away, and I support you with my prayers to the Father. Everything will be ok. The darkest hours are just before dawn. And Dawn is coming.”

Well, I was kind of left speechless at that point, and I just said, "Thank you."

"You are very welcome," she replied.

And I said, "Lord, are You here?"

He quipped, "And where else would I be? Aren't you in need? Didn't you just receive Me in communion? Don't I shelter you in the shadow of My wings? Always?"

Wow! That is saying a great deal! Yes, You do. Thank you. What am I to think of this encounter, Lord?

"It is no different than what you encountered in Heaven with St. Ita, Moses and others. Her presence in the Cloud and her attentiveness to your circumstance are a gift from Me. On Earth, so many feel all alone, even though I have given My Word and it is written: There is a Cloud of Witnesses cheering you on and even lifting you to My Father for success in your missions.

"And I am blessed, Clare, that you have had the courage to be utterly honest with our family of Heartdwellers, knowing full well you will be persecuted and falsely accused because of these encounters.

"The truth is, there are many ministers of God who have dreams and interactions with those in Heaven, but they don't dare to say this is authentic, right and normal by My standards. They know they would be rejected by those who have little discernment and cling to religious customs before Truth.

"But no matter. You have been faithful and I am pleased, despite your fondness for caramel Frappuccino's. Really. Lay down the guilt and be at ease. Stop beating yourself. You are coping, and sometimes when souls cope, they reach for their baby bottle or their thumb and just comfort themselves.

"By the way, your caramel is some of the best I've ever tasted." (He smiled.)

My husband says it's too bitter... I don't make it very often. But if the Lord likes it, great!

I smiled. He lifted my chin and said, "See there, I made you laugh. I see those wounds and the stress you are dealing with, and I want you to be comforted, without guilt.

"My Heartdwelling Brides, humble yourselves before My mighty hand and I will show you great things you never dreamed possible. You have been stolen from, under the guise of protecting Truth—when in reality, Truth has been exchanged for men's spurious conclusions, fears and trending doctrines. The flack you will get from others, if you embrace what I am teaching you here, will be the more intense, the more threatening it is to current thought and doctrine in the modern church.

"You are not to base your lives on healthy tradition alone, but also on the Scriptures. And there are still many, many dots you have not connected to reveal the truth of what is indeed happening around you."

At that point, I remembered that Ezekiel had had an encounter earlier today, and I said, "Lord, did You allow her to visit Ezekiel earlier today?"

Jesus answered me, "No, I did not allow it; I sent her to him to comfort him in his concerns for protecting you from what he has been feeling on a bad day. I sent her to encourage and share with him some of the same things she suffered, so he wouldn't feel so alone."

After He said that, I broke in and said, "Ezekiel has been recovering from weakness, because he didn't have an appetite."

And all of you who have been praying—changed that....

Anyway, he (EZ) said the enemy had been messing with his head, threatening, "You're going to Hell. You are not serving anyone but yourself. You're deceived. You belong to me. (meaning Satan saying that) Worship me and I will heal you." Etc. etc. And they were tormenting him with these things.

In addition to all of that, when he saw the video about her, he couldn't stop crying, and crying, and crying. And of course, that causes gut pain to fire off.

Well, after several hours of this, he was worn to a frazzle, and he saw Chiara in the spirit smiling at him. He immediately suspected a familiar spirit, so he said deliverance prayers. When she didn't leave, he asked her to pray the Our Father with him. He especially listened to see if she would garble the "deliver us from evil," as the demons normally do when they pray through someone who's not sincerely a Christian. But she said the prayer beautifully, clearly and with a glow on her countenance.

At that point, he had some confidence that it truly was a visitor from the Great Cloud, and so he listened to her. She told him not to protect me from times of symptoms and pain. That he should be patient, as timing is very important in his condition and his healing. That she was also terribly humiliated when certain cleaning functions were done for her. And that he could not see from his perspective what is truly going on with all of the circumstances he and I are suffering. Also, that it was very important for him to have faith that God is faithful to His promises, and that her mission in life was very different from his.

I think you all remember the messages the Lord has given me about a soul being predestined before birth—that they are shown what their life will be and asked for their consent. Well, Chiara knew from conception what her path in life would be. She was, however, a normal Christian girl, until she had a profound conversion when she embraced Jesus Forsaken as a part of her studying with a group that felt called to that particular devotion.

Actually, it really is quite amazing to me, that the Catholic church has allowed different devotions to blossom, all of them examined for doctrinal soundness, and approved or disapproved. And as a result, it is really a multicolored family—each group has their own very special focus they feel called to. You would think an institution like that would not allow for variety, but for some reason, they allow, embrace and approve such things.

Well, we are all so different. The Franciscans had their own focus as they served the poor. And they taught simplicity. Mother Theresa had her own focus, St. Francis de Sales had his special focus. I mean, there are hundreds if not thousands of different callings under one huge umbrella. I was quite shocked when I learned about this. I thought they were very limiting, stodgy and controlling—that everyone had to be alike. So, that was a big surprise for me.

Well, my dear Heartdwellers, the Lord has shown us three episodes where the Great Cloud plays a part in an individual's life. And I say: take it or leave it. 'Cause I want to do some more research on this and see what the Early Church and the Desert Fathers had to say about this phenomenon. I, for one, have been very blessed by the events in Heaven and events in Chronicles of the Bride that involved the saints. And I just can't find fault with it.

I guess one of my biggest witnesses is that there is only one Head to the Body—and that is Christ. If there were two bodies, one for Heaven and one for Earth... Well, if that were in the Scriptures, I would have to reject this idea. But on the contrary, the Lord is clear about being THE Head. Singular.

So, what are we going to do with these revelations? Certainly, test them.

Well, I'm going to receive the good that has come to me from this. And I can't get over how Jesus broke the ice on this one, when He appeared with Moses and Elijah all glorified on Mt. Tabor. So, clearly, He was demonstrating that the Great Cloud is not the same as a witch calling up the dead. Rather, it is holy conversation and encouragement from those who have gone before.

You know, and that reminds me of the angel in the Garden that came to comfort Him. Again—Heaven's messenger coming to comfort Him.

I have to confess that I have already cried to Chiara, "Please pray for me, that The Father will give me more love for His Son, and I will learn how to suffer without complaint as a gift of love to Him."

And then I thought, 'You know. I really want to compose a prayer to her. Something like, "Dear Chiara, you can see now what we cannot see. You know our struggles from what you have observed. Please intercede for us to Father God, that we will come to love and give ourselves completely to Him saying, 'If He wants it, I want it too.' And that we will trust that His grace will truly be sufficient for us."

Well, at that point, the Lord broke in for a moment, and He said, “Clare, these are good thoughts and prayers. Rest assured that your path is different than hers and that I will still do what I have promised you. You’ve not bitten off more than you can chew. I am very much guiding your requests and petitions.”

Jesus continued, “Heartdwellers, you are to use the same guidelines in the spiritual world with any visitor that you use with Me. See to it you are not led astray by demons masquerading as saints and angels, as so many have been. Use your discernment tools and beware of flattery or fear. These are two of the manipulative tools that will most commonly be used to try and mislead you. Test the Spirits and see if they are of God. I will be with you in this.

“And for the rest who do not wish to recognize angels and heavenly visitors, there is no condemnation. That is your choice. And let us preserve the beauty of our relationship together with no guilt whatsoever.

“But in saying that, there is no detraction from our pure relationship if you do cultivate this gift of the Spirit, welcoming a heavenly visitor and exercising discerning of Spirits. In truth, this is no different than welcoming a friend on Earth into your home, and discussing your trials together and asking them to intercede before the Father for you.

“The Body is One indeed, under One Head. Amen. Amen.”
