Addicted to Vegas

by N. L. Preston

Warning: Fremont Street may cause excessive laughter, neon-induced eye strain, and a sudden urge to gamble.
— Anonymous

After June 21st, daylight hours start gradually decreasing and I couldn't be happier. What's to like about high humidity, sweltering days, sunburns and skin cancer. I wasn't careful and have had skin cancer more than once, so grease up with SPF sun lotion and have regular dermatology checkups. You'll be glad you did if something pops up and you can get it treated earlier, not later. But enough about that misery, and on to our latest Vegas visit.

If you've never been to Vegas, oh my. It's addictive and I don't mean just the gambling. There's plenty to do that does not involve banging the slots for 24 hours straight; the ratio being four Las Vegas locals to each slot machine. If you want to get married, Vegas is the wedding capital of the world with 150-plus couples getting hitched every day; Elvis and Priscella being one couple. The four-mile stretch of lit-up Las Vegas Boulevard is one of the brightest spots on Earth as viewed from outer space. And, not to be missed, is Bellagio Conservatory next to Bellagio casino/hotel's lobby. At 14,000-square-feet, it features 10, 000 potted flowers with displays swapped out by a 24 hour a day, 6 days a week staff. My husband and I visited in February for the Chinese Lunar display, based on the Chinese zodiac. Because this is the year of the snake, the main feature was a 28-foot floral serpent along with red and gold silk lanterns and a koi fish fountain. Snakes are connected to intuition, transformation, and charm, but also to potential evil or danger for those born in 1929, 1941, 1953, 1965, 1977, 1989, 2001, 2013, 2025, 2037. As for me, I am under the sign of the dog and my husband, the sign of the pig. Those under the dog sign are generally considered good friends, supportive, and compassionate individuals. However, they can also be critical and prone to anxiety and worry. Yep, that sounds like me. As for Robert, sign of the pig, these people are characterized as kind, compassionate, and gentle—also diligent, generous, and reliable; making them good friends and partners. I guess that's true since we've been married close to fifty years. I think I'll keep him.

My favorite place to be in Vegas is downtown Fremont Street. It has been cleaned up from years ago when it had a less than stellar reputation among tourists. In 1995, Fremont Street transformed into a pedestrian-friendly promenade with a 5-block long LED canopy. The nightly light and sound display attracts millions of visitors who come to enjoy the free shows under a roof of digital art. Additionally, there are free music concerts, not to mention show girls and others who expect a monetary tip if you take a photo. Lastly, don't forget bingo at the Plaza. Robert and I play there every time we visit. Last time we were again big losers and I blame Freddy Mendoza, one of their friendly callers. I promised to mention him if I bingoed. I didn't, but I'm doing it anyway because I'm a forgiving person and don't hold grudges. Be afraid, Freddy, be very afraid. Just kidding. Until next month, may Lady Luck blow you kisses as you dance out the door with dollars. Win big. Contact: nlpvzw6172@gmail.com

"Slot Whisperer" Sentenced

Sara King sure had a real good time—and now she's paying the piper. The disbarred lawyer, ex-wife of a Saudi prince, and glam queen who, according to one ex-friend, "loved money and had no soul" pled guilty to wire fraud and money laundering a couple of years ago and was sentenced in May to 21 months in prison, three years of supervised release, and restitution to the tune of the $8.7 million out of which she bilked "investors" to support her lavish spree, which included a stay of six months in one of the Wynn's most exclusive villas. Dubbing herself the "Slot Whisperer" with an "unbeatable strategy" for high-stakes slots, King ran through the high seven figures playing the machines non-stop, which of course the Wynn was happy to facilitate—until she ran out of other people's money. Her scam was offering a 10% return on money invested in the short-term high-interest loans her company made to celebrities, professional athletes, and other high-net-worth people who needed quick cash and used their cars, yachts, sports contracts, etc. as collateral. But all the investment money went into the Wynn's coffers and Ms. King will spend the better part of the next two years behind bars.

Circa Football Contests Get Bigger

Circa Sports has announced another record-breaking year for its football contests. Circa Survivor and Circa Million VII will combine for the highest payout to date, $21 million guaranteed. Additionally, Circa is debuting Circa Grandissimo, an ultra-luxury survivor-style contest with $1.5 million guaranteed and $100,000 per entry. Circa Survivor has gone up to $15 million this year, after a total prize pool of $14,266,000 was split by eight winners last year on a $10 million guarantee. Circa Million VII will be $6 million guaranteed, with a $1 million first-place prize. Sign-ups are open through September 6th.

Our Prisons Must be Full

Are we short on prison space in this country? We must be. It's the only logical explanation for so many criminals being given probation instead of prison time.

For example, there were the scammers who sold misbranded N95 masks during the pandemic and price gouged hospitals. The masks were promised to be approved by the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health when they were not and were accompanied by test-result literature that was actually for a different mask. Hospitals paid $2.6 million for the masks that had much lower filtration efficiency.

So what was the punishment? One year of probation and a fine of only $9,500.

Then there was the real estate agent property manager who didn't tell anybody about the lead-based paint in the housing where veterans lived with their families. The agent knew this and still signed rental agreements without notifying residents about the paint. A baby living there was found to have high blood lead levels because of the lead in the paint.

The agent's scammer pals, a hazardous material mitigation service, were hired to go in and clean up the lead paint. They didn't and were eventually nailed with one count of the False Claims Act. And after putting lives in danger, what was the punishment for the real estate agent and the scammer pals? Probation and fines.

Then there was the guy who schemed to grab Covid funding to the tune of nearly a half million dollars. Punishment: a fine and — you guessed it — probation.

And what of the guy who groped a student nurse at a VA hospital, a case of abusive sexual contact? The guidelines indicate he could have gotten up to two years in prison. Yet he gets a free pass. Once again: probation.

I can only conclude that our prisons are full. There's no other explanation for only giving probation to these criminals.

DEAR PAWS: Can you settle a dispute between me and my neighbor? Bob doesn't want my dog peeing or pooping on his lawn. I told him that my dog is just helping fertilize his grass, and he should be grateful for the free nutrients. Yesterday, as I was hanging out on my back patio, Bob threw a bag full of old dog poop over the fence; it broke when it landed and scattered all over the patio. We used to be friends, but now I'm not so sure. Who's right in this situation? — Doug H., via email

DEAR DOUG: One of the biggest commandments of dog ownership is Thou Shalt Not Annoy Thy Neighbors. Allowing your dog to relieve himself on your neighbor's lawn is more than just annoying; it opens you to a potential lawsuit. Clearly, it's causing strife for your neighbor. Even if dog poop actually did fertilize lawns (it doesn't), you and your dog are trespassing on private property. You're also destroying your neighbor's lawn. Dog pee burns grass and kills it, leaving awful bare spots surrounded by yellow, dying grass. Dog poop doesn't disappear; it sits there and stinks, blocks airflow to the grass and kills it.

If you want to resolve this situation peacefully, apologize to your neighbor, offer to clean up your dog's mess and keep your dog away from his property. That means leashing your dog on walks, picking up his poop as soon as he goes and disposing of it at home or in a municipal waste bin. That's your option. There is only one.

Summer Company

Dear Annie,

We have a lot of company planning to visit us next month. Can you suggest a breakfast dish that I can prepare ahead of time? Thank you. — Fannie from Boynton Beach, Florida

ear Fannie,

Dear Fannie,

During a recent visit with our artist friends Barbara and Bob we were served this wonderful, but easy to prepare, breakfast casserole. Barbara mentioned how she had made the strata the day before. So, of course, when you wrote, I immediately asked her for her recipe! —Annie

BREAKFAST STRATA
2 packages Brown and Serve Sausage Links 8 slices of white bread, cubed 2 cups shredded cheddar cheese 5 eggs
2 ½ cups milk
¾ cup heavy cream
¾ teaspoon dry mustard

Grease an 8-by-12 baking dish with non-stick cooking spray. Place the bread cubes along the bottom of the pan. Cut the sausage links into bite-size pieces. Mix the remaining ingredients in a medium-size bowl. Top the bread with the contents of the bowl. Refrigerate overnight. Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Bake uncovered for 1½ hours. Serves 8.

Bingo abroad

Hi Guy,

We have a little bit of a debate going on here about the Bingo manager's family members playing Bingo at the hall he heads. There are four of them and they appear to win a lot. The Bingo system is computerized so I don't see how they could have any kind of advantage, but it seems like they win more than anyone else.

— LGG, via email

Hi LGG,

This is an issue that comes up from time to time—an impression by players that certain people must somehow be getting some kind of advantage that allows them to win more.

Let me start out by saying that a lot of work has gone into the development of computerized Bingo gaming to guard against cheating. This leaves the only possible advantage as frequency—people going more often and playing more cards than their competitors. But even then, the odds of any particular number coming up is even across the board.

Your letter does highlight an important point, however. You say that in the eyes of players, the manager's family members “appear” to win a lot. It is really an impression you are talking about, brought about by the familial relationship.

I think every Bingo manager should think twice about allowing family members and close friends to play Bingo at the halls they manage as it does tend to create bad feelings for players who often think something suspicious or “insider” is going on.

Bingo is a gaming competition where money is involved, and as such, tensions may sometimes run high. The last thing a Bingo hall manager should want to do is fuel that tension with suspicion. — Guy

Dear Aunt Bingo

Employee Play

Dear Aunt Bingo,

Some Bingo players feel it is not fair for employees of a Bingo hall to play Bingo at the hall they are employed at. Most employees of a Bingo hall are Bingo players who enjoy playing at their favorite hall and want to work part-time. Would it really be fair to tell them they cannot play Bingo there because they work there one or two days a week? Do grocery stores or department stores or any business tell their employees they cannot shop there because that is where they are employed? Do bowling alleys or golf courses tell employees they cannot play there?

Employees of a Bingo hall do have other jobs and their money is just as good as anyone else's. They purchase their paper just like anyone else from the same stack and series of papers as the rest of the players.

Bingo players who feel employees should not be playing are the same players who sit there and say things like: "Look at that lady; she always wins here!" or "That person over there has won three times tonight!" These jealous Bingo players will never be happy playing at any Bingo hall; and if they do feel a Bingo hall is cheating, why would they want to play there and support them?

I don't think it's fair to ban employees from playing Bingo on their days off. Bingo is and should be for everyone! — BT, Nampa, Idaho

Dear BT,

The service a Bingo hall provides is a game of chance, which makes it a bit different than a grocery store because tensions tend to run high when prize money is on the line, as opposed to just spending money to get groceries (though with current grocery prices this may not always hold true). While depriving workers and their family members the opportunity to play seems unfair, the suspicions that arise among players may actually hurt the hall in terms of attendance over time. It's a good question to throw out to our readers: are players' suspicions a sufficient reason for a manager to rethink this policy? Send your comments and questions to: Aunt Bingo c/o the Bingo Bugle, P.O. Box 527, Vashon, WA 98070. You also may e-mail them to the editor at tara@bingobugle.com. Antiques & Collecting

By Terry and Kim Kovel

Q: I have a set with a perfume bottle, compact and lipstick tube made of pearl. They are in a case that reads “Le Kid Paris” inside. What is its value?

A: “Le Kid” was created by the Marcel Franck perfume company in Paris in 1926. It was the first purse-sized perfume atomizer. Individual Le Kid perfume bottles are worth about $50 to $120. Many dealers who sell jewelry also deal in items like perfume bottles and compacts. There are also collectors who specialize in perfume bottles, like the International Perfume Bottle Association (IPBA).

Vision Care

Dear Savvy Senior,

What all does Medicare cover when it comes to vision care? I currently have good vision insurance through my employer but will lose it when I retire. — Almost 65

Dear Almost,

Many soon-to-be retirees are a bit blurry with what Medicare does and doesn't cover when it comes to vision care. The good news is that Medicare covers most medical issues like cataract surgery, treatment of eye diseases and medical emergencies. But unfortunately, routine care like eye exams and eyeglasses are usually the beneficiary's responsibility. Here's a breakdown of what is and isn't covered.

Eye exams and treatments: Medicare does not cover routine eye exams that test for eyeglasses or contact lenses, but they do cover yearly medical eye exams if you have diabetes or are at high risk for glaucoma. They will also pay for exams to test and treat medical eye diseases if you're having vision problems that indicate a serious eye problem like macular degeneration, dry eye syndrome, glaucoma, eye infections or if you get something in your eye.

Eye surgeries: Medicare will cover most eye surgeries that help repair the eye function, including cataract surgery to remove cataracts and insert standard intraocular lenses to replace your own. Medicare will not, however, pick up the extra cost if you choose a premium multifocal lens that restores full range of vision, thereby reducing your need for glasses after cataract surgery. The extra cost for a premium lens can run $1,500 to $4,000 per eye.

Eye surgeries that are usually not covered by Medicare include refractive (LASIK) surgery and cosmetic eye surgery that are not considered medically necessary.

Eyeglasses and contact lenses: Medicare will not pay for eyeglasses or contact lenses, with one exception: If you have had a conventional intraocular lens inserted during cataract surgery, Medicare will pay for eyeglasses or contact lenses following the operation.

WAYS TO SAVE

Although original Medicare's vision coverage is limited to medical issues, there are ways you can save on routine care. Here are several to check into.

Medicare Advantage plans: Many of these plans, which are alternatives to original Medicare and sold through private insurance companies, cover routine eye exams and eyeglasses, but coverage is limited so be sure you understand the specifics. While I don't recommend enrolling in an Advantage plan just to get vision coverage it is an option you should know about. To locate Advantage plans in your area that provide vision coverage, go to Medicare.gov/plan-compare or call 800-633-4227.

Purchase vision insurance: If you get routine eye exams and purchase new eyeglasses annually, a vision insurance plan may be worth the costs. These policies typically range between $5 and $30 per month. Most plans will also have copays or deductibles you'll be responsible for.

Check veterans' benefits: If you're a veteran and qualify for VA health care benefits, you may be able to get some or all of your routine vision care through VA. Go to VA.gov/health-care/about-va-health-benefits/vision-care to learn more.

Find cheaper shopping options: Many retailers provide discounts—between 10 and 50 percent—on eye exams and eyeglasses if you belong to a membership group like AARP or AAA. You can also save by shopping at discount retailers like Costco Optical, Sam's Club Optical or Target Optical, which are all recommended by Consumer Reports. Or consider buying your glasses online at retailers like: ZenniOptical.com, EyeBuyDirect.com or GlassesUSA.com which offer big savings. To purchase glasses online, you'll need a valid prescription from an eye doctor (no more than a year old), plus your pupillary distance number, which is the distance, measured in millimeters, between the centers of your pupils in each eye.

Look for assistance: There are also health centers and local clinics that provide free or discounted vision exams and eyeglasses to those in need. To find them put a call into your local Lions Club for referrals.

THE POD REPORT

By Dana Block

That’s Absurd!

Does your sense of humor lean toward the more absurd? If you love parodies and satire that gets delivered with a full commitment to the bit, any of these five podcasts will deliver the laughs:

Hello from the Magic Tavern— This improvised comedy podcast hosted by Arnie Niekamp starts with this clever premise: Niekamp fell through a dimensional portal behind a Burger King (home of the Whopper) into the fantastical land of Foon. Fortunately, his Wi-Fi signal is just strong enough for him to upload his weekly podcast from “the Vermilion Minotaur tavern where he interviews wizards, monsters and adventurers.” Improv legends like Paul F. Tompkins, Jason Mantzoukas, and Lisa Gilroy are just a few of the guests participating in this silly, hilarious and imaginary talk show. (HellofromtheMagicTavern.com)

Mission to Zyxx — Check out this sci-fi comedy from outer space where everyone’s an idiot and talks like they’re in HR. Follow a team of ambassadors as they attempt to establish diplomatic relations with planets in the remote and chaotic Zyxx Quadrant... better known as the “ass end of space.” While the podcast concluded in 2022, you can still binge the original series for free. You can also get in from the ground up for their newest podcast series “The Young Old Derf Chronicles,” coming later this year. (MissiontoZyxx.space)

I Said No Gifts! — Host Bridger Winegar invites friends, loved ones, and people he’s “secretly trying to destroy” to engage him in conversation and maybe even play a game. However, there’s one caveat — you must not bring the host a gift! With each episode title, Winegar names and shames each guest who disobeyed him (hint: it’s all of them!), including Rachel Dratch (Saturday Night Live), Oscar Nunez (The Office), and even notorious parodist “Weird Al” Yankovic. Was This Call on the River
a Bit too Optimistic?

In a recent $3,500 buy-in tournament at the 200/400/400 level, I raised to 1,000 out of my 50,000 stack with the QdJd in the cutoff. Both of the blinds called, the flop fell Kc10c4c, and my opponents checked to me.

In a multi-way pot, it is somewhat likely that someone has a hand they will not fold, like a pair or a flush draw.
While you normally want to bet with your decent draws, it is simply too likely someone will call, so I decided to check.

The turn was the Qs and again my opponents checked to me. At this point, when most recreational live players check, I should have the best hand a decent amount of the time. I do not want to allow a club or jack to come on the river that could easily give one of my opponents the best hand.

I bet 1,500 into the 3,400 pot.
Looking back, I think a slightly larger bet of around 2,000 would have been better because it would induce my opponents to fold their junky draws that have a lot of equity, such as 9c7s.

Only the small blind, a loose, splashy recreational player, called. The river was the 6c, putting four clubs on the board. To my surprise, the small blind bet 3,500 into the 6,400 pot.

This should be a trivially easy fold because I lose to any flush and any pair better than my middle pair, but it is important to think about how my range appears to my opponent.

When I checked behind on the flop, my opponent should assume that I do not have the Ac. If I do not have the nuts, that drastically decreases the number of hands I can easily call with on the river. I made the assumption that my opponent would bet with the Ac on the turn once the flop checked through. I was also not sure if he would value bet with either the Qc or Jc on the river.

You will find that most players will not value bet with marginal flushes in this spot because they will typically only get called when they are beat.
Of course, my opponent could be turning a hand better than mine, such as Kd9d, into a bluff. The idea that neither of us has the nut flush made me think that my opponent should be bluffing much more often than normal, hoping to put me in a tough spot with either a weak flush or a one-pair hand.

Given my pot odds, which dictate that I need to have the best hand 25% of the time or more to profit, I decided to call. I am unsure exactly how often I have the best hand, but I thought I would win more than 25% of the time.
Luckily for me, my opponent turned over the Js10s for a bluff, awarding me a nice pot.

Another Movie Immersive

According to the Hollywood Reporter, Paramount Pictures is teaming up with a leading developer of entertainment attractions and the STRAT to launch a “fully immersive experience based on its Top Gun franchise, which stars Tom Cruise.” The venue will occupy an undeveloped piece of land at the STRAT (perhaps the dirt lot just north of Atomic Golf) and comprise “a combination of rides and storytelling, utilizing advanced technology and, of course, jet simulators.” A recreation of the Hard Deck bar from Top Gun: Maverick will be included, with live piano singalongs. Tentatively dubbed Top Gun Las Vegas, the attraction is slated to open sometime in 2028.

Celeb Chef Steakhouse

Celebrity chef, James Beard Award winner, author, and Top Chef star Kwame Onwuachi will open Maroon steakhouse in the space occupied by José Andrés’ Bazaar Meat, which closed June 30 and moving to Palazranked the number-one restaurant in New York City by the New York Times and earned the 2023 “The One to Maroon, named for the Maroons of Jamaica, descendants of Africans who escaped enslavement and created self-sufficient communities in the country’s Blue Mountains, will “re-cuisine. There will be jerk rubs and dry-aged cuts, live-fire cooking, grilled seafood, and vibrant sides rooted in West African, Jamaican, and Creole traditions,” according to Travel & Leisure. Maroon is set to open by the end of the year.
