Namkum, Ranchi-834 010, Jharkhand

About the Web-Symposium

The major objective of the symposium on recent advances in beneficial insects (apiculture, lac culture, sericulture, bio-control agents, edible insects), Natural Resins and Gums (NRGs) is to showcase the advances made in the field of research and development on beneficial insects and NRGs in the country. The skills and knowledge of scientists and researchers are needed worldwide in helping the farmers to produce honey, lac and silk more efficiently through sound production and protection management strategies, along with saving the endangered species and fragile ecosystems, and preventing some of the useful species from extinction. Mass multiplication and timely release of predators and parasitoids are very effective in integrated pest management.

NRGs have potential applications in numerous fields and scope exists for their value addition. The scheduled symposium will provide a scientific platform to exchange the information on development of recent advances in research on beneficial insects and NRGs research and to bring together the scientific community involved in study of beneficial insects and NRGs.

Theme Areas

Domain of the symposium: beneficial insects (lac insect, honey bees, pollinators, silk insects, edible insects, bio-control agents) and natural resins and gums

- Systematics, conservation, insect behaviour and physiology
- Host-plant, insect and environmental interaction
- Crop improvement using innovative tools including biotechnology, nanotechnology, molecular approaches etc
- Production system management and impact of climate change
- Potential of Insects as Food and Medicinal resources
- Processing, application, value addition and export potential of NRGs
- Role of beneficial insects and NRGs in sustainable livelihood security

Call for Abstracts

Interested researchers, academicians, students and entrepreneurs are invited to submit the abstract of paper (300 words) through the Email: rabisanrag2020@gmail.com related to the theme areas mentioned for oral/poster presentation.

Note: Abstracts submitted earlier will be considered with reconfirmation

Submission of Full Length Research Paper

Full length research paper, maximum in 6-8 pages as per Indian Journal of Entomology author guidelines should be submitted by February 10th, 2021 through email at rabisanrag2020@gmail.com.

Indian Journal of Entomology will be publishing all the accepted research papers in their special issue (NAAS Rating 5.89) as per journal norms.

Award

Best oral and poster presentations from different technical sessions will be awarded. In addition, there are different categories of awards instituted for life members of SANRAG; the details are enclosed in a separate sheet

About the Society

Society for Advancement of Natural Resins and Gums (SANRAG) is a registered society under Society Registration Act 1860 (Regd. No. 982 dated November 29, 2011). The aim of this society is to cover the efforts of all the stakeholders of natural gums and resins towards a unified goal of promotion and growth of gum and resin industries in the country. It is located in the premises of ICAR – IINRG, Ranchi.

About the Institute

ICAR - Indian Institute of Natural Resins and Gums founded as Indian Lac Research Institute on 20th September 1924 in Ranchi, is a unique institution and only one of its kind in the world, being devoted exclusively to all aspects of lac cultivation. Ever since its establishment, it has contributed immensely towards all round development of lac besides maintaining India's leadership in production, installed processing capacity and export. Recently, responding to an ICAR initiative, the Institute transformed itself by expanding its mandate to encompass all the natural resins and gums (NRGs) and renamed as ICAR - IINRG.

Please visit the website at <https://iinrg.icar.gov.in/sanrag/> for updates on the symposium*
