KYLIE WEAST &
HELL ON THE RED

KYLIE WEAST

HELL ON THE RED is a 5 yr old mare by JL Dash ta Heaven out of Designer Ruby (Designer Red). We raised her, and own her dam. Doug Schrutka broke her, and I started and finished her. My sister, Janae Massey helped season her somewhere in the middle of it all.

I started riding her as an early 3 year old, and she learned so quick that we had to turn her out so I wouldn't ride her. We decided to wait to campaign her as a 5-year-old so she would be more mentally mature.

WPRA FUTURITY FINALS...

It was a good week. I knew I had to make 3 solid runs to have a chance in the Cardholders race average. I rolled my times over to the futurity. I rode her early everyday and tuned her before each run in order to stay consistent. I knew that I had done all that I could to prepare her for each run. And she did just that. Each run she got a little faster and pulled off the Futurity win and 3rd in the Cardholders Race.

My conditioning program contains 4 things:

- 1) exercise daily
- 2) a good feed program
- 3) a good horse shoer
- 4) a good vet

Between competitions, I do what I think is necessary. There may be days that I ride her harder; then there may be days I trot for 10 minutes and put her up. It all depends on her temperament that day.

I use a PHT blanket nightly before a run. And she is on Bluebonnet feed and Oxy-Gen Mag Max daily.

As for the future, I may possibly step out and go to a few rodeos and see how she handles them.

I'm 29 years old, a twin, and a momma to an 11 month old little boy named Marcus. I have the best husband and support system anyone could imagine.

I would like to say 'Thanks' to Rosie Bradley (Oxy-Gen), Darla Schneider (Schneider Pads), Dale and Florence Youree, my mom Renee, my husband Jay, and the rest of Team Reddy!

SHARIN HALL

WPRA World Finals.... I was pleased with her performance with most of her runs at the finals. This mare tries every time I go down the alley! Game plan... I always have a plan for each event. Unfortunately Go Go Fame was not available to run in the cardholder race and so I had to make the 3 runs on Cali. My first plan was to be clean and solid. Her first run was the 1st go of the futurity and she placed 6th. Her solid run on Sunday for the 2nd round of futurity landed me 6th in the average. My second run was in the 1st go of card holder and she slipped approaching the 1st barrel to push her past it 2 strides so our time was slower.

How did you prepare prior to the weekend of the Finals? I did not run her anywhere and I try to rest her as much as possible since she is so physically fit. That would include daily turn out and stall rested at night. I always ride the day before I run to soften the mouth and tone the muscles. I like to ride her at least 2 days in a row then a day off and repeat.

Earnings... She won $1751.66 at the finals and she has launched her total earnings over the 100k mark for the year.

Ground conditions and hospitality/producer... I'm not a ground specialist but it seems to be on the firm side there every year which futurity horses aren't used to. With her speed I focused on sitting in the middle, getting my 3 turns executed and letting her work and not pushing her. I attended the WPRA meeting and was impressed with the leadership in the organization. The efforts they give are lining up with the overall goals barrel racers have as a whole. Big thanks to the girls who represent the WPRA professionally.

DREAMING OF FOOSE aka 'Cali' got her nickname because I bought her sight unseen on Barrel Horse World as an unbroken 2yr old in California. Since I couldn't find a ride back home for her quickly, I got a referral to a great colt starter, Devin Clinton who is now a great friend. He picked her up and put 60 days on her and delivered her to Oklahoma and I've done the rest on her. She was smaller and her body ran downhill as a 3 yr old. I wasn't sure she would be my style until I started hauling and clocking her. Then she showed me the reason I bought her... to run a horse so fast that they clock with mistakes.

Highs and lows throughout 2017... There are always highs and lows with a futurity prospect. They get sore and go through stages of inconsistency and deal with pressure which leads to anxiety and ulcers. Trainers figure out what it takes to maintain them mentally and physically. I always prepare for the big events months in advance. She has done well at most and currently holds 7 champion titles for the year. Unfortunately, I hit barrels in all three $100k slot races. You just have to be thankful for your accomplishments and never give up.

Equipment/Therapy... Cali gets 2-3 Pulse PEMF Pro machine treatments per week. This keeps her body in the best condition possible by cleaning out the lymphatic system and generating healthy tissue and faster healing. I use a Back on Track blanket in cooler months and love my PHT Magna Cue blankets, quick wraps and bell boots to increase circulation. I use my Hidez mask and suit before and after my runs to eliminate lactic acid build-up and increase circulation as well. I haul her with cloud boots on in the trailer to minimize travel stress on feet and joints.

Feeding & Conditioning program... I'm a firm believer in the Blue Bonnet 14/8 energizer pellet. Its very consistent and it keeps the weight on plus builds the top line. My daily regimens of supplements are the MVP Exceed 6way, Insync, Gastroplex, Vita/e and mega pellet.

I've always had a consistent training program; big believer in a little every day rather than a lot of training in a few days. Horses' muscles are developed by repetition and so is their memory. Every horse is different but I generally ride them 2-3 days in a row then 1 day off and repeat.

Current training & boarding facility... it's a great place to train or board. Very peaceful with all the amenities you need year round. It's currently for sale. I have a passion to buy and sell real estate. The entire property has been updated and ready for purchase.

Goals... Goal 1 is to continue developing solid futurity horses every year. Goal 2 is breed and sell quality horses that go on to derbies, rodeos or open events with other riders. I'm currently down to 4 prospects for the 2018 futurity season. Yes, Cali will extend to the derbies for 2018.

The next step for me is preparing for the 6th Annual Jackson Hall Memorial barrel event.

It's held in Shawnee on March 29-31st. No race on Easter Sunday. The format changed slightly to grow the open race as well as the 10,000 added futurity to 4 and 5 yr olds. More info at www.Sharinhall.com. We are always seeking partnerships with sponsors to overall empower our industry.

Thank you sponsors... MVP has been a huge part of my success for over 6 years. I'm thankful to be a part of Hidez USA, PHT products, MBAR2, Blue Bonnet feeds, Pulse PEMF Pro, Chaffhaye and Criger shavings.
