

SHE'S HOOKED ON LOVE

By John Lipinski

He treats her badly, doesn't care how she feels
He has her hangin' on a string
She loves him, madly, and needs him every night
She wants to be his everything

She wants to be, his one & only
But she can't stand to be so lonely

She wants to leave him, but she knows that she can't
She's hooked on love, once again
He holds her heart, in the palm of his hand
She's hooked on love, once again

He doesn't need her, but he won't let her go
He doesn't care about her pain
Spends each & ev'ry night & day by the phone
Soon she'll be going insane

She needs to be, his one & only
Why does he always, leave her lonely

She knows she's losin' and she'll never win
She's hooked on love, once again
Couldn't ever feel this way with any other man
She's hooked on love, once again

She wants to leave him, but she knows that she can't
She's hooked on love once again
He holds her heart, in the palm of his hand
She's hooked on love once again

She's hooked on love, she's hooked on love, she's hooked on love
