WELCOME
NEW CAO SERGEANT
RACHEL WARREN!

Please join me in welcoming Sergeant Rachel Warren to the Black Mountain Precinct Team. Rachel is our new Community Action Sergeant, replacing Sergeant Scott Cain who will be promoted to Lieutenant in the near future.

Sergeant Warren earned her Bachelor Degree at Northern Arizona University and has been with the Phoenix Police Department over 12 years. While on the Department, she has worked Patrol, Neighborhood Enforcement, Repeat Offender Programs and the Community Action Squad. Rachel is a welcome addition to the team and she looks forward to meeting everyone at upcoming meetings and events.

- Cmdr. Tom Van Dorn

COMMUNITY RESOURCE
TEAM IN THE BLACK
MOUNTAIN PRECINCT

The Black Mountain Precinct officers are working very hard to accomplish our goals and to help serve you in the best possible way. One way we do this is through the Neighborhood Policing Unit. Many of you have heard of the plethora of acronyms that we use here at the City of Phoenix Police Department, such as CAO, NET, BMP, MROP, PNP and that is just the tip of the iceberg.

The Black Mountain Precinct or BMP as we are called has a Community Resource Team just like all the other police precincts. It is comprised of three NET squads or Neighborhood Enforcement Teams and one CAO or Community Action Squad which is also divided down even further into more specific duties. All of these officers are well trained in the community policing philosophy of our department, the specific aspects of our assignments, are assigned here through a selection process and generally have many years of patrol experience before they come here. As a specialty squad within the patrol division we are in marked police vehicles and in uniform most times but depending on the type of investigation may not be in uniform. Since we are assigned to the patrol division, our first responsibility is to be a support function for patrol and assist them in any way needed, so many times we are answering radio calls or enforcing on view situations. Each NET and the CAO squad are supervised by a Sergeant and these four Sergeants report to the Resource Lieutenant.

The Black Mountain Precinct is one of seven police precincts that cover the City of Phoenix and it is broken down further into three squad areas. It is labeled numerically for our Communications Bureau as 200 or 2 and so the squads are then broken down into the 21, 22 and 23 squad areas. Each squad area then has 4 beats within them. I have attached a map of our precinct showing the various squad and beat areas.

The NET squads or Neighborhood Enforcement Teams are assigned each to a particular squad area although they have precinct wide responsibilities as well depending on the crime category assigned to them for follow up. One of their job duties is to follow up, assist Detectives and apprehend suspects for the violent or property crime category assigned to them. The NET squads also assist the CAO's with enforcement plans in the assigned squad areas for ongoing neighborhood issues, look for any wanted felons in the area, serve or assist in search warrants, assist in any tactical projects as TRU (Tactical Response Unit) in the precinct or city or any other projects deemed necessary by the precinct Commander.

The CAO squad or Community Action Officer Squad has two CAO's assigned to each squad area, and two officers responsible for Misdemeanor Repeat Offender Program and homeless encampments.

The CAO's are assigned by squad area to serve that area. Within our areas, each CAO is responsible for solving ongoing or other issues within that area, liaison with neighborhood groups, businesses or HOA's, form new Block Watches and assist existing ones, teach Crime Prevention, direct needed resources into their area to address ongoing issues and take enforcement action on problems in their area. CAO's are also part of the precincts TRU or Tactical Response Unit to respond to precinct or city wide civil disturbances/protests. CAO's also assist in executing search warrants as needed, supporting patrol officers through answering calls, special event security planning and whatever else the precinct Commander deems necessary for us to do. One of the CAO's is also assigned duties as the precinct Liquor License officer. This responsibility includes the review, investigation and approval of all new liquor license establishments, liquor license transfers and special event permits.

The Misdemeanor Repeat Offender Program officers (MROP) work on identifying career criminals that are repeat offenders for misdemeanor crimes that impact the quality of life in the neighborhoods of the precinct. This program works with the City

Prosecutors office to get enhanced sentencing for these offenders for arrests on crimes they are continually committing, these can include but are not limited to assault, trespassing, shoplifting, and many more.

The CAO Sergeant coordinates the many precinct wide functions for our neighborhood groups such as Coffee with a Cop, Block Watch events, Public Safety roundtable events, coordinates and assists residents who participate in the PNP Program (Phoenix Neighborhoods on Patrol), works with businesses to execute Authority to Arrest for trespassing issues, liaisons with the downtown Community Response Bureau and assist CAO's with any on-going neighborhood concerns.

This is just a brief overview of what we do at the Black Mountain Precinct as it relates to Community Resource Team. On page 4 is a list of assignments and contact information of the officers and areas for the CAO squad. Thank you for all your support and your continued partnership with the City of Phoenix Police Department.

Kate Gallego Sworn in as New Mayor

On March 12, former city Councilwoman Kate Gallego was elected Mayor of the city of Phoenix. She is only the second woman to be elected to the job; and only the third woman to ever serve in the role as Mayor of the nation's fifth largest city.

Mayor Gallego stated, "I'm beyond excited to be back at the city of Phoenix and have already begun working on improving education, creating more jobs, safer neighborhoods and on investing in our city's infrastructure."

An inauguration ceremony was held on Thursday, March 21 inside the city's iconic Orpheum Theatre. Mayor Gallego was elected in a Special Election to fill the vacancy left behind by now-Congressman Greg Stanton. She will serve out the remainder of his term, which ends in April of 2021.

CITYWIDE PHOENIX NEIGHBORHOOD PATROL

Detective Brian Kornegay

Reporting your PNP hours (Logs)

Although many of you have been catching up your 2018 logs since my last reminder, our numbers are still down from what we normally have. Please double check you have all your hours entered. Don't worry that they are late, they still count. Please try to have this done in the next couple weeks. Thanks!

On Line Reporting for PNP at volunteer@phoenix.gov

Mileage Reimbursement (2019 rate has increased to $.58 per mile)

PNP members who have a NBW Grant in their neighborhood that has funds for PNP patrol fuel reimbursement, please record miles and reimbursement documents online. The log sheet has been updated for this. PNP members recording their time for fuel reimbursement this way must enter the beginning and ending odometer readings and license plate number of the vehicle used on their logs.

When you are ready to do a reimbursement simply email Brian.kornegay@phoenix.gov the PNP members name and the time frame you are requesting to reimburse and he will email back a report. This report will be signed as becomes your "receipt" for the grant quarterly report. The report double checks the math and calculates the reimbursement total. If this methods work well it will likely be the required method for the grants awarded in July 2018.

PVSA Participants logging hours

In the past PNP members who also participate in the Presidential Service Award (PVSA) program had to do separate entries for PNP and PVSA. This was a duplication of effort. We have an updated combination log for PNP and PVSA. Detailed instructions went out to the PNP members who are also in PVSA.

PNP BADGES: If you need to get a new badge, send a message to brian.kornegay@phoenix.gov.

Neighborhood Speed Education and Monitoring Class (aka Radar class)

The first half will be classroom and the second half will be in the field using the equipment. Attendees are asked to bring the radar equipment if their neighborhood has any. We have a limited supply to loan for the class. WATER CONSERVATION

Practicing a low water-use lifestyle is a way everyone can help ensure a long-term, sustainable water supply. Reducing your water use helps meet future needs, results in cost savings, decreases energy use, and helps preserve the environment.

This week's topic will guide you step-by-step on how to discover typical leaks and reduce water use in your home. Click here <http://www.smarthomewaterguide.org/> for guidelines.

WHERE TO START? An unexpected high water bill is often the first sign of high water use. While sudden high use is often the result of leaks, it is important to know that irrigation controller programming is a more common cause. Think back - did you or did your landscaper recently increase or make changes to your watering schedule? Make sure the irrigation system does not run too often or too long. Once you have confirmed that your irrigation controller programming is not the cause, you can begin your search for leaks. Start by visiting <http://www.smarthomewaterguide.org/> and follow the guide from there. If you have any questions contact your local conservation office at 602-261-8367.

New Interactive Map for Planned Major Street Restrictions and Closures

To provide city residents and visitors with near real-time information about planned major street restrictions and closures, the Street Transportation Department launched a web-based, mobile friendly interactive map tool. The new map includes pan, zoom and sorting tools that allow users to interact with the map to change the display on the map. The interactive map can be sorted to display current and future street restrictions and closures associated with private development, special events, utility work and street construction/maintenance; and can also be sorted to display emergency street closures. To access the new street closure and restriction map, visit www.phoenix.gov/StreetClosures

Accelerated Pavement Maintenance Program

Share your input

Between January 2019 and June 2023, the Street Transportation Department will undertake its largest and most comprehensive pavement maintenance program to accelerate pavement maintenance work on many of the city's major streets.

More than 250 major-street miles will be repaved – a 300 percent increase compared to the number of major-street miles the city traditionally paves each year. The accelerated program will be accomplished along with the city's pavement preservation program for local and collector streets, which typically includes 200 street miles per year. The acceleration will significantly improve the condition of city streets.

Share Your Input!

Which streets do you want to see included in the pavement maintenance work plans for fiscal years 2021 through 2023? Pavement condition assessment data and public input will be used to identify streets for the 2021-2023 work plans that will be presented to the Phoenix City Council for approval in late spring 2019. Use our interactive street maintenance map to share your input or email your comments to pavement@phoenix.gov

WHEN YOU CALL 911 - KNOW THE 10 W'S

"Call if you can. Text if you can't." was the key message rolled out during a press conference on April 2nd as text to 9-1-1 service capability becomes available for the first time in the greater Phoenix region. If you are in imminent danger and unable to talk to a 9-1-1 operator, you now have the ability to text to 9-1-1. The service goes live following months of collaboration between numerous public agencies and advocates for the disability community.

- What - is your location? GIVE EXACT LOCATION
- What - happened? WHAT TYPE OF CRIME?
- When - did this happen?

These questions will determine if it is a priority call. Give as much of this necessary information as you can.

MCAO Volunteers Help Canine Teams Learn to Detect and Deter Explosives

More than four million passengers fly in and out of Sky Harbor Airport in Phoenix annually, and with Spring Break vacations wrapping up and summer vacations gearing up, passenger screening canine teams are busier than ever. Transportation Security Administration (TSA) passenger screening canine teams are hard at work daily at Sky Harbor deterring and detecting explosives. Before being officially deployed into the field, these dogs and their handlers undergo several weeks of intensive training that includes learning new sights, sounds, smells and distractions associated with busy airports. Part of this training is done with controlled decoys, and in February these decoys included five of our MCAO crime analysts.

Analyst volunteers carried concealed (fake) training items through areas of the airport where the passenger screening teams were conducting search activities. The dogs are trained to detect certain scents and will follow a "suspicious airflow" when on duty, eventually alerting their handler if they detect a significant security risk.

Whether worn on their bodies or concealed in luggage, the participants were ultimately unsuccessful in concealing their hidden training items from the dogs, who participated in more than 50 different exercises with MCAO volunteers.

"It's amazing watching the dogs work to keep passengers safe," commented MCAO Criminal Intelligence Specialist Alyssa Ginter. Crime Intelligence Analyst Ximena Bustamente agrees and explained the reason she volunteered, "The work done by TSA agents and the K9 teams is important. It is because of them that I trust getting into a big metal box and going up 30,000 feet. Practice makes perfect and I was happy to help these amazing dogs get better at keeping us safe."

TSA uses a variety of different dog breeds and the dogs and handlers are regularly certified. Because explosives are the greatest threat to airports, the dogs and their handlers have to stay current and maintain high standards of effectiveness. Criminal Intelligence Analyst Natalie Smith has a great deal of respect for the handlers and their dogs, "It was fascinating to watch everyone at work and participate in this important training." Criminal Intelligence Analyst Danielle Brueback learned more about how the teams work together and in many instances she witnessed the adrenaline the teams experience as the dogs sniff out the material.

The exercises aren't done in a controlled setting or on a movie set, all the training is done on-site at the airport with volunteers and the actual K9 teams, and much like the MCAO K9 Victim Support Program, cooperation and trust are important elements in the relationship. Although these four-legged cuddly team members may look like they want to play a game of fetch, they are actually working hard, offering reassurance and security to travelers.

If you are interested in learning more about the program or in volunteering to be a controlled decoy, contact Kevin Schutzenhofer at Kevin.Schutzenhofer@tsa.dhs.gov.

CRIME TIPS:

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT THE SOCIAL SECURITY SCAM

Social Security numbers are one of the most valuable pieces of information that a scammer can get ahold of, leaving the rightful owners of those numbers vulnerable to a whole slew of scams involving identity theft. And scammers have a particularly devious way of getting those numbers—by pretending to be FROM the Social Security Administration (SSA) itself.

HOW IT WORKS:

You get a call from someone claiming to work for the SSA. The caller may have an elaborate, made-up title such as "officer with the Office of the Attorney General"

The caller may claim your Social Security number has been suspended due to suspicious activity or that it was used in a crime, and then will ask you to "verify" your Social Security number

This call, or a subsequent call or email, threatens consequences, such as arrest, loss of benefits or suspension of your Social Security number, if you do not provide a payment or personal information

In an ironic twist, a new scam involves receiving an email allegedly from the SSA, which contains a link to register for a program to "protect yourself from Social Security fraud." Unfortunately, it's a scam, and the website, which may look real, will be used to gather and steal your information

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW:

The SSA typically will not call you unless you have already been in touch yourself

SSA employees will NEVER ask you for your Social Security number. If someone asks you to provide it, it is a scam

SSA employees will not threaten you with arrest, and will not threaten to withhold funds or otherwise "freeze" your benefits if you do not give them information

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO:

Hang up if someone calls you claiming to be from the SSA. If you are concerned it may be a legitimate call dial the main SSA number (1-800-772-1213) rather than the number, the caller provides you

Never give your Social Security number to anyone who contacts you

Report scam attempts like these to the Federal Trade Commission at www.ftc.gov/complaint

THAT "GOVERNMENT GRANT" CALL THAT SOUNDS TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE? IT IS.

You may get a call from someone claiming to be from a government grant agency. Or you may get a message or see a social media post about no-strings-attached grants with a phone number to apply. No matter how you hear about them, these "too good to be true" fast-cash opportunities are exactly that: too good to be true.

HOW IT WORKS

You get a call out of the blue saying that you're eligible for a government grant that you can spend any way you choose. You simply have to pay a fee upfront, they say, and they may also ask for personal information, such as your Social Security number, as part of the "application process."

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW:

- Federal grants typically go to universities and other institutions for specific programs, projects or research — rarely to individuals, and never to anyone who has not applied for a grant.
- Scammers use technological trickery to hide their actual location, which could be anywhere in the world. Don't assume a Washington, D.C. area code means the call is coming from there.
- Anytime someone claims you can get free money and then explains you have to pay a fee or taxes to collect it, it is a scam.

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO:

- Be wary of ads that tout "free grants" and provide a toll-free number to call.
- Unfriend and block any social media user who sends you an unsolicited message about a government grant and report it to the social media platform. Even if the message appears to come from someone you know, that person's account may have been hacked.
- If you live in an area that's been hit by a natural disaster, watch out for grant scammers who claim to represent the Federal Emergency Management Agency or the Small Business Administration.
- If you have been targeted by this scam or have fallen victim to it, call the AARP Fraud Watch Network Helpline at 1-877-908-3360 for guidance and support.

When it comes to fraud, vigilance is our number one weapon. You have the power to protect yourself and your loved ones from scams. Please share this alert with friends and family and visit the Fraud Watch Network for more information.

FORMJACKING

Formjacking is a relatively new form of digital information theft caused by hacker attacks on commercial websites involved in banking, e-commerce and other activities that collect customers' personal information. Many of the things you might like to call data thieves are unprintable, but it's accurate to include "innovative" with those less flattering descriptions. When credit card issuers introduced chip cards to help thwart thieves' card skimmers, fraudsters came up with shimming as a way of stealing chip card data. And as consumers have become smarter about managing passwords and avoiding phishing scams, some cyber-crooks have come up with a software hack that can steal credit card numbers, security codes and expiration dates, along with other personal information, stealthily and undetectably as you shop.

An Especially Virulent Computer Virus

Formjacking came to light in late 2018 in a series of data security bulletins from Symantec, a maker of software that detects and blocks viruses and other attacks (including formjacking infections) on corporate computer systems and e-commerce and e-banking sites.

Symantec describes formjacking as software that does in the virtual world what card skimmers do in the real world: Just as a skimmer steals personal data from your physical credit card at the moment you swipe it at a gas pump or ATM, a site infected with formjacking code captures your data as you submit it to an online order form and transmits it to data thieves.

Like a card skimmer, a formjacked website does its dirty work without disrupting a legitimate transaction. When you place an order on a formjacked website, for instance, the sale goes through as expected, even as your data is transferred to the crooked hackers. Criminals use viruses to insert formjacking code into commercial websites.

Symantec reports that hackers attempted more than 3.7 million formjacking attacks in 2018, and that roughly 4,800 sites are infected each month. Attacks have managed to penetrate even companies with strong cyber-defenses by making indirect "supply chain" attacks: By infecting smaller, less well-defended suppliers and partners of major e-commerce sites, hackers have managed to transmit viruses along with legitimate order processing.

Be Vigilant About Potential Data Compromises

When a site is infected with formjacking code, there are no telltale signs that anything has occurred. You cannot check for the kinds of clues that give away less sophisticated scams, such as bogus URLs and non-secure web connections (like those without "https://" in their URLs), so your best strategy—unless you're prepared to stop shopping online altogether—is to stay vigilant and watch for signs your data has been compromised.

- Examine your credit card statements carefully each month for transactions you don't recognize, and alert your creditor immediately if you see any suspicious activity.
- Keep an eye out for unexpected drops in your credit scores, which can be a sign of fraudulent activity, including unauthorized use of your credit card accounts and bogus credit applications made in your name.
- Consider putting a security freeze on your credit files at all three credit bureaus (Experian, Equifax and TransUnion) to prevent fraudsters from attempting to open new accounts in your name.
- Consider using a credit monitoring service that can proactively alert you about activity on your credit accounts before you even notice them yourself.

Corporate awareness of formjacking and the availability of software to detect and disable it means the problem will surely diminish over time. But as long as hackers keep inventing new forms of electronic theft, we'll all need to keep watch over our credit activities.

No more expiration dates for portable permanent MVD disability placards

Change comes with new state law

Motorists who qualify for a permanent disability placard no longer need to worry about the portable credential expiring.

Qualifying Arizona Department of Transportation Motor Vehicle Division customers with a disability are now being issued blue permanent placards that have no expiration date. A new state law eliminated the previous five-year renewal requirement.

The portable blue placard is designed as a convenience for disabled motorists who may use more than one vehicle or for family members, friends or caregivers who drive a disabled person in a vehicle without a disability plate. The red temporary disability placard that's valid for six months is unchanged.

Blue placards with an expiration date should eventually be exchanged for a permanent placard, which can be done at any time regardless of the expiration date. Customers should go to ServiceArizona.com and click on the "Permanent Placard Replacement" link. There is no charge.

There are no changes to the underlying requirements for qualifying for a permanent or temporary disability placard or license plate.

It has become a very sought after event for many citizens of Phoenix and visitors to our state. I want to go a step further and extend an invitation to other stakeholders throughout the City of Phoenix, community groups and organizations, but most importantly your organizations – Black Mountain Community Alliance and the East Black Mountain Partnership. I feel it is very important for not only our citizens to understand what it is we do behind our walls. This will give you all a great opportunity to understand what happens on the back side of the crime we hear about daily and helps you all understand the need for our services to the community. I am opening our doors to you and would love to have as many of your organization attend a short tour of our building at your convenience and pleasure.

BLOCK WATCH IMPROVES THE QUALITY OF LIFE WITHIN NEIGHBORHOODS

Block Watches come in all sizes. They can be a few houses in a cul-de-sac to a whole square mile neighborhood. They help to develop a "sense of community" and strengthen and sustain neighborhoods by bringing residents/neighbors together with a common interest.

Every Block Watch starts with one person and their concern for the safety and well-being of themselves and their families. Their motivation may be to meet or get to know their neighbors to protect the children, to keep property values up by eliminating blight and graffiti, to stop speeding on the streets by installing speed humps to protect the children, to have peace of mind by discouraging barking dogs and loud parties, and to be safe from crimes like burglary, theft and assault.

We all want to live in a safe and secure environment. Our homes should be safe havens. By rights there should be several layers of protection from the national level to our own neighborhoods. National and state governments provide control of our borders; state and city governments provide police and fire protection, education, and other resources, community member groups provide Phoenix Neighborhood Patrollers and the posting of PNP signs on neighborhood streets; Block Watch provides neighbors watching out for neighbors; and we provide our own home security alarms, lighting and burglary prevention measures.
