

Welcome to Fundamental Capabilities

What We Do

Fundamental Capabilities clients learn to choose their paths and steer their lives with intention and integrity. Our courses are a healthy blend of theory and practice that help you manage the big questions on career and life. You will leave our courses understanding the impact of your choices and actions. Want to change your path? We give you the tools and inspiration to do it. You control of your journey; we help light the way.

Our events are participatory and practice-based, and can be customized for any industry or organization. In one-hour, half-day or full day sessions we provide a safe space to ask awkward questions and say it like you see it. Each program in our portfolio complements the others. Whether you are looking for a new start, building on your foundations, or struggling to set and reach a personal goal, we give you tools to manage most of life's journey. Whichever step you are taking at life or work, we can help.

Why We Do It

I'm Dr. Marne Platt, the founder of Fundamental Capabilities. During my successful eighteen-year career in the pharmaceutical industry, I saw women misplay critical conversations and make mistakes, and made my share of them too. Over time I realized that, although I had learned the rules, I no longer wanted to play the game. Instead of throwing away my hard-earned knowledge, I shifted my work to helping other women succeed, and rewrote my definition of success.

The result is FCI, a place where different generations of women, at every career phase, come together and learn to avoid the pitfalls and take advantage of the opportunities in their lives. Whether developing a powerful network, handling difficult conversations, or managing your energy to keep you running stronger, longer, we help you make informed choices and reach your own unique destination.
