I'm looking for a source to recommend on my website for buying books. Is there one you'd suggest?

Q: I'm looking for a source to recommend on my website for buying books. Is there a store, or group of stores you'd suggest?

An excellent way to support independent bookstores is to provide a link to Booksense.com, which is the site run by the American Booksellers Association. It can be used to order books online, to locate the closest independent bookstores, and to find out which books some of the nation's top booksellers recommend. 3-4:02