

The Newark Pilots didn't just help the West win the Perfect Game Collegiate Baseball League's All-Star Game Wednesday night in Elmira.

They helped sweep the festivities.

Last week, The Times published a story on Pilots' OF/P Allen Murphy ("Moonlight Murphy," July 16).

Before the All-Star Game, Murphy won the PGCBL Home Run Derby, posting four bombs, outlasting five other hitters in the contest's final round.

The St. John Fisher College junior aided the West's 8-5 victory, with an RBI double in the bottom of the first.

Other Newark Pilots named to the team were 2B Jared DeSantolo (Florida Atlantic), as well as OF Parker Tadlock and P Trent Baker (both Angelo State).

The Pilots look to make the playoffs, which are slated to start August 1st.
