Comedian/Parent, Adam Jacobs debuts new show 'Daughter Talks' at Newcastle Fringe Festival 2020

Being a parent is the hardest job in the world especially the way Adam Jacobs does it. He is not gifted with common sense and yet he strives to be the father his little daughter needs. To raise a child you need a village... idiot? Adam will answer this question and give the kind of life advice you never knew you didn't need. Two shows only – Great Northern Hotel, Friday 20 March and Sunday 22 March, 6:00pm – 7:00pm, $20.

This family-friendly show (no swearing! 6pm start!) 'Daughter Talks' includes fresh material from Adam's newfound appreciation for sleep. Jacobs has a 19-month-old daughter, Aoife (ee-fa), and his life now makes sense in the most disorganised way. "I love my little girl and I love stand-up comedy so a Newcastle Fringe Festival show about parenthood is as natural as a midlife crisis," says Adam.

'Daughter Talks' is a show for new parents, old parents, accidental parents, people with parents, parents with parents and soon to be parents. It's a clean, pre-dinner show. Safely bring your teenager and your grandma, your toddler and your neighbour... and your neighbour's neighbour. Early shows are a great way to get the night started and Adam hopes to give you something to talk about over dinner.

Catch Adam Jacobs's 'Daughter Talks' at Great Northern Hotel, Friday 20 March and Sunday 22 March, 6:00pm – 7:00pm, $20. Tickets through Newcastle Fringe www.newcastlefringe.com.au
