SIXTH SUNDAY OF EASTER

Heavenly Father, we thank our mothers, giving thanks for all the pain, suffering and commitment in raising us as children. We thank them for the sacrifice of their time, pleasures, and interest to give us a life of contentment. Abba Father, we pray that they are highly favored and, in Your heart of Grace, they have a wonderful place in existence.

"Children are a heritage from the Lord, offspring a reward from him." Psalm 127: 3 NIV

ARMED FORCES DAY May 20th

First observed on 20 May 1950, the day was created on 31 August 1949 as President Harry S. Truman led the effort to establish a single holiday for citizens to come together and thank military members for their patriotic service in support of the republic and national interests and as a undeniable fact of American life.

Jesus, thank you for the men and women who have stepped up to serve and protect our country. May they know the blessing of serving well. Thank you for your promise to never leave or forsake your people. We pray for the protection of our Armed Forces serving our country at home or abroad, whether in drills or in deployment. Keep from harm all those in the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines and Coast Guard. Help them to be strong and courageous and do not let them be discouraged. Help them to feel Your presence. Help them to stay morally strong and free from untoward influence. Keep them healthy and free from sickness as well as injury. Guide them, be their eyes and their ears as they move about and carry out their order and missions.

We are continuing to collect food donations for the Hurricane Food Bank and the Springdale Elementary School.

Hartford Archdiocese Asks Vatican to Investigate Possible Eucharistic Miracle

By Joe Bukuras, (CNA) Boston, Mass., May 4, 2023

The Archdiocese of Hartford is appealing to the Vatican for guidance on how to proceed with its investigation of a possible eucharistic miracle at St. Thomas Catholic Church in Thomaston, Connecticut.

The referral is the first public update by the archdiocese since it was first reported in late March that Jesus, truly present in the holy Eucharist, appeared to multiply himself in the ciborium, typically a gold chalice that holds the eucharistic body of Christ.

"Reports such as the alleged miracle in Thomaston require referral to the Dicastery for the Doctrine of the Faith in Rome. The archdiocese has proceeded accordingly and will await a response in due time," David Elliott, a spokesman for the archdiocese, told CNA Thursday.

It's unclear how long the dicastery could take to respond to the archdiocese's request, Elliott told CNA.

Since news of the possible eucharistic miracle spread, a number of pilgrims have flocked to the church where Blessed Michael McGivney, founder of the Knights of Columbus, was once the pastor.

On March 5 at the conclusion of Mass, Father Joseph Crowley announced that a eucharistic minister witnessed something unexplainable as he was distributing Communion.

"One of our eucharistic ministers was running out of hosts and suddenly there were more hosts in the ciborium. God just duplicated himself in the ciborium," an emotional Crowley told the faithful.

"It's really, really cool when God does these things, and it's really, really cool when we realize what he's done, and it just happened today," the priest said.

"Very powerful, very awesome, very real, very shocking. But also, it happens, and today it happened," he said.

"They were running out of hosts and all of a sudden more hosts were there. So today not only did we have the miracle of the Eucharist, we also had a bigger miracle. It's pretty cool," the priest said.

On March 28, the Archdiocese of Hartford put out a statement saying: "As people of faith we know that miracles can and do happen, as they did during Christ's earthly ministry. Miracles are divine signs calling us to faith or to deepen our faith."

"Roman Catholics experience a daily miracle because every time Mass is celebrated what was bread becomes the Body of Christ and what was wine becomes his Blood," the statement said.
