On Thursday, August 5 at 1:30, you’ll want to be sure to follow Karen Rudel from Sight Seekers Delight talking about the French Resistance movement. Karen herself joins us from Paris to give us a Jewish insider’s perspective.

Thursday, August 12 at 11 am, enjoy the Phoenix Art Museum’s presentation on “A Journey to Nirvana: Buddhist Art & Architecture.” And we’re beginning a new series of our popular “Remember, Recreate, Heal: Expressive Writing about the Self” at 12:30pm on Thursdays. A great chance to explore your creative chops while you uncover memories.

On Thursday, August 19, join us at 11 am for another great play from Herberger Theater Lunch Time Theater Summer Series. This month is Grey Matters Productions, bringing you “Day Care,” a 2-person short play about the relationship between a divorced couple trying to negotiate life.

To help get us ready for the High Holidays, join us for a brand-new program called Symphony No. 1: Days of Awe with Dr. Steve Rothstein from Judaic Sacred Music Foundation. This will be on Thursday, August 26 at 11 am.

Hope to see you at one or more of our enriching classes. All free - Either in person or on Zoom!
