Mein Hump

The Closet.

I wish to state at the outset that I am not a homosexual. Because I might espouse support for Human Rights does not imply that I have become an acknowledged or recognized gay and lesbian writer; and that should I appear in any bibliography as in anyway so associated, I advise the disregarding of said inclusion.

Further, in taking liberties with the language as one is wont to do, practicing certain 'literary license', so to speak, it is never to be construed that any language so applied is intended to incline my sexual preference toward that which seems to conflict with my initial avowal. For example, if I should utter to another, by the description of and the cataloguing of his parts answers to the male configuration, that "I love you.", it is not to be construed to mean that which any outsider would assign to it. It remains in its own context, howsoever that is stated. If I should write a descriptive passage, as did Herman Melville in the opening of Moby Dick wherein Queequeg and Ishmael are by circumstance obliged to share the same bed at the Inn, it does not imply anything beyond a somewhat frightening and uncomfortable happenstance for Ishmael and an indifferent happenstance for Queequeg. If I should write that Captain Ahab stuck his wooden leg in an augur hole, it would not imply something other than was stated. Or, if in titling an opus I should choose the name of its principal character, a whale so-named Moby Dick, it would not carry any more meaning than some cartoon character, Dick Tracy, or a common detective shorthand often referred as a Dick. My brother, named Richard, was often nicknamed Dick.

The Orifice Control Addicts failed in their first attempt to prevent the recruitment of homosexuals in the classroom. pedophilia NSR (No Special Rights, No Sir Ree) Etymologizing alteration manustupration petalphyla petalpushers pedalphusher fetalphyla fetalphilia, fatalphilia, fatalphyla, cornholing, glory hole Adolf and Eva Gibbon roused the woodworking populace to new heights of Aryran purifuckation.

It has often been intoned, "It Takes One To Know One." Monk's cloth, mixed fibers: pedos, homos, sados and masachos.

Amongst the normals there are certain condoned positions familiar to those who have visited the Caves of Ajanta: 09, 19, 29, 39, 49, 59, 69, 79, 89, 99, and on Saturday Nights 696, or 969; its all just good clean fun, squeecky cleen.

Anyway, the OHCCAAS wanted to prevent dissemination (since insemination is not a problem.) They want it outta the schools and into the Constitution. As in The Catcher In The Rye they want your sister to learn all the four letter words like LOVE from the outhouse walls. 'Ats O.K., jes s'long as dey loin. 'Loin is a four lettered word.

But you know, these new Nazis aren't the only fly. Their opponents are given to heresy, just to fatten (flesh [another five lettered word] out) their argument. Even the bitch who's president of the OLA lumps (that's a five lettered word) a bunch of individuals together who have been "acknowledged or recognized gay and lesbian writers". Sound like gossip to you? It sure does to me, whets more, it is gossip. She's gotta be one of 'em. And if ever there was a reason to curtail the buggers, she sure has given me cause. A mixed message: Save the Libraries!, when is meant Save the Aisles!

She galls the all with a notion of intellectual freedom. The intellect has little to do with prejudice; Deborah JACOBS. You may fear what the OCA will do to a JLP, what a certain JLP deserves, not because she's one, but because she is like all who have never loined the lesson.

I'm only interested in the inclusion of Herman Melville in her entourage. I've had this argument before with the enlightened amongst us, only to discover prejudice, and malicious gossip. In her case, its not gossip, and maybe not even prejudice, but outright idiocy, clouded perception, poverty of intellect, vacancy of mind, incapacity, hebetude, puerility, fatuity; anyway, pretty fucking asinine and thoughtless. The Libraries of Oregon are ill-served; the cause she espouses is ill-served; we who are subjected to this bullshit are ill-served.

Anyway I thank the OCA for flushing out this JLP (?). She's not the first; she causes all Librarians to become suspect. Hear that bitch?

In all fairness to the President of the OLA, she didn't look up the reference herself; she implied it was to be found in a standard Library Bibliographic reference. I asked her to Check It Out. She left me with the feeling she might if she gets the time. I tried to impress upon her the importance of correctness in these matters, believing it would only strengthen her position on the next round; leaving nothing to chance. In fairness to her again, she seemed sensitive to the argument, however otherwise she might have appeared defensive. An ERROR in judgment lady. If I receive further comment from her I may mitigate my stance. We shall see.

I know, I know, the Voter's Pamphlet issues a disclaimer that the material appearing in the pamphlet is not warranted for its accuracy or truth; so its all a big hype anyway. Voter Beware; know who your friends are.

Not to forget the spurious happenstance that started this thing Mr. Mein Hump. Adolf Gibbon who has become quite a celebrity, not unlike another earlier in this century, appearing on the LLLarrrryy Kinky show, the Tomorrow Show, The USED Tomorrow Tabloid, along with NewScandalMongerWeakly, and a courtship by the New Yak Times, and the New Yaker. Where the hell is San Fran in all of this? And Sam Donalddaughter? (Since he's a real weenie.) The Media are selling copy fellahhs. How's that grab yuh?

I recall during the Vietnam War days there were many purported anti-war groups which used the sentiment to further their own ends. That is not to say somewhere in their guided or misguided sentiments they did not wish to see an end to the war, but promoting a viewpoint was just as important. I recall this in order to reap some humor from those in favor of Measure #9. In particular Leviticus found its way into the dialogue wherein oyster eating, crossbreeding of cattle, shaving a beard, wearing clothing of mixed fibers, cursing one's parents and adultery were on the rack along with homosexuality. The promoters of Leviticus felt its Book has been incompletely and unfairly excerpted. Beyond that the spokespeople for the Special Righteousness Committee wanted all of Leviticus incorporated into the Constitution as a first step toward facilitating its militant moral agenda. Can you imagine an oyster-eater (rich in gonads), a crossbreeder of cattle (mucking with 'nature' again), a shaver of beards (purportedly interfering with something natural), and any person who wore polyester threads (mixed fibers? [monk's cloth?]) (I don't know how adultery fits in all of this since adultery seems perfectly natural to me. Perhaps one ought not curse his parents while adulterating); anyway it gets a little stretched; but can you imagine any one of the above teaching your children, conducting your Choir.

Don't forget your fig leaves folks.

Anyway: To Amend the Constitution: Government Cannot Facilitate The Growth Of Warts. Commonly referred as the Wart Amendment. It is believed the Wart Amendment was placed on the ballot, in hope of its passage, to provide immediate employment for Wart Removers, and also future employment for Sex Changers, Pigmentation Therapists and Pains in the Ethnecks. Wart removing would be conducted at wart removing stations located as conveniently as possible to the nearest Pilgarlic and Swastika Hermitage.

Leviticus Hitler

Holy Sheeeeitt, The author actually wrote this.
