Eviction Threat-Pray For The Land Owner

February 6th, 2025

Lord Jesus, please light a fire in all of our hearts so we can grow in the miracles the Father is releasing to us. Amen.

Dear ones, there's been an increase in healings here on the mountain and down in Penasco and I thank God for it. There's so much more to come.

My beloved ones, we are going through quite a trial with land. The land that we're living on and we're in the process of paying for, and the land that we had permission to build on from the landowner, but he passed away and we had nothing to prove to his son that the Father would sell us the land.

So now we are in a precarious position, having built six hermitages, and none of them were on the land his father marked with stakes. I had no idea that the land was marked in places where we didn't build, except for the chapel and the ridge. And Rotelio, the owner of the property, had come up here several times and seen the chapel and seen the new hermitage we had built on the ridge and never mentioned a thing to us about it.

I just told him, you know, we will pay you for this land when we return and have more money. And he was totally calm and good-natured about it. Little did I realize that without a piece of paper, it looked to other people like we were squatting or trespassing or something. So we had purchased some of the land, but we had to spread out when other people joined the community, and we thought we had permission to do that, and it turned out we didn't. So we are in a little bit of a mess right now.

By the way, this happened quite often in rural mountain areas, but I was so naive, I don't know what was done. We have been honest and fair with the owner, but he has some kind of hatred against us. I think it's something that's been put on him by other people. So he would be against us because they don't want us here.

So we really need your prayers.

The local witches do not want us here. They're here every night. All the barking, the dogs too, are the only indication we have that somebody's here. We never see them ever. We see their lights when they sit in the forest and have a light on, but we don't ever see them.

They want to evict us on March 1st.

Jesus spoke out immediately saying that he has made other arrangements, and that's not going to happen.

Well, I have total faith in what he said. I just have no idea how he's going to do it. They're asking an exorbitant amount of money for this land, which has no improvements on it. It started out that we were paying almost $2,000 a month rent for the area that we built on, and now they've come back and told us they want $5,000 a month. It's really quite remarkable that he's had a change of heart and is charging us so much money for this land, and we don't have that kind of money.

And I am not asking you for money, so please don't send me money. Rather, I'm asking for prayers for him. His name is Johnny, and we need to pray for him. He's already had a heart attack and bypass surgery, and he's older, and he's worried about his children having some land, even though he owns, I don't know, a lot of land up here.

So he's trying to be a good father, and in the process, he gets ideas about us that totally come out of nowhere, that we're ripping him off or something. It's terrible, and we were paying him almost $2,000 a month in rent for the area where the other hermitages are.

So they want to evict us on March 1st, but the Lord has something else in mind, and God is a miracle worker. So please do pray.

The Lord began,

"Clare, I would like you to entrust all of this into my most capable hands."

I think I do, Lord, but we have to have something to pray about. So, I presented the hard facts to them.

And the Lord replied.

'What is most important here is his soul, his eternal soul, and his children's souls, then the territory, then the hermitages.'

Lord, I keep missing you tonight. Could you please help me to connect in such a way that I can truly love you in spirit and in truth?

"My dove", He answered.

"This too is my heart's desire. I want to fill you with treasures of the kingdom so that the lame, wounded and blind can recover their sight and their joy. Truly I long for this with all my heart. What you are experiencing is tied into the plan. These troubles are offerings which I am using to bring all men to me. Do not think even for a moment that your prayers and sufferings are in vain. They come from circumstances related to your life of sacrifice and obedience. Therefore, they are holy and saturated with sanctity. Do not underestimate this path you have chosen. It is loaded with opportunities to make offerings to me. He sometimes calls them wedding presents."

My dear Clare, not one teardrop, not one physical pain or degree of mental anguish is wasted. All are puzzle pieces that have their place in the economy of sanctifying this land and the souls that own it. Some day you will see for yourself that these seemingly minor trials and inconveniences all fit together to form a bonfire of offerings that I am building into a wonderful work of grace that benefits all concerned except Satan, who is an abyss of wickedness. I want to take the stress off of you and the community."

Thank you, Jesus.

I feel the peace that I have been waiting for, yet there are little tremors of unbelief like aftershocks when Satan's arrows strike. Please help me find the scriptures I need to stand on tonight.

"You're asking me to fulfill my heart's desire", he answered.

"This I can surely do. Nothing wounds my heart more than the unbelief of a chosen soul. You have seen me do many miracles in your short life, things that had no possibility of happening, yet they happen because of your prayers and my heart of mercy for you and those I have entrusted to you."

Oh Lord, please help me do for them just as you have done for me.
The Lord replied again.

"You have taken your prayers from my heart. These are things I long to do, but they must be important enough to you to stand in the heat until they are accomplished. "

Lord, I know you can give me a flame-proof garment so that I may endure and bring you joy.

"Your garment of faith has purchased for you all the graces necessary to accomplish what needs to be done. You are on the right track, my love. Do not let anything distract you from our goal"

Amen.

"You are ravishing my heart. You have taken from my debt and plundered my heart, beloved, with your prayers."

And that was the end of his message.

Is The Mountain Calling to You

February 14th, 2025

May the Lord Jesus Christ bless us through the renewing of our minds and hearts in preparation for the changes coming to America. May He give us all a heart of fire for interceding for the lost and the treacherous times we are living in.

Lord, please give us the graces to be intercessors after your own hearts. Amen.

I'm going to take just a moment to mention that Brandon Briggs, who is a prophetic voice that the Lord has told us is accurate, just put out a very serious message about a super volcano going off at the coast of Italy.

It's about to explode and kill, I believe he said, hundreds of thousands of people with a tsunami.

And just a moment ago Ezekiel was in prayer and saw in the spirit a government building in northern Italy where they were discussing the urgent need to evacuate people to higher ground. One man was very tall and seasoned, the other a younger member of the team kept saying, no rush, we have plenty of time. We need to evacuate them now, it can't wait. We have to protect these people.

So, I'm telling you all, do this, please pray for Italy.

This is an underwater super volcano, as I said, off the coast of Italy, and it will devastate central Italy with a tsunami.

Brandon also mentioned that there was a lot of child trafficking in that area as well.

Okay, moving on.

Precious family, may the Lord grant you discernment to know where he wants you in this moment in time.

We've been getting inquiries lately from people who are feeling a tug from the Lord to come to the mountain. So I wanted to take a moment to let you know what it's really all about up here.

Recently, we've sent out two couples who were ready to begin their ministries. And that's really what we're all about, as well as serious intercession for the world. By the way, both of them met their spouses here at the mountain. And it's getting to be a tradition now. And it makes sense because their hearts are riveted on God doing what he wants. So it would make sense that the Lord would draw them here, draw them together.

When you are invited to come, remember, this is a place of death, to self-love and commitment to God's agenda and needs.

It seems that many heart dwellers have internal baggage that they need ministry for. And this is an ideal setting because we live together and are very transparent with one another, addressing these things, deeper things, commonly. Sometimes for five days a week, sometimes at Mass, other times at evening prayer.

Whenever it comes up, these things in our hearts need to be resolved so that we can go into ministry and have our minds on the other people who need to be saved.

If we've got internal hangups and we're constantly being drawn inward, we're not going to be able to do what God wants us to do. We need to resolve these internal conflicts. And that does happen up here. And it's a little on the painful side because it's about egos. And it crosses that personal barrier where we are hiding and doing things we shouldn't do, thinking things we shouldn't think, and the Lord brings it to the surface. And we get a lot of deliverance done up here.

People want to be free. They want to be free from the things that are oppressing them and holding them down.

Okay.

And when we're at Mass and in prayer, we always listen for the Holy Spirit's voice in the readings and searching our own hearts. And in the worship songs that the Lord picks, we pray over the songs. And we have asked the Holy Spirit to choose the songs that play. And it's amazing the story that those songs tell and who they minister to in the room. It is so supernaturally beautiful.

Dear ones, in order to belong totally to Jesus, we must be aware of and indifferent to our own ways. What we like and what we don't like. So that the Holy Spirit has complete control of our choices. You know the Holy Spirit knows best anyway, but you have to be willing to be led by Him. As a little child would allow her daddy to hold her little hand and take her anywhere he went.

It is true that when you come to serve the Lord, you must prepare yourself for hardships. And we have found the hardest of these is relinquishing our own opinion. If we can die to ourselves, you can die to yourself, you will make rapid progress. But if you think you can come here to change us, you're wasting your time. We are very little nobodies who only rely on Jesus and live by God's leading to the best of our abilities. We make mistakes, we forgive, we learn, and we love each other. Because the Lord has made each of us unique and we are every day discovering our own stuff.

So who are we to raise our eyes and find fault with others who are trying just as hard to learn? Besides, we tend to fit together like a puzzle because of our individuality. And the Lord is free to inspire us through one another.

To be very honest, I also struggle with judging other people. It's still a big struggle for me. I hate it. I'm working on it.

At this point, the Lord began to speak.

“My children, it truly is time for serious boot camp. There is absolutely no room on this mountain for attitudes. And this is not a place to camp out until something better appears on the horizon. This is a place of serious commitment where I train those who are able and fit to carry the cross that I've made, especially for heart dwellers.

That cross is not for everyone.

For those who are unsuited, I have other better alternatives”.

And here I just wanted to say we have made mistakes, everyone.

Friends, we have made mistakes in discernment, and we are learning to be more cautious about who we invite. We really don't want someone to be disappointed because they can't cope with the stresses up here.

This is a place where we learn to break from the world's ways of doing things and look like little ducks from Mars. Waddle, waddle, quack, quack. But little ducks that love Jesus with all our hearts and want only to please Him, doing it His way, which means no compromise to the world's ways or value systems. And if you feel very competent in an area coming out of the world, you would struggle a great deal with letting go of all of that. We have all struggled with it.

Jesus continued,

“My people, some of you have a vocation on this holy mountain. You felt it in your heart as deep calls unto deep. But those who have influence over you have discouraged you, that is simply because they are not called.

Their path is different.

So, you must make the distinction and choose between what God is calling you specifically to do and follow your heart, even if that path separates you from your treasured friends. I call my warriors away from familiar friends when those friends need change in their own lives. That requires a new kind of commitment. You know in your heart, you know in your heart what you're feeling. Do not allow friends, security, social acceptance, parents and siblings or your present pastor's approval to change the course of your destiny. Rather, follow your heart and you will never go wrong. Yes, it will be hard, but I know what you are made of and how I am going to help you succeed. You see, it's only a matter of faith that the God you love always has your best interest in mind. You will never walk alone, whether you obey or go astray, I will be there for you. But this is a place where I empty impediments to intimacy with me in your life and then fill you with new gifts that you can rejoice over. It is a place of learning, growth and forgiveness and taking the old leaven away makes room for the new and the glory of God to shine from within you. So don't be afraid to go against the current direction people around you are going in. Don't be afraid."

Follow your heart and your conviction of what Jesus is calling you to.

You can't go wrong with that.

Chronicles - Jesus in a wheelchair

February 22nd, 2025

Today was an absolute day of trials and tears. I'm totally exhausted. Things keep going wrong one after another.

Finally, in quiet prayer, I see lilies and a diamond tiara with brilliant sapphires. The hosts of heaven come and lay lilies in my arm. I believe the Lord sent them as a consolation for the day was very trying, and I was able to love in spite of my pain.

And the Lord came, but He is in a wheelchair.

He answered;

"Do not expect instant results. I want to see you apply yourself. This is no time to give in to discouragement."

This was written in 2007. It's 2025, and I feel exactly the same way today as I did then. You would think I'd learned something by now. So let's get back to the message. I've gotten sidetracked on the internet chasing rabbit trails and wasting days. I've become very frustrated with my slow computer and a layout that just won't lay out. Plus, no one wants to cooperate. They just keep putting straws on this camel's back, and my mind is foggy.

Lord, I've tried everything to change. He began;

"That's why I'm here. I came to you in a wheelchair to show you how you cripple me when you do not press in."

Rather than solving the problems I came up against, I allowed myself to be distracted by one news story after another. I feel badly because I know my attitude and the time I have wasted have hurt him.

Jesus continued;

"I suffer with you. I wait for you, my bride. I am your only answer. Deliverance comes from the Lord. I understand the trouble with your body, as well as the forces pitted against you. I am your only sure recourse."

This is not a chastisement, but an instruction to help you make more informed choices later. I suggest that you stay away from the computer for seven days and afterwards see how you feel.

It steals time from me.

“Do you want this?”

No, Lord, I cannot see why I'm so compulsive about it. I guess I just want to know.

“Exactly”, he answered.

But Lord, with the deadline for the journal coming up, how will I control myself? You know my dilemma. I need to seek instruction. But then I get sidetracked following news stories that line up with prophecies we've received.

I need your help, Lord:

“To offset your pride?” He replied.

So that is what this is about?

“It is indeed.”

I don't understand. I want to understand, or at least be so disinterested in it all that I just drop it because I love and trust you. This is my goal. I feel like I am a million miles away from it. Please help me.

Jesus is holding a handful of coins, putting them, each one at a time, into my hand.

“You know what this means, right?”

Money in the world? I'm seeking confirmations of what you have told us in the news, using worldly sources instead of believing you alone.

He continued;

“Attachments and the need to know. What was the word that was just given to you? Go back and unknow. Lay down the things from before and be filled anew to overflowing. Be refreshed, washed, and enliven. See through new eyes and carry the water forth. Turn not to the right or to the left. Rest in Him and be carried. Put away your preoccupation with knowing. Satan uses this as a way to hook you and drag you off course. I guarantee that you will not be unhappy with the results if you refuse the bait. How can I fill you to overflowing if you are already full of yourself, the world, and curiosities? How can you see through new eyes if you're looking through the world's eyes? Rest in me and be carried. But you are running to and fro in search of knowledge. What I impart to you is what you need to know. If I want you to see something, I will let you know. What freedom you would have right now if only you had followed my counsel? Am I not enough for you?”

This is why you have gotten a word about worldliness and money for the friend you were counseling. I asked her the same question, and she went her own way regardless. The root is pride. Pull it out, and you'll be free indeed. I am not rebuking you, my love. I am only giving you the instruction that you asked me for. I want you to be free more than you yourself wanted, that you may enter into the great plan I have for you. You see how your sister has been slipping all these years.”

He was referring to a sister who's compulsive, obsessive about news events in the Middle East and is always sending me tons of news clippings. And she's been wearing herself out with worry.

“You must not do that. Turn back and unknow. This is what I'm saying. I have all confidence that with my help, you will surely master yourself. I know how much you love me. My bride, I have such total confidence in you. Now that I have exposed this to you, do you still want it?”

No, Lord, I don't.

“You see, give it to me then, and together we will overcome. I have my little friends and resources. When I need to drop a word, I will. There's so much you have yet to learn about the poison of this world. You really do not want to feed on it. Let us go forward now to love and serve together. What beautiful music I have for you to create.”

And it has been almost three years since this message. That very night, I stopped spending hours on the internet checking the news.

So pray for me, dear ones. And you see, if Jesus can use someone like me, I know for a fact He can use anybody.

God bless you, dear ones.
