

Teena Chinn

Teena Chinn is a consummate writer, arranger and performing musician. With more than 350 works in print, she is a truly prolific writer. Although she has specialized in popular arrangements, her original works have been widely acclaimed as well. Teena also has a strong background in classical literature. Teena is an accomplished pianist and accompanist. Her experience ranges from solo piano work to big band and studio performances. She is as much at home in the recording studio as on the concert stage. Teena graduated from Moorehead State University with a degree in Music Theory/Composition. During her graduate studies at Indiana University, she served as an associate instructor in the Music Theory Department. Respected as a clinician and as a conductor of reading sessions, Teena is widely recognized as an authority on show choir literature, rhythm section development and pop choral style. Teena is currently is a full-time minister of music at Fenton United Methodist Church in Fenton, Michigan