

We have 3 stumbling blocks that limit our growing a large nest-egg!
Losses in the Market, Inflation and Unexpected Taxes at Retirement.

When Investing For Retirement Growth
It's Better To Have Your Money Linked To The Market
Instead Of In The Market.

Stock Market Performance Over Last 30 Years

Every time there was a loss.... how many years did it take to get back the money you lost?

As you can see... the market tends to have it's up's and downs based on the economy. When you use mutual funds the value of the fund goes up and down over the years. (will it be down when you retire?)

We are told that is OK because the market always comes back eventually. The problem is when you are ready to retire and the market drops say 57% as it did in March, 2009 and 47% in 2002 how many years of future income would be lost and will you be able to compensate the loss?

This is why I recommend Linking your money to the market instead of direct contact, with a safe guaranteed investment vehicle that gives you a percentage of future market gains with no future market loss. This safe investment has been around for over 50 years.
