REGULAR HOURS ARE BACK!

As of March 1st we will be OPEN on Mondays again.

Monday – Friday: 8:00 &
5:00 and Saturday: 8:00 – 2:00

PLAN AHEAD – Stock your own replacements

We are no longer going to stock Ritchie Parts anymore; however, we will remain a Ritchie dealer. This means that you can still get these quality products and parts from us. We can, in most cases get them in, within a 1-2 day turnaround. We realize that when parts go bad, they need to be replaced ASAP. With the changing times and limited access to products becoming more and more prevalent, we want to offer you a chance to stock up on those parts that may need replacing, such as valves, heating cables, plungers, to name a few. We will be placing an order on Friday, March 5th for anyone that wants to stock up on replacement parts. Orders will need to be placed and pre-paid by Thursday, March 4th. As always, at any time, you can special order any Ritchie products and parts, but this will ensure that you have what you need, when you need it.

Set your clock ahead on March 14th

Food Plot 101: Know Your Soil Needs Before You Plant

A proper pH level is the most crucial part of growing any crops. Extremely acidic soils (pH 4.0-5.0) can have high concentrations of soluble aluminum, iron and manganese which may be toxic to the growth of some plants. As a basic guideline, a pH range of 6 to 7 promotes the most availability of plant nutrients. Every plant differs in their pH needs, so it is always a good rule of thumb to know your soil composition before you plant, or you could end up spending a lot of money fixing your soil, after the fact. I always recommend planting seeds that will give off the nutrients that you need and use the nutrients you have a surplus of whenever possible. Here at Hohl's Farm Supply, we have knowledgeable staff, along with a wealth of resources to assist you in this process. For 2021 we have added a column to our planting charts that lists the ideal pH level for each of the seeds we stock. We welcome you to stop in and pick up a new planting chart and discuss your needs. While we are always happy to assist, at all times, we do request that appointments are made for soil test consults. Reading and evaluating soil tests can take a considerable amount of time. We need to schedule appointments because they allow us the time to properly evaluate your needs based on your soil test results, before giving you a free 5-minute analysis consult. This is also another way to be courteous and mindful of our other customers' time. All staff is knowledgeable on Food Plots, but soil test analysis is not done by all staff.

In short: Talk Food Plot Anytime – Schedule a time for soil test consults!
