ABOUT RUSTY'S MORNINGSTAR RANCH

Rusty's Morningstar Ranch is a home for adults with autism. They live and work at the ranch, caring for the animals, tending the gardens, and maintaining the property.

Why is this so special? Because many adults with autism never get the opportunities the ranchers at RMR live every day – a loving, caring environment where they can be both safe and productive.

With reports from the Center for Disease Control that 1 in every 110 children born today will be diagnosed with autism, there has been a lot of public attention on autism. Most, if not all of the focus has been on children. What happens to those children when they grow up? Their autism doesn't go away and there are painfully few programs designed to meet the needs of adults with autism.

Lee Grossman, former President of the Autism Society of America, said the lack of services for adults with autism is a national crisis. Rusty's Morningstar Ranch is one of about 30 programs around the United States that specializes in serving the long-term residential needs of adults with autism.
