

Our Privacy Policy

At The Craig Learning Group Inc. we are committed to protecting your privacy. We collect information from our online visitors so that we can offer free and paid products and services through our website and periodic email announcements. We collect Personal Information which you may have given us including name, mailing address, phone number, fax number and email address. Anyone who wants to be removed from our mailing list can choose to do so.

All our visitor data collected is protected against unauthorized access. We will not give, sell or trade your personal information to other companies or organizations.

Any financial information provided to us such as credit card number, debit card number, or banking information is used only by us and only for processing payments and for presenting you with payment options.

From time to time, we may update our privacy statement. Please check back periodically.