- ✓ Employees must first speak directly with a recruiter.
- ✓ If an employee is not satisfied with the outcome of speaking with a recruiter or feels they cannot discuss the issue with a recruiter, they may bring the matter to an AWG supervisor. The AWG supervisor will carefully review the facts, consider their position and make a final and binding decision.

While AWG recognizes that it may be necessary for employees to be absent occasionally, it is important that absences be kept to a minimum. Regular attendance and promptness are considered part of each employee's essential job functions.

Employees are expected to take care of personal affairs and obligations at a time other than during working hours, however, if it is necessary to take time off from work, prior approval must be received from the client company and AWG.

If an employee is on swing or graveyard shift, they must report for the second half of their shift if released from jury service before noon, unless other arrangements have been made with AWG.

As required by federal law, exempt employees who work part of a week and perform jury duty the remainder of the week will be paid for the full workweek.

Employees must notify AWG as soon as possible of the need for leave. AWG may require documentation of the death and of the family relationship.

Close family members are defined as spouse, children (biological, adopted, live-in foster children, or live-in stepchildren), parents, siblings, or significant other.

Personal Leave: Family and Medical Leave Policy

The federal Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) entitles eligible employees to take up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave in a 12-month period for the reasons below:

- ✓ Birth and care of the employee's newborn child
- ✓ Placement of a child for adoption or foster care with the employee
- ✓ Care for a spouse, child or parent (including in-laws) with a serious health condition
- ✓ The employee's own serious health condition

AWG has designated a 12-month "rolling" period measuring backward from the date an employee uses FMLA leave, in which the 12 weeks of leave entitlement occur.

Medical insurance continues during FMLA leave on the same basis as if an employee had continued to work. Accrued paid time off benefits (PTO/sick/short term disability) must be used concurrently with FMLA protected leave. Any use of concurrent workers compensation may only be applied to unpaid FMLA leave lasting longer than three days. Employees should also refer to the FMLA poster Washington State Law poster located in the testing room. Among other things, AWG's policy explains our requirements for advance notice before leave, whatever payments or procedures employees must follow, and periodic call-ins during leave. Employees must obtain a medical certification of a serious health condition and fitness-for-duty certification prior to returning to work from leave for their own serious health condition. These must be obtained by a health care provider recognized by AWG's group health insurance plan. Employees may obtain leave request forms from AWG.

If after 12 weeks of FML, an employee does not return to work then their employment may be terminated at the discretion of the employer. State law may allow more leave time and may cover additional situations.

Reasonable Accommodation

In compliance with the Americans with Disability Act (ADA) of 1990, AWG will provide reasonable accommodation to a qualified individual with a disability as defined by federal or state law unless it creates an undue hardship. An employee who requests reasonable accommodation is required to provide AWG with a physician's medical certification stating what accommodation is requested and why it is a medical necessity.

Nursing Mother Accommodation

AWG accommodates mothers who wish to express breast milk during the workday when separated from their newborn children.

For up to one year after the child's birth, nursing employees will be provided with reasonable break time to express breast milk during the workday. Nursing mothers who are returning from maternity leave should speak with AWG regarding their needs. AWG will work with employees to develop a break schedule that is reasonable, accounts for needs that may vary from day to day and creates the least amount of disruption to AWG's operations.

AWG will provide a private area, other than a bathroom, for nursing employees to express breast milk. Nursing mothers must request/reserve the room by contacting AWG. Employees working offsite or in other locations will be accommodated with a private area as necessary.

Breaks to express milk will be paid. In addition to these breaks to express milk, employees may use normal break and lunch periods to accommodate additional nursing needs.

Policy Against Harassment

AWG prohibits harassment or offensive conduct in any form, including harassment or offensive conduct directed toward the protected status of an employee, customer, vendor, contractor or their relatives, friends, or employees. "Protected status" includes race, color, religion, gender, national origin, veteran's status, age, disability, and any other status protected by law.

This policy applies to all conduct on company property or company time, and to all conduct off the job that affects an individual's work environment.

Harassment is any offensive action directed at a person's protected status. Some examples of prohibited conduct, if directed at a person's protected status, include foul language, jokes, slurs, derogatory comments, negative stereotyping, threatening or intimidating acts, or posting or circulating offensive written or visual material. Additional examples of harassment include unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature. AWG prohibits such conduct if:

- ✓ The conduct has the purpose or effect of creating an intimidating, hostile or offensive working environment, or of unreasonably interfering with an employee's work performance;
- ✓ Submitting to such conduct is made a term or condition of employment;

- ✓ Submitting to or rejecting such conduct is used as the basis for employment decisions affecting that individual;
- ✓ The conduct otherwise adversely affects an individual's employment opportunities.

AWG expects employees to conduct themselves in a manner that another person or group of persons will not interpret as offensive. AWG requires every person to show sound judgment and respect for the feelings of others.

If an employee feels that someone's conduct is harassing or improperly offensive, the employee should promptly and firmly tell the offender that the behavior is unwelcome. AWG encourages any employee who believes he or she has been subject to harassment or offensive conduct, or any employee who witnesses a violation of this policy, to report the offense immediately to AWG.

AWG will keep complaints confidential to the highest extent possible, while allowing the investigation to proceed (meaning information may be revealed on a "need to know" basis). AWG will investigate all complaints promptly.

AWG will design its action to provide redress, to eliminate the harassment or offensive conduct, to prevent retaliation against the person who made the complaint and to prevent retaliation against any employee for providing information as a witness or participating in the investigation.

Any form of retaliation, including derogatory comments, against people who make harassment complaints, against witnesses or any other employees who are involved in complaints, is against the AWG's policy. AWG will strictly enforce this policy and will treat retaliatory action as a violation of this policy.

The question of whether a particular action is prohibited or merely the result of a personality conflict that produces no discriminatory effect on an employee's employment requires a determination based on all the facts. Given the serious nature of harassment and discriminatory offensive conduct, we expect that all employees of AWG will continue to act responsibly in order to establish and maintain a pleasant working environment.

Social Media Policy

AWG understands that social media can be a fun and rewarding way to share life and opinions with family, friends and co-workers around the world. However, use of social media also presents certain risks and carries with it certain responsibilities. To assist in making responsible decisions about the use of social media, AWG has established these guidelines for appropriate use of social media.

Social media includes all means of communicating or posting information or content of any sort on the Internet, web log or blog, journal or diary, personal web site, social networking or affinity web site, web bulletin board or a chat room, whether associated or affiliated with AWG, as well as any other form of electronic communication. Ultimately, each employee is solely responsible for what they post online. Before creating online content, consider some of the risks and rewards that are involved. Keep in mind that any conduct that adversely affects job performance, the performance of fellow employees or otherwise adversely affects members, customers, suppliers, people who work on behalf of AWG or AWG's legitimate business interests may result in violation of this policy.

Be Respectful

Always be fair and courteous to fellow employees, customers, members, suppliers or people who work on behalf of AWG. Also, keep in mind that work-related complaints are more likely to be resolved by speaking directly with co-workers or by utilizing AWG's Open Door Policy than by posting complaints to a social media outlet. Nevertheless, if you decide to post complaints or criticism, avoid using statements, photographs, video or audio that reasonably could be viewed as malicious, obscene, threatening or intimidating, that disparage customers, members, employees or suppliers, or that might constitute harassment or bullying. Examples of such conduct might include offensive posts meant to intentionally harm someone's reputation or posts that could contribute to a hostile work environment based on a status protected by law or company policy.

Be Honest and Accurate

Always be honest and accurate when posting information or news, and if a mistake is made, correct it quickly. Be open about any previous posts you have altered. Remember that the Internet archives almost everything; therefore, even deleted postings can be searched. Never post any information or rumors that you know to be false about AWG, fellow employees, members, customers, suppliers, people working on behalf of AWG.

Post Only Appropriate Content

Do not post AWG's proprietary or confidential information.

Do not create a link from a personal blog, website or other social networking site to an AWG's website without identifying yourself as an AWG employee.

Express only personal opinions. An employee must never represent themselves as a spokesperson for AWG. If AWG is a subject of the content created, employees must be clear and open about their position with AWG and that their views do not represent those of AWG, fellow employees, members, customers, suppliers or people working on behalf of AWG. If an employee publishes a blog or post online related to the work they do, or subjects other AWG employees, employees must make it clear they are not speaking on behalf of AWG. It is best to include a disclaimer such as "The postings on this site are my own and do not necessarily reflect the views of AWG."

Using Social Media at Work

Refrain from using social media while on work time.

Retaliation is Prohibited

AWG prohibits taking negative action against any employee for reporting a possible deviation from this policy or for cooperating in an investigation. Any employee who retaliates against another employee for reporting a possible deviation from this policy or for cooperating in an investigation will be considered in violation of this policy.

Media Contacts

Employees should not speak to the media on AWG's behalf without contacting AWG. All media inquiries should be directed to them.

Electronic Communication Device Use

There will be NO personal cell phone use while on work time. All electronic communication devices must be left in an employee's vehicle or with an employee's personal belongings. While on rest and meal periods, employees may use your electronic communication devices at their discretion. Please inform family/friends that if there is an emergency and an employee must be reached during work hours, they'll need to call AWG directly.

Work Rules

The list of rules below does not contain every rule or possible standard of conduct expected from our employees, but it states many of the more fundamental rules. If an employee is unsure about what is expected of them in a certain circumstance, they're expected to ask AWG.

Prohibited conduct includes:

1. Engaging in horseplay, scuffling, or throwing things.
2. Contributing to unsanitary conditions or poor housekeeping.
3. Causing loss of a product/services due to carelessness.

AWG's interpretation and judgment of whether a rule has been violated is final and binding on both the employee and AWG. None of the above standards of conduct or work rules are intended, nor shall they have the effect, of interfering or inhibiting any employee in the exercise of any right guaranteed or protected by law.

Confidentiality Policy

As a condition of my assignment by AWG to CLIENT COMPANY, I hereby agree as follows: 1.) I will not use, disclose, or in any way reveal or disseminate to unauthorized parties any information I gain through contact with materials or documents that are made available through my employment AWG OR my assignment at CLIENT COMPANY or which I learn about during such assignment. 2.) I will not disclose or in any way reveal or disseminate any information pertaining to AWG OR CLIENT COMPANY or its operating methods and procedures that come to my attention as a result of this assignment. 3.) Under no circumstances will I remove physical or electronic documents or copies of documents from the premises of AWG OR CLIENT COMPANY.

I understand that I will be responsible for any direct or consequential damages resulting from any violation of this Agreement. The obligations of this Agreement will survive my employment by AWG

Conflicts of Interest

AWG wishes to maintain an excellent reputation in the business and local community. AWG has a policy against employee misconduct that damages AWG's reputation or an employee's working relationship with AWG. This includes misconduct both at work and away from the workplace. Each person employed by AWG shall not engage in any activity if it will:

- ✓ Adversely affect on-the-job work performance,
- ✓ Create a conflict with the business interests and purposes of AWG, or
- ✓ Have a negative impact on the business or reputation of AWG, its product, or other company employees.

Work-Related Searches and Monitoring

In order for AWG to enforce its Drug and Alcohol Policy, prevent workplace violence, theft and/or harassment, or otherwise protect the interests of AWG, its customers, and its employees, AWG may use searches, video, or other surveillance methods as necessary.

AWG reserves the right to make an unannounced search of company property or of personal property that employees bring onto AWG premises. Company property may include, but is not limited to, desks, file cabinets, computer files, e-mail, lockers, work areas, toolboxes and work vehicles. Personal property that employees bring onto AWG premises may include, but is not limited to, jackets, briefcases, purses, lunch boxes, packages and personal vehicles.

To the highest extent possible, AWG will conduct searches in a manner that respects an employee's dignity and privacy. AWG will not force an employee to consent to a search; however, not consenting to a search may result in violation of this policy. Employees who have concerns about the manner in which a search or surveillance was conducted should immediately contact the AWG HR Manager.

Stealing, misusing, destroying, or removing from company premises without authorization any company property, or personal property of another employee is considered violation of this policy.

Drug & Alcohol Policy

AWG is committed to maintain a safe, productive work environment at all facilities and work sites to which it assigns employees, and to safeguard all property connected with such employment.

The following outlines AWG's position regarding drugs and alcohol and behaviors prohibited. Employees shall not:

AWG prohibits the use of drug paraphernalia or alcohol containers on its premises or on its time.

It is the policy of AWG not to hire, rehire, or retain any individuals who test positive for any federal or state illegal drug or controlled drug including THC, in any amount, regardless of frequency, without a medically acceptable prescription. Therefore, to rule out the presence of non-prescribed or prohibited controlled substances in the body, all AWG employees may be required to undergo a drug screening test for any or all of the follow reasons: 1.) Condition of initial employment or when assigned to a job, 2.) Continuation of employment, 3.) Randomly to ensure consistency and continuance of policy, 4.) Critical events, such as: work-related accidents & injuries, 5.) Reasonable Suspicion

Medically Authorized (Prescription) Drugs and Over-the-Counter Drugs

When an employee's doctor prescribes prescription drugs, employees are required to ask whether the drugs will impair their ability to safely perform their job. If so, they must get the doctor's statement in writing and such statement must be given to AWG. The statement need not identify the drug, but may simply say that an employee is unable to perform safety-sensitive functions due to the prescribed medication. Where/when applicable, AWG may temporarily assign other work consistent with the functions an employee is capable of performing while on the prescribed medication.

When an employee consumes over-the-counter drugs that may impair job performance or safety, employees are required to report the use to AWG. If an employee is claiming to need time off of work due to the consumption of over-the-counter drugs, AWG may require a doctor's statement in writing and such statement must be given to AWG.

Abuse of medically authorized drugs or over-the-counter drugs is a violation of this policy.

Reasonable Suspicion

An employee's performance, appearance, behavior, speech, mood, odors, etc., may provide reasonable suspicion of a Drug and Alcohol Policy violation. Any reasonable suspicion can be grounds for requiring a drug and/or alcohol test. The basis for reasonable suspicion can include, but is not limited to, the following:

- ✓ Absenteeism or tardiness
- ✓ Declining work performance (after unsuccessful supervisor intervention)
- ✓ Physical indicators (for example, pinpoint pupils, dilated pupils, change in skin coloration, bloodshot eyes, excessive perspiration, etc.)
- ✓ Behavioral indicators (for example, stumbling, slurred speech, incoherent speech, rapid speech, apparent confusion, moodiness, weariness, fatigue, unusually energetic, unfocused, lack of concentration, disorientation, emotional outburst, hostility, unexplained changes in behavior, inability to do normal job tasks, the unsafe handling of equipment or tools, behaviors such as drinking alcohol or using drugs, etc.)
- ✓ The smell of alcohol or drugs

AWG reserves the right to decide whether reasonable suspicion exists, the level of discipline to be applied, and whether an employee should be given the opportunity to participate in a drug and/or alcohol treatment program.

Accidents

Any accident which results in property damage or physical injury or near miss may constitute the requirement of a drug and/or alcohol test.

If a subsequent incident investigation results in a recommendation for termination of employment or other disciplinary action (i.e., for safety or other policy violation), termination or disciplinary action will occur regardless of the test results.

Positive Test

If an employee's drug and/or alcohol test result is positive, AWG will immediately terminate employment for violation of this policy.

Appealing a Positive Test

If an employee demands a second drug and/or alcohol test to confirm the results of the initial drug and/or alcohol test, the employee, at his/her own expense may have a licensed/approved facility of AWG's choice repeat the drug and/or alcohol test. If the secondary drug and/or alcohol test confirms the initial positive result, AWG will immediately terminate employment for violation of this policy.

Refusal to Test

An employee who refuses to submit to drug and/or alcohol test under the conditions described in this policy or who otherwise fails to comply with this policy, the testing requirements or AWG's related requests is in violation of this policy.

Refusal to submit to a test is considered failing without valid medical explanation, to give enough urine, breath, blood or other approved physical sample for a drug and/or alcohol test and/or engaging in conduct that clearly obstructs the testing process.

Any employee tampering with, substituting, adulterating, falsifying, or altering a drug and/or alcohol sample, screening test, or any aspect of the testing process, or providing inaccurate or false information violation of this policy.

Safety Policy

AWG holds the safety, health and welfare of our employees in high regard. AWG constantly strives to maintain a safe and healthy work environment. This is accomplished by adherence to safe operating practices and compliance with all federal, state and specific AWG safety standards.

In the event of an accident, an investigation must be done promptly to assure other workers safety on the job site. Failure to report injuries at the time they occur will delay our injury/accident investigation that determines the cause of the accident and the correction of any unsafe working conditions and is considered violation of this policy.

- ✓ Acknowledge that MY safety is MY responsibility.
- ✓ Acknowledge that no job is so important that I should jeopardize my safety and health.
- ✓ Acknowledge that I must locate safety exits and evacuation procedures.
- ✓ Acknowledge that I must locate first aid equipment and emergency eye wash stations.
- ✓ Acknowledge that I must locate where the MSDS are stored and how to access them.

- ✓ Report any job-related injury/illness; IMMEDIATELY to my onsite supervisor AND AWG.
- ✓ Report hazardous conditions and unsafe acts promptly to my onsite supervisor. I understand that if the situation is not resolved, I am to report it to AWG.
- ✓ Observe all hazard warning signs. NOT ignore, remove, deface or destroy any warning or danger signs, barricade or interfere with any form of accident prevention device or practice.
- ✓ Operate only the equipment that I am properly trained on and authorized to use.
- ✓ Operate a machine only if the guard or method of guarding is in good condition and working order. NOT remove any guard or methods of guarding except for the purpose of adjustment, oiling, and repair or in the setting up of a new job.

Light Duty Return to Work Policy

If an employee is involved in an injury/accident that is of non-emergent nature, they are expected to report to the AWG office immediately. AWG will obtain all details of the injury/accident and provide the employee with the necessary documents to take to the doctor (if applicable). If a doctor's visit is required, employees are expected to report back to AWG directly after the appointment. Employees are expected to provide a written report from their doctor with their work status and any work restrictions (preferably on the Light-Duty Job Description provided prior to the appointment). In the event an employee is unable to work in their present position, they will be required to fulfill the AWG's Return to Work Light-Duty assignment. AWG will tailor the Light-Duty job to meet their work restrictions as established by the Doctor. Employees are required to work in this position and will be in violation of this policy if they fail to perform the duties of this position. Employees may forfeit their Lost-Time benefits if terminated. NOTE: light duty work is only made available on a temporary basis while in recovery.

If employees are unable to return to work in any capacity, they must report by phone to AWG within 24 hours of their doctor's visit. Employees must provide written documentation from their physician stating they are completely unable to work, and not capable of light duty in any capacity. If employees do not have access to a fax machine, they must provide us with the name and telephone number of the physician certifying their inability to work.

It is AWG's desire that employees return to regular work as soon as possible. These policies and procedures are in place to ensure that this happens in the most effective way.

Violation of Policies

AWG does not have a formal progressive discipline policy requiring a set number of warnings. Each case is considered based on its own facts.

All employees are required to comply with the policies of this Employee Handbook. Any violations will result in disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment.
