

That's When I Knew

It was in the Springtime
First time I ever saw her face.
Through the crowd, I saw her...
Beauty, intelligence, and grace.
She saw me looking,
Tossed her hair, winked at me and smiled.
That's when I knew...
That's when I knew...

In early Summer
I realized that things would never be the same.
We were in her garden.
Love flowed like gentle rain.
She took my hand,
She looked me in the eyes, and said
That's when I knew...
That's when I knew...

But, Autumn came early,
And, the leaves were falling.
They were falling.

It was in the Winter
When she said she had to leave.
It was cold and dark.
Not a leaf was on the trees.
She kissed me gently,
Winked at me and softly smiled.
That's when I knew...
That's when I knew...
