

MADRID PLEIADES STAR MAP 2

The purpose of this illustration is to suggest that the Palacio Real is configured to an anthropomorphic design and proportion. The head region would correspond to the church of Santa Maria. The palace itself would constitute the lower portion of the human body image. The center plaza would correspond with the mid-section, etc. What is particularly interesting is that a hexagram is also positioned above the 'head' of this anthropomorphic palace. This suggests that the layout is corresponding to the chakras of the human body. The chakras are thought to be centers of energy and remanence with the higher frequencies at the head and the lower ones at the base or buttocks.

This energy centers also correspond to the color spectrum. Most world and royal palaces are designed in such a fashion because it is though that the Universe itself is laid out in such a proportion and design even. The 'chakra' point that is above the 'head' of the church is in a hexagram design and layout. This would stand to make reason as the chakra corresponding to this position beyond the physical body suggests the state of Nirvana or 'bliss'.

It is the center or point that opens up as a result of the 3rd Eye being opened. It is thus a 'gateway' or portal, a door to the dimensions beyond the physical body. The study is not insinuating that at such locals inter-dimensional transits occur but that the patterns are based on the sacred mystery schools of esoteric and occultic knowledge. This spectrum, like the light spectrum ranges from the Satanic to the Gnostic.
