

Every day you make decisions concerning your life, and in many cases, your decisions impact the lives of other's as well. At one time or another, you may find yourself out of the will of God or teetering in an area of uncertainty because of a wrong decision.

It's in these times that you will be tempted to do what is easier. If you continue to make decisions based on what makes "you" happy, or on what you like, you have your priorities backwards.

You cannot base your decisions on your own thoughts or your wisdom. When you are walking in the flesh -you are destined to fail every time you do it.

If your first concern is to look after yourself, you'll never find God in your decisions. Chances are that at some point you will need change directions because you went your own way.

It's not easy when you find yourself here, but sometimes you gotta back up in order to go forward. You need to be able to hear God to insure you are in His will and where He wants you to be.

It is critical to stay tuned into the voice of God each and every day. Nothing will give you more assurance in a battle than knowing the path you are on was directed by God.

John 16:13, “But when he, the Spirit of truth, comes, he will guide you into all the truth. He will not speak on his own; he will speak only what he hears, and he will tell you what is yet to come” (John 16:13).

If you have stepped out without a word from God, repent for doing it your way and surrender the situation over to Him. You need to open the Bible even more than you normally would.

Make sure you're following God by only going through open doors on His Word. Trust Him to help you untangle the mess you've made.

Be guided by His Spirit. God will let you know if your decision is part of His will.
