DESCRIPTION: This is a serviceable Indian Apache higher poundage target bow. This bow has a big riser that is shock absorbing and smooth to shoot.

The good: Bow has no delamination; no cracks; limbs are straight. Overlays and tips are in great condition. No drilled holes; No chips, dings or cracks. No stress lines or crazing. A few minor scratches and nicks here and there. Decal is in excellent condition. Typical "yellowing" of the limbs. Note: the limbs are a uniform color, but sections may look a different shade in some of the pics (it's a camera-lighting thing).

The bad: The riser is structurally sound, but could use a complete refinish. It wasn't worth it to me to refinish it. Also, the top limb tended to twist a little after stringing and some shooting. I found that the original string groove had been carved in off-center (see left pic on p. 5) which caused the limb to twist slightly. What I did to correct it was fill the string groove with spot putty and then put leather "string silencers" over both limbs' string grooves (see pic on p. 4). Bow is priced accordingly.
