

To Our Valued Customers:

Quality Industrial Products, Inc. and it's Aerpak division are, like the rest of the global community, dealing with the impact of COVID-19. This is truly one of the most challenging times many of us have faced in both our personal and business lives. We have taken steps to protect our employees while continuing to support our customer base.

Quality Industrial Products, Inc. and it's Aerpak division, are considered essential infrastructure businesses as we supply critical components to manufacturers and the defense industrial base. As such, we are currently operational.

We will be placing an update on our individual company web-sites: QIP/Aerpak Status-COVID-19. This provides details as to our operational status and will be updated routinely to reflect changes that are driven by local, regional, and national directives.

Thank you.
