

WwB (WHAT WOULD BE)... A GOOD PLANT RECOMMENDATION?

Aloe rudikoppe- “Little Gem Aloe”

I like to call it the “succulent Agapanthus.” Does it have blue flowers? No. But like Agapanthus in the landscape profile, it is the plant that is appropriate for every nook and cranny, corner and end-cap, center median and parkway, and whatever other low spot you can possibly imagine! There, cheerful flowers will rise up year-round on 18” stems above low, clumping foliage. Shade or sun! Beautiful foliage, red hot poker flowers, cold hardy to mid 20’s, lots of water, or low water. Stuff it wherever you can’t think of what else to put there! Aloe rudikoppe- “Little Gem Aloe”.
