Did you know...

- Wireless routers and devices such as tablets, laptops and cell phones all emit wireless radiation.
- Researchers have determined wireless radiation causes cancer and current safety guidelines for exposure should be urgently revised.
- Exposure to wireless radiation has also been shown to impact sleep, heart function, reproductive health, the immune and nervous system. Exposure has been linked to Autism Spectrum Disorders, Emotional/Behavioral issues, EHS (electromagnetic hypersensitivity), and Leukemia.
- Children are not little adults and the impacts of exposure to wireless radiation are more severe.
- Wireless technology networks in schools pose a unique and serious threat to children's health and well being.

In light of the facts...

- NACST has introduced the Turn It Off 4 Kids Initiative, "turning off" the wireless radiation in schools.
- We are calling on children's health and cancer prevention organization to make the issue of children's health and exposure to wireless radiation in educational settings an immediate priority for 2015.
- 28 prominent scientists, physicians and safety advocates, have endorsed the Turn It Off 4 Kids Initiative.
