- (b) In the event the Corporation would otherwise lose its status as a publicly supported charitable organization described in Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (or corresponding provisions of any future United States revenue law), or in the event the Corporation would otherwise have to pay the tax on failure to distribute income imposed by Section 4942 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (or the corresponding provisions of any future United States revenue law), or in the event the Corporation would otherwise incur some comparable tax disadvantage, the Board of Directors may appropriate for current use all or such part of the endowment funds of the Corporation as may be necessary or appropriate in order to avoid such result.

Nor shall the Corporation accept a gift to its endowment funds that is restricted as to investment unless the Corporation has the right and the responsibility, either pursuant to the terms of the gift or by law, to modify or disregard such restrictions, if, in the judgment of the Board of Directors, the gift property cannot be invested in compliance therewith to earn a reasonable return of net income and appreciation.
