

IRMA E. HARTWICK

1912-1993

Irma Hartwick, 81 of Caro, died Friday, April 30 at her home, after a lengthy illness.

She was born Irma Haske in Gifford on Jan. 31, 1912, and attended Fairgrove Schools. Following her graduation, she continued her education through the Bay City educational system, earning a certificate in business administration and management. She attended realtor seminars and was a licensed real estate agent.

She had been employed as an accountant with Dow Chemical Company, General Motors, Naval Officers Club and she served 18 years as Atron Township treasurer.

She was married to Howdy Barger and he passed away in 1940. She married Gordon Hartwick on Dec. 30, 1943, and he survives her. They made their home in Caro since 1971.

Surviving, in addition to her husband, Gordon Hartwick, are two sons and one daughter and their spouses, James Barger and his wife, Ione, and Jerry Barger and his wife, Lorraine, both of Bay City and one daughter, Jaclyn Bondarenko and her husband, Clint, of Atron. She also leaves a brother, Roy Haske of Beaverton, and a sister-in-law, Arlene Haske, 10 grandchildren and