To Whom It May Concern

Arlesia Crooms served as Vice President of the Georgia Home Based Chamber of Commerce for 6 years.

Arlesia was responsible for marketing, promotions, events, and other activities relative to the development and growth of the organization and was the chief liaison officer between government agencies, corporations, and the organization.

She is an experienced and qualified professional who loves and understands Economic and Career Development, Entrepreneurship, Hospitality where she displays her expertise in serving aspiring entrepreneurs and working with the community through training seminars, expos, and live events.

Arlesia's real passion, however, lies in the love of helping people, tourism, and travel. She excels in management, sales and marketing and takes delight in providing excellent customer service.

She will be a credit to any organization that appreciates commitment, diligence, and reliability from their associates. I highly recommend her without hesitation.

Yours Truly
