

Paul Burd is a very experienced and patient piano teacher. He presents his vast knowledge of technique, music theory and various music styles in a clear, accessible way that I am quickly grasping concepts that had confused me in previous forays into music.

The foundation I'm building with Paul is making reading music and playing piano ever easier and more enjoyable with each passing lesson.

If you want to learn the right way quickly, I highly recommend him.
