ABOUT YOUR PRESENTER

Philip Flores, PhD, ABPP, CGP, FAGPA is a clinical psychologist who has worked extensively for the past thirty years in the area of addictive disorders and group psychotherapy. He is a Fellow of the American Group Psychotherapy Association (AGPA) and is a Diplomate in Group Psychology, a certification issued by the American Board of Professional Psychology. Dr. Flores is also Adjunct Faculty at Georgia State University, the Georgia School of Professional Psychology at Argosy University and is supervisor of group psychotherapy at Emory University. In addition to his two books, Group Psychotherapy With Addiction Populations by Haworth Press (3rd ED), and Addiction as an Attachment Disorder by Jason Aronson Press, he was also Consensus Panel Chair for Substance Abuse Treatment: Group Therapy, A Treatment Improvement Protocol (TIP #41) issued by the U. S. Department of Health & Human Services. Dr. Flores is the lead author on the American Group Psychotherapy Association's treatment manual, Group Psychotherapy of Substance Abuse and Addiction. Dr. Flores is co-chair and contributing member of the Science to Service Task Force of American Group Psychotherapy Association that produced the Clinical Practice Guidelines for Group Psychotherapy. Dr. Flores' latest book, Addiction as an Attachment Disorder was the 2005 Gradiva Award Winner issued by The National Association for the Advancement of Psychoanalysis. He has also presented numerous workshops nationally and internationally on these two subjects. Dr. Flores and his wife, Lisa Mahon, Ph.D., continue to run several outpatient psychotherapy groups a week in their private practice in Atlanta, Georgia.

WORKSHOP OBJECTIVES

1. Identify ways that attachment theory can be applied to group therapy, especially with patients who suffer from addictive disorders.
2. Identify how early treatment strategies need to differ from later stage treatment strategies.
3. Identify different styles of attachment (Avoidant, Ambivalent, Disorganized & Secure) and their relationship to group treatment.
4. Identify the ways that secure base and exploration are intricately connected in group therapy.

ABOUT YOUR PRESENTER

Mark Skellie, PsyD, is a licensed clinical psychologist who specializes in the treatment of adolescents, adults, and couples, with a special interest in anxiety, trauma, depression, impulse control problems, and psychological issues associated with chronic illness. Dr. Skellie has been working in New Orleans Metro since 2009 and has worked with a wide range of clinical populations during his decade of experience in mental health research and treatment.

ETHICS WORKSHOP OBJECTIVES

1. Understanding professional boundaries & issues with therapist self-disclosure.
2. Distinguishing between boundary crossing & boundary violations.
3. How to manage multiple roles in psychotherapy.
4. Ethical use of flexible boundaries in psychotherapy.
