Responding to power line contacts

Contact with power lines is 100 per cent preventable when you plan ahead, know the size of your equipment and watch for lines. But if you do happen to contact a power line with your equipment, ATCO has these steps to follow to avoid injury or death.

- 1 Break the contact. Do what you can to break the electrical circuit. When possible, move the arm of your sprayer or auger, or whatever is touching the line, away from the line.
- 2 Remain in your vehicle and keep others away. If you can't break the contact and there are no other hazards impacting your safety, stay in your vehicle, keep others away and call for help.
- 3 Call for help. Call 911 to report the incident. Utility crew(s) will be notified and dispatched so they can isolate and ground the line to make it safe to work in the area of the accident.

If you must exit your vehicle, follow these steps to stay safe:

- 1 Call for help. Call 911 before exiting the vehicle if possible.
- 2 Open the door to your vehicle as wide as possible. You do this to avoid making contact with it when exiting.
- 3 Jump from your vehicle, landing with both feet together. When jumping, make sure you don't touch the door or any other part of the vehicle and ground at the same time. When jumping, try to keep your arms close to your side to avoid accidentally contacting the vehicle.
- 4 Shuffle or hop, don't step. After you jump, shuffle or hop at least 10 meters (33 feet) away. If shuffling, make sure the heel of one foot never passes the toe of the other. If hopping, keep both feet together. Don't touch anything (vehicle, passengers, items on the ground near the vehicle) until you're clear (minimally 10 meters away) from the vehicle. Don't return to your vehicle or the area around it until help arrives and the respective area is deemed safe.

Hop or shuffle away from an energized line until you are 10 meters (33 feet) away
