Dear Friends of Deep Vision Dance Company,

Artistic Director Nicole Martinell is excited to share with you her newest collaborative work:

“the space between (us)”

an exhibition and interdisciplinary performance work with visual artist/sculptor, Lisa Dillin.

Premiering at VisArts in Rockville, MD on Sept 13th and 14th, this collaboration invites audiences to consider the influence of architecture on our actions and social norms.

Does modern architecture create physical and social barriers? Do public spaces shape our lives and affect our wellbeing? Highlighting an environment's hidden potential, the DVDC dancers illustrate how awareness leads to choice, discovery, and reconnection with those around us.

“the space between (us)” performances are FREE for all to attend. Your generous financial support ensures that Deep Vision continues its commitment to supporting all collaborating artists, particularly the dancers. Further, your generosity offsets the costs of production, travel, rentals, designers, and more.

Thank you for helping us reach our $5,000 goal for the upcoming season

We appreciate your donations as we strive to cultivate immersive dance experiences that engage, inspire, and connect various communities. Donations are not accepted at the event. Please consider mailing your tax deductible contribution to:
