

Cowboy Dressage Economy Cones Court

Want to have your own Cowboy Dressage Court but think you can't afford one. Here is an idea that is affordable and looks good too.

Buy 23"-25" tall white kitchen trash cans. Turn upside down and place letters/brands as near the top as possible. If you wish to make the letters visible on all sides use 12" letters/brands on the front and back and 7" letters on the sides. Be sure to drill a small hole in the bottom of each can so they will unstack much easier. You can also use white 5-gallon painter's buckets or old supplement buckets. If you are going to use a rail, we have found that the taller cans are best as the rail can block the letters on shorter cans or buckets. With a black felt pen in small letters write the letter on the lip of the cans/buckets. That way you can see what letter they are without searching through the stack. Try to always stack them in order. Be sure when ordering cans/buckets that you get enough for corners, gate and 5-meter markers for each side of B and E.

White trash cans like these are easy to find. You can order them from Walmart.

You can find the letters/brands in many color combinations at:

New Graphic Effects, <http://www.ngrfx.com>, (951) 764-4814, info@ngrfx.com

You can buy Black 8" letters and stencils at Hobby Lobby.

The letters come with application instructions, but I take mine to the local sign business and have them put them on. This is quality vinyl with a long life.
