"Einstein's God Model" NOW AVAILABLE ON BLURAY & DVD PRESS PHOTOS

Los Angeles, CA (August 22nd, 2018): "Einstein's God Model" is a mind bending sci-fi thriller that explores the connection between quantum physics and the afterlife! This clandestine adventure is now available on BluRay and DVD with a plethora of Bonus Features!

- Trailers
- Interviews with the director, producers, actors, and composer.
- Featurette: "The Making of Einstein's God Model"
- Audio Commentary with the director Philip T. Johnson, actor/producer Kenneth Hughes, and NASA educator Daniel Record.
- Outtakes
- Yale University Q&A with director Philip T. Johnson and Yale physicist Dr. Frank Robinson.

Winner Best Picture Comicon & Best Science Boston Science Fiction Film Festival, this independent feature film uses the science of quantum physics and string theory to take us on a clandestine adventure beyond the known universe. Director Philip T. Johnson uses love as the ultimate connection, compelling his main character, Brayden, to fearlessly trust a shadowy physicist and a blind psychic drunk who launch him into other dimensions in search of his fiancée.

Einstein's God Model recently won the Metaphysical Media award at the RAW Science Film Festival on the 20th Century Fox studio lot. The awards ceremony was attended by noted physicists Kip Thorne (2017 Nobel Prize Winner, "Interstellar") and Stephen Wolfram ("Arrival"). The film also won Best Picture, Judges Choice, and Best Visual Effects at Classic Comic Con!

Mr. Johnson, the Director of Einstein's God Model states "EGM is a mashup of classic technicolor science fiction and modern theoretical physics. We really wanted everything to have this cool pulp sci-fi flavor - the story, the characters, the visual effects, and even the music were designed as a nod to that cinematic period."

Geeks & nerds are discovering a new breed of independent sci-fi filmmakers who, without studio support, are creating original stories that kick fiction's butt with a blast of science!

Producer Kenneth Hughes is a voice for independent filmmaking on the festival scene, and brought in a deep bench of Hollywood talent to create a powerful post-production team. The film's amazing score was composed by Senon Williams of the immensely popular band "Dengue Fever" - a darling of public radio. Erik Tillmans of Dreamworks supervised the film's groundbreaking visual effects. Naaman Haynes supervised the creation of the film's other worldly soundscape and mixed the film's sound at the legendary Technicolor sound studios on the Paramount lot in Hollywood.

Other facts: The production had physics professor Daniel Record (a veteran of the Apollo Moon program and NASA educator) consulting. Dr. William Rosenblatt of Yale University, contributed as the medical consultant. Using the visual effects as a character, the filmmakers went to great lengths to blur the line between science and fiction, perhaps even ... erase it?

"... an engaging mind bender" – Los Angeles Times (Noel Murray) Rotten Tomatoes FRESH! 🍅

"... this imaginative indie is bursting with ambition." - The Hollywood Reporter (Frank Scheck)

"Einstein's God Model opens a door a never shuts it ..." – Cinema On the Rocks (Ziggy)
