

LINDSEY PETTUS

Lindsey is a Dallas native and began her dance training at the age of 3 years old. She trained in the competitive dance industry for over 10 years and received regional and national titles. The highlight of Lindsey's dance training was studying under educators and choreographers Jason Parsons, Justin Giles, and Marty Kudelka. While training Lindsey was given the opportunity to begin assisting dance classes at the age 14 and by the time she was a high school graduate she was directing Mini and Junior competitive companies. Lindsey is a University of Texas at Dallas graduate and holds a degree in Interdisciplinary Studies and Early Education. Her love of dance and education lead her to be part of dance education agency where she traveled to studios across the country teaching, assisting, and helping dance educators in their craft. Currently Lindsey continues to serve in dance education teaching dancers of all ages in Dallas and other surrounding areas. Lindsey has most recently partnered with Gregory Dolbashian as the Managing Director of DASH Academy and The Apprentice Program. Both programs are housed at Booker T. Washington HSPVA and are dedicated to educating young artists in movement and dance training while aiding in college and conservatory advisement.