

Shelter book sale continues Saturday

The Randolph County Animal Shelter's semi-annual book sale continues this Saturday from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. at the old cotton warehouse on Main Street in Roanoke, across from Cedarwood Cemetery.

Book sale fundraising chairwoman Evelyn Smith said she wants teachers and moms and dads who home school to know they still have many many beautiful children's books and young adult books for sale. She said to bring the children and all will have fun looking through so many great books. So many donations have come in the children's books will be priced at five hardcover books for $1 and ten softcover books for $1.

A silent auction will also take place. Two crocheted bedspreads are the items up for auction.

Anyone still wanting to drop off books for the book sale can drop off on the porch at the warehouse in Roanoke or at the animal shelter on Highway 48 in Wedowee. Please, no encyclopedias or textbooks.

The book sale always turns out to be a fun time for the community. The books are priced reasonably: $2 for hardbacks, $1 for paperbacks and 50 cents for children's books and westerns.

There will be many grab bags of romance books and mysteries for $1. Please come out and join in this great fundraiser for the animals of Randolph County.