

Technological Development

August 13th 2022

This article was written as a source of information for those who may have interest about our technological development on Earth and the technological electronic influences which were ascertained by the Plejaren and Sonara during the investigations of the manipulations being carried out on Billy's computer. According to Contact Reports 512 and 705, these influences are directed at Billy and his computer in a concentrated form, and at the present time also affect, through technology, almost all human beings on the Earth in a subconscious manner via swinging-wave-impulses. Please note that since the workings of the human subconsciousness and the finer-energies are not yet fully ascertained by our sciences at the current time, this article only serves as information (not proof!). The purpose is also to provide insights and clarity into our relatively new technological development as a help-means for the evolution and to assess its impact on us individually and as a whole, and to identify factors that inhibit the evolution.

(Note: Information in the Contact Reports that is relevant to this article has been set in bold for easier reference. For the full Contact Reports or German original texts, please refer to the source links after the Contact Reports)

Excerpt from Contact Report 512

Plaaah

...

66. *The whole thing, however, goes even further, because the mentioned secret-service-religious-sectarian-wise built-up organisation also intervenes in the lives of all users of television-apparatuses, monitors and Internet users and manipulates them.

67. *This organisation, which is protected in a secret-service manner using all the rules of the art has achieved, through the uncountable number of manipulated devices, worldwide admittance into the consciousness of the human beings and steers their behaviour in many areas.

68. As for example, before in cinema- and video-films, etc., individual pictures of food and consumer goods, etc. were inserted, which, during the play-back, were registered by the spectator-audience in a subconsciousness-based manner and who then purchased the corresponding food and items, this is done today in a similar wise by the said organisation.

69. With it the technology is so far developed through the assistance of the secret-service concerned and their technicians and electronics engineers as well as programmers, etc. that television-apparatuses, certain types of monitors as well as the entire Internet can be misused for their own purposes.

70. The whole thing extends not only to the religions and sects, but also into the politics and economy, and indeed in the wise that through the manipulated devices and apparatuses, swinging-wave-impulses are emitted, which are taken up by the human beings subconsciously and influence them.

71. These impulses steer the human beings subconsciously such that they faithfully turn to religions and sects, become religious-sectarian fanatics, suicide bombers as well as terrorists.

72. Also the politics is steered in large measure in this wise, whereby at elections, the voters are also influenced by swinging-wave-impulses, consequently they then choose those in the government, etc., as is directed by the emitted impulses.

73. Even with regard to food, commodities and luxury-goods etc., the same methods of the subconscious influencing and steering of the human being come to the fore, furthermore, however, also concerning the 'contribution enthusiasm' at begging organisations and the like.

74. Also the disharmonious as well as the religious-sectarian music are steered in this wise and through swinging-wave-impulses lead to mass hysteria, etc.

75. Today there is hardly anything that is not used to influence the human beings subconsciously and to drive them to things, actions and behaviours, which are not self-determined, but rather criminally-determined by the thoughts and aspirations of those who gain some profit from it.

76. Very many human beings are to such a degree no longer capable of their own decision-power, which they, however, do not notice, consequently they do things and maintain thoughts, which are given to them subconsciously through swinging-wave-impulses.

Billy

And probably hardly any human being can defend him/herself against it, because everyone indeed assumes that he/she acts according to his/her own will.

Ptaah:

77. That is right, because everything happens indeed in a subconsciousness-based manner.

Billy:

It should, however, nevertheless be possible, that the human being can defend him/herself against it, I suppose – or?

Ptaah:

78. That is right, but it requires a clear consciousness, which does not let itself be influenced by any swinging-wave-impulses at all of any kind.

Excerpt from Contact Report 705

Bermunda

...

11. Now, however, Yanarara and Zafenatpaneach registered a very widespread and high electromagnetic swinging wave, the origin of which they have not yet been able to find, which, however, contain a clearly disturbing and destructive chronology, which is without any doubt exactly fixed on your computer.

12. And since you are with your device also connected with Bernadette's, her device is also affected.

13. And the influence, which takes place on the entire nationwide existing energy-network, on which you are also dependent with your computer-device, takes place through a wireless electromagnetic swinging-wave-influence, which is known to you as radio transmission, whereby, however, the transmitter, respectively, the transmitting centre could not yet be determined, from which the electromagnetic swinging waves emanate.

14. This is because the entire very far-reaching swinging-wave-field is pronounced in the same strength in the entire area, which is why no transmitter location could be found so far.

15. Therefore the emission and transmission of disturbing and destructive information takes place through electromagnetic waves, respectively, swinging waves, which directly hit the electrical energy network and penetrate into it, in which case, however, the whole thing is so exclusively directed only towards your computer that it only hits and affects it, as well as Bernadette's, because these 2 devices are used by you in cooperation.

...

26. Fundamentally, there is no restriction on the type of devices that can be hacked and manipulated, because it ranges from simple electrical devices, such as kitchen appliances, to highly complex and far-developed technical products, like game consoles or smart home products, etc.

...

28. They carry out their activities in order to maintain the might of the elites of the politics, religions and sects, the economy, the arms-industry, secret services as well as the banks and the organisations involved in the whole, whereby it is also a matter of maintaining the unpeace, as well as the oppression of the people, the freedom and justice.

29. This organisation, which is still unknown to us, is active worldwide, as the electromagnetic waves, respectively, very powerful swinging waves detected by Yanarara and Zafenatpaneach prove, which also carry sequences that are detrimental to peace and promote hatred, which affect and maliciously influence human beings around the Earth, as well as to curtail, from the ground up, all efforts for peace and make it impossible.

30. Moreover, through these waves, respectively, swinging waves in the software and internet environment, manipulations are being carried out with regard to the hardware, which are insidiously directed at influencing and aligning – through the television, radio, computer and internet systems – all people in such a suggestive manner, that they become will-lessly submissively dependent with respect to the machinations of the upper elites"

http://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_512

http://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_705

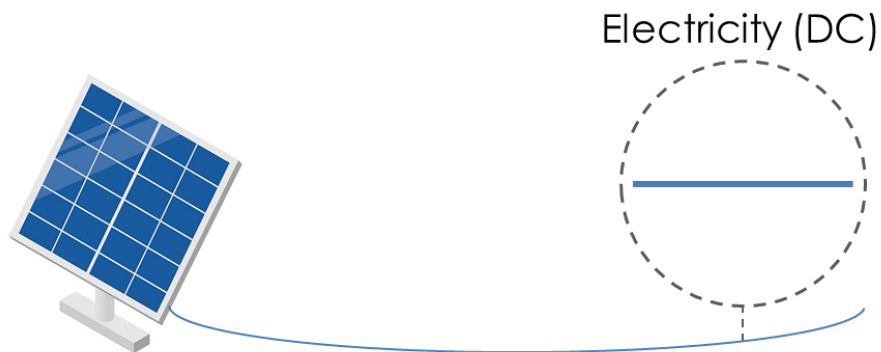

(Note: From Contact 797, through further investigations by the Plejaren, Sonara and Ziltner, it was ascertained that the 'secret-service organisation' and their technical possibilities mentioned in these Contact Reports is related to two extraterrestrial ultra-high-tech nearly-indestructible devices, which collect, concentrate and amplify the human thought-energies which have gotten very badly out of control of the good human nature towards belief, materialism, politics, etc. One of which is used by a religious group to direct the concentrated thought-energies at Billy and his computer, while the other is in the possession of an American shadow-government member and is misused by them to further their goals. For more information, please refer to http://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_797)

In order to provide some background for a general understanding of this theme, here is a very basic introduction into the workings of electric generation and electricity based on Earth technology:

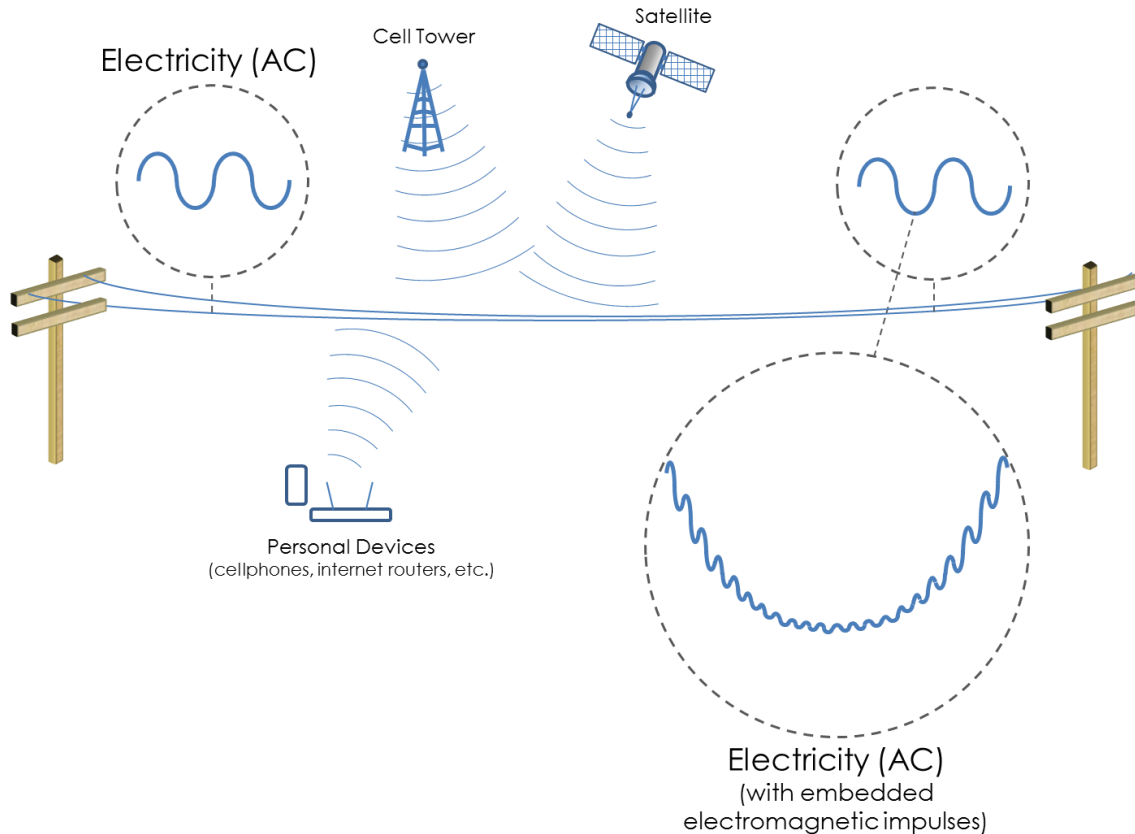

1) The generation of electricity starts at the coal power plants, nuclear power plants, hydro power plants, geothermal power plants, windmills, etc. (note: according to the FIGU information, geothermal power generation is a very well suited source of renewable and non-polluting energy for our current needs). These electric-generation plants utilise heat, water, steam or wind to spin a turbine fixed with magnets or electromagnets that move past coils of wire to generate electricity (= AC = alternating current = electricity flows back and forth)

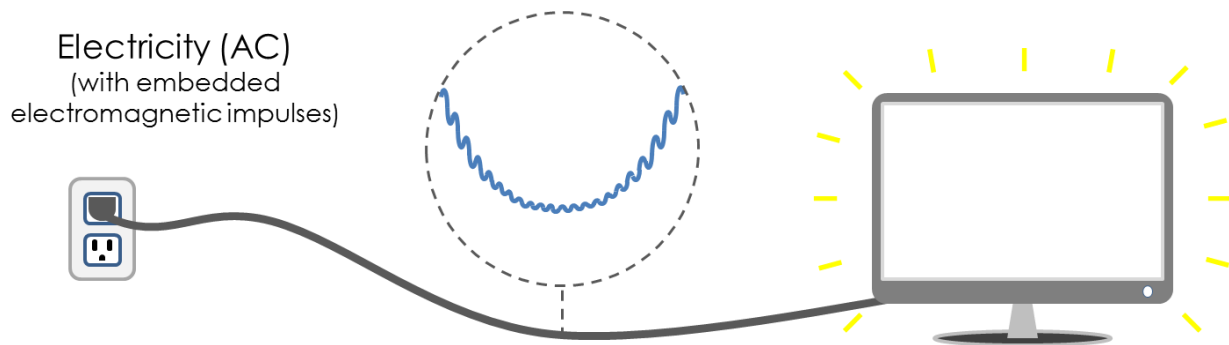

... or solar panels and batteries (= DC = direct current = electricity flows one way)

2) As it is known from our sciences, when the electricity travels through power-lines, wires or circuits, it also combines with the wireless impulses from various sources of wireless transmissions, e.g. radio, cell towers, satellite, routers, cellphones, etc. as well as impulses from other electronics connected to the same electric-grid – and according to Contact 705, also the very powerful high-frequency swinging-wave-influences (later ascertained to be fluidal thought-energies) that is present all-around, which, in a concentrated form, unfortunately affects Billy and his computer, and also all human beings around the world subconsciously by electromagnetic swinging waves that "carry sequences that are detrimental to peace and promote hatred".

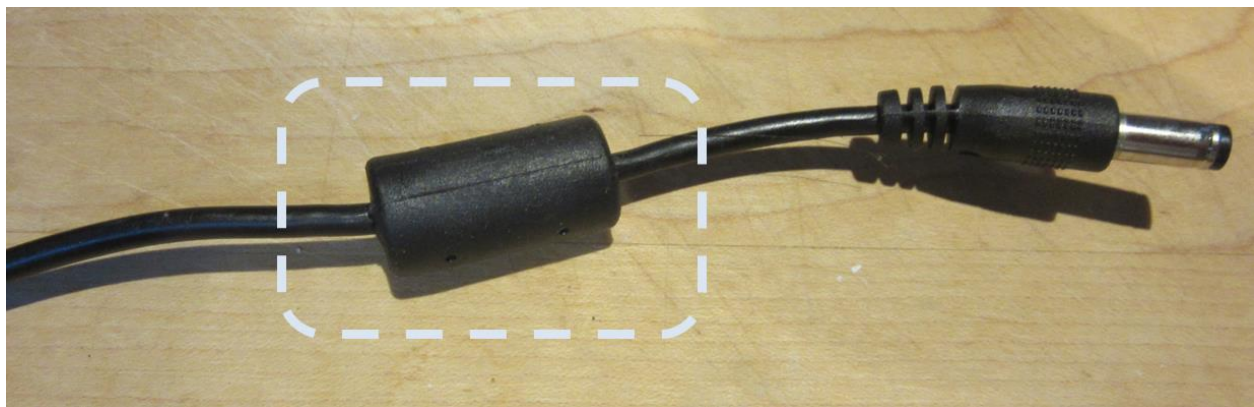

3) When the electricity reaches the appliance or device, e.g. television, monitor, speakers, computers, etc., the electricity is converted into other forms of energy, e.g. mechanical energy, light, sound, or electromagnetic swinging waves generated by the appliance or device itself.

The embedded impulses are, depending on the distance travelled, also manifested during the conversion into the converted energy-forms as subtle impulses, but cannot be perceived by the eyes or ears because they are so subtle and are at a much higher frequency than what is perceptible to the material senses. For example, a household light-bulb running on AC electricity is actually constantly fluctuating in brightness, however, this is not perceptible to the eyes because it happens so rapidly (AC 60Hz = 120 times per second), or similarly, the TVs and monitors are constantly refreshing the screen 60-240 times per second and this is also not perceptible to the eyes for the same reason. The subconsciousness, however, is – according to Contact Report 512 at the beginning of this article – able to register these very subtle impulses (in light-visuals, sound or electromagnetic swinging-waves) and as a result, becomes steered towards the contents/data that is contained in these impulses.

In electronic fields of study, these embedded impulses in the electricity are known as 'noise' (or EMI = electromagnetic interference), and for devices that have more sensitive electronics, e.g. computers, laptops, monitors, etc. there are often filters called 'chokes' that reduce the noise to a certain extent to protect the device or to allow it to function properly. However, these only work for certain ranges of frequencies of swinging-wave-impulses and do not remove the noise completely – and would not be able to filter out the unmeasurable high-frequency swinging-wave-impulses as mentioned in Contact 705:

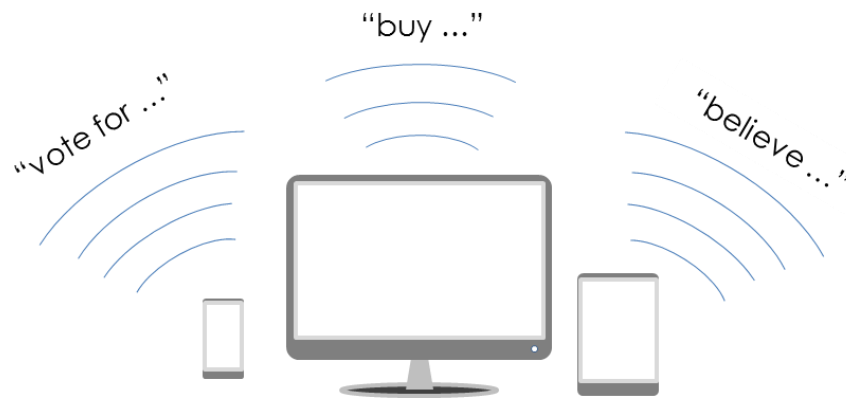

For self-powered appliances or devices running on batteries or other energy sources, naturally only the swinging-wave-impulses in their vicinity would be picked up by the conductors, wires or circuits in the appliance or device. Some appliances and devices also generate their own form of swinging-wave-impulses (Bluetooth, Wi-Fi, 4G, 5G, etc.) based on the software, internet, hardware, data or information stored on the appliance or device.

According to Contact Report 512 at the beginning of this article, like the effects of the hidden frame inserted into the films in movie theatres that steers the audience subconsciously towards certain behaviours, nearly all electronics today are misused in a similar manner via swinging-wave-impulses to steer the subconsciousness of the users. These impulses are very subtle and are usually only consciously noticed by those who are more sensitive and more perceptive. If there is a clear consciousness, sufficient self-control and self-responsibility, these influences can be realised and evaluated as such or mitigated, however, if the consciousness is impaired or the self-control and self-responsibility is insufficient, waned or lacking, then it is possible to be knowingly or unknowingly steered by these impulses, e.g. towards belief, to buy products, to elect certain politicians, or towards unpeace and hatred, etc.

Hidden Messages

Thanks to Billy, the Plejaren and other extraterrestrial friends, we are able to get a better understanding of the effects that technology has on us. However, as our science has yet to fully understand the workings of the human subconsciousness, there are thus many open questions, for example, to what extent is our subconsciousness able to decipher the data in the wireless electromagnetic swinging-wave-impulses? Is there anything that can help to reduce the detrimental effects of the technological swinging-wave-impulses on the subconsciousness? Since the human body is connected with the psyche, consciousness and subconsciousness, do electromagnetic swinging-wave-absorbing materials worn on or embedded in the body, e.g. metal earrings, metal watches, metal tooth-fillings, metal implants or highly-conductive particles in the body cause these swinging-wave-impulses to be more readily picked up by our body and senses, and registered by our subconsciousness?

Naturally, most human beings of the Earth have, over time with the usage of technology and electronics, likely become accustomed to the various influences from electronics, but nevertheless, these still have their effects on the human being and his/her subconsciousness according to the information provided by the Plejaren. Interestingly, a recent study in 2017 showed that even the "Mere Presence of One's Own Smartphone Reduces Available Cognitive Capacity" - <https://www.journals.uchicago.edu/doi/full/10.1086/691462>. Naturally, in our current times, personal electronics have become so integrated into our daily lives that it is hardly possible to be without it, but knowing when to spend some time away from these devices can also be of benefit for the health of the body and consciousness. Regarding the fine-fluidal human thought-swinging-wave-energies which are able to manifest themselves in various ways and also through the electricity and technology as swinging-wave-impulses, here is an excerpt from Contact Report 765 (note: Information in the Contact Report that is relevant to this article has been set in bold for easier reference):

Excerpt from Contact Report 765

Billy

... So that is where the wind is blowing from. – That will, however, not work, because as mean as everything is and as evil as it may seem against me and my work, I also have a hard head in this respect and I do not give up. Therefore I do the same as in the respect that I simply ignore all the dumb antagonists who insult me, call me liars and cheats, impute mendacious things to me out of hatred, slander me and threaten me. In no form and wise will I bow to these sectarian energies of belief, because I have an obligation to fulfil and I will not be dissuaded from it under any circumstances. Therefore, despite the attacks, lies and slander, as well as the hatred against me by all the malicious adversaries, I do not refrain from my work, just as also not from the malicious attacks and disturbances of these belief-delusion-energies and their powers hindering my work.

Zafenatpaneach

*Such writing I have read from you and also overheard conversations, but that you do not react to it is probably what is right. But I have not yet said all that which I still have to say: What I have explained relates both to the thoughts, feelings and psyche of human beings, in which case, however, those persons are particularly affected by these energy-powers in very strong measure, who correspond to the decidedly religious averse, respectively, unbelievers and are consequently perceived and attacked by the world-encompassing belief-energy-block, as is the case with you. Therefore, you are being attacked balefully, perniciously, destructively and malignantly by these religious belief-energy-powers, as well as, through interference in your work and work apparatus, being hindered from doing your work fluently.

It is known to me through studies, that the fact of energetic swinging-wave-effects of a fine-fluidal nature cannot be ascertained with earthly measuring- and recognition-techniques and consequently their existence is denied by the sciences contrary to truth and reality.

All fine-fluidal energies that simply cannot be principally measured for the earthly science correspond to energy-forms, which the human being does not know in the nature and in relation to its physical processes, as a result of which they simply do not exist for him/her.

All very diverse fine-fluidal energies, for which there is, in the earthly sciences, still no scientifically recognised method of recording, are therefore simply denied and disputed. These fine-fluidal energies, however, have certain swinging waves and powers, which, under circumstances, can be consciously perceived by so-called clairsentient, clairvoyant and highly-sensitive human beings, which they, however, as a rule keep silent about, because they are ridiculed, as you indeed know very well, which we, however, do not have to talk about. Unconsciously, these powerful energies are active in every human being and influence his/her well-being and his/her everyday life. The fact that thereby through these fine-fluidal energies and their swinging waves and powers, a variety of problems and effects can arise, you know from your own experience, as it is known to me, and indeed this is also because of what we have been researching for a long time in relation to you and your work, etc. Yanarara and I know this very well. And for the understanding of everyone, since you are publishing our conversations, I would like to explain in the following for all those interested some connections in more detail and clarify, that the human body corresponds to an energetic field, which is embedded in energetic fields on different levels.

Basically, the human body produces, e.g. through food various energies – also physically verifiable for the earthly sciences –, which it needs and consumes for the use and the function of its entire organism. Without-pause, the nerve-pathways transmit electrical impulses, called EEG or ECG, to the cells of the entire organism, which is physically measurable. This, however, while other energetic energies and fields exist, which, however, cannot yet be measured with earthly techniques, because they exist on another level and are of a fine-fluidal nature.

The knowledge of these fine-fluidal energies has been known to us Plejaren for thousands of years and is cited and explained in all our teachings as very important life-factors, and indeed as 'knowledge for life-maintenance'. These teachings describe the meridian-system of the entire organism, as well as the fine-fluidal energy-centres, as well as the necessity of these energies and their powers for the maintaining of health and healing of the entire body and the consciousness.

And these teachings also show, that fundamentally these fine-fluidal energies and their powers keep the whole energy-field of the human being in balance, as well as him/herself. And these fine-fluidal energies are also decisive for the physical and consciousness-based health. Therefore, through these fine-fluidal energies, the well-being of the body is steered, in which case all the different fine-fluidal fields that overlap and stand in constant exchange with each other also exert a great influence on the emotional behaviour and the mental state of the human being.

The fine-energies together with the physical body form the human existence and thus his/her life, his/her working and BEING, and his/her condition. The fine-fluidal swinging wave and the fine-fluidal state of the human being depend strongly on the moral-, mental- as well as Gemüt-condition in which he/she finds him/herself, because every nerve, every organ, every cell and every muscle is of importance in such a manner that through their energy-swinging-wave and power, the entire organic as well as consciousness-based condition swings in the right wise. This should also still be said.

Source: http://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_797

Relating to this topic, here is an excerpt about the technical progress on Earth from the book 'Genesis' by Billy (transmitted from Petale, 'The Crown of the Creation', the highest of the pure-Creation-energy levels, currently only available in German), p. 195:

133. Der Erdenmensch lebt in einer Zeit des grossen technischen Fortschrittes und in der Ära der Raumfahrt; immer noch aber ist ihm die Gesundheit nebst der Bewusstseinsentwicklung sein wertvollstes Gut, das ihm überhaupt beschieden sein kann, solange er von einem physischen Körper abhängig ist.

...

137. Auch wenn zur Jetztzeit der Erdenmensch sehr vieles angenehmer hat als seine Urgrosseltern, wenn seine Arbeitsverhältnisse und Wohnungen so viel besser sind, so bringt die erdenmenschliche hochentwickelte

133. The Earth human being lives in a time of the great technical progress and in the era of the space travel; however, the health, together with the consciousness-evolution, is still his/her most valuable good, which can at all be granted to him/her, as long as he/she is dependent on a physical body.

...

137. Even if at the present time the Earth human being has very many things more pleasant than his/her great-grandparents, when his/her work-conditions and dwellings are so much better, the Earth-human's highly developed civilisation nevertheless brings enticements and influences with it, which are extremely dangerous for the health of the individual being and of the entire humankind.

Zivilisation doch Verlockungen und Einflüsse mit sich, die für die Gesundheit des Einzelwesens und der ganzen Menschheit äusserst bedenklich sind.

And here is an excerpt about our technological development on the Earth from the book 'Arahat Athersata' by Billy (transmission from the pure-Creation-energy level of Arahat Athersata), p. 394:

11. Und die Entwicklung der Erfindungen steigerte sich immer mehr bis zur Jetztzeit, da grosse Technik herrscht, der du, Erdenmensch, bereits ebenso Sklave geworden bist wie deinem kultischen Religionsglauben, deinen Wissenschaftlern und Politikern, die dich durch Schriften, Bücher, Zeitungen, Funk, Fernsehen und Radio weiterhin, und viel bössartiger als je zuvor, äusserst gefährlich mit ihrer irrealen Propaganda zu noch tieferer (Geistlosigkeit) verführen, so du noch tiefer sinkst in den Abgrund der (Ungeistigkeit) und der Versklavung und Ausbeutung durch deine Herrschenden.

11. And the development of the inventions increased more and more up to the present time when great technology prevails, which you, Earth human being, have already become just as much a slave to as to your cultish religious beliefs, your scientists and politicians who, through writings, books, newspapers, radio, television and radio, continue, and much more maliciously than ever before, to mislead you in an extremely dangerous manner with their unreal propaganda into even deeper 'spiritlessness', so that you sink even deeper into the abyss of the 'unspiritualness' and the enslavement and exploitation through those who rule over you.

According to the FIGU information, the technological development on the Earth had been accelerated by the progressive impulses given to our scientists by the Plejaren for our benefit. Part of the reason for this was so that in our current times, the technology would be developed to such an extent, that the dissemination of the Creation-energy teaching by Billy can occur in a widespread manner in original form without falsifications. However, because of the early introduction of the technological possibilities beyond the normal development of the human beings of the Earth, it is not yet able to be fully coped with and, as a result, in many respects, it has been overused or misused. As the human beings create and use technology, various media and wireless swinging-wave-impulses are created in accordance with their mode of thinking. And as beliefs, materialism, politics, consumerism, luxury, excessive pleasures and enticements, etc. largely prevail in the thinking of the human beings at the current time, the technological stimuli would correspond to these values. Thus – in addition to providing progress and advantages in various areas of life such as medicine, transportation, agriculture, construction and communication – the technology has, due to its increasing prevalence, overuse and misuse, also proliferated, increased and made acute the prevailing problems of the Earth, similar to overpopulation. More recently with the personal electronics, in some ways, the technology has become an extended part of the human being's consciousness and gives impulses consciously and subconsciously to him/her exactly according to the media, energies and swinging-wave-impulses emanating from the technological devices, which can be useful and beneficial for the evolution if used appropriately, however, if misused by oneself or third-parties through interventions in the software, internet and hardware, can lead to manipulation, misdirection, exploitation and enslavement. Where in the past the technology served as a help-means and tool for the human beings, the human beings now largely serve the technology, and like most inventions on the Earth, it has been misused.

From a wider perspective, according to the Creation-energy teaching by Billy, the human body – and all material and non-material things – is actually composed of finest swinging-wave-energies and energy-fields that co-swings with nature, all other life forms, things and energies in the universe for the purpose of the evolution. So naturally, all exchanges of energies, impulses and information serve the evolution in one way or the other, towards the positive or negative. Therefore, if used in moderation and for the right purpose, the technology can be beneficial, however, if it is immoderately-used or misused, then it is possible to get misdirected into unhealthy extremes and overwhelmed, eventually resulting in physical and psychological injury. As the prevalence of technology and the intensity of its wireless swinging-wave-influences increase on the Earth – in addition to health risks, cellular damage and disturbances to the energy-fields of the body – often the body and consciousness need to expend much energy on concentration in order to separate the real from the unrelated artificial influences and to process the additional impulses, and as a result, stress, overburdening, wrong perceptions of reality and disturbances in interhuman relations can arise over time. If one is constantly immersed in the technology and its artificial swinging-wave-influences without the necessary awareness and self-control, it is also possible to get lost in it or even addicted to it without realising, and as a result, become constantly steered by it without still being in touch with one's own real self and real thoughts and feelings, which, under certain circumstances, can result in consciousness-psychical disturbances, loss of personality, abnormal personality changes, loss of self-control, loss of self-determination, exploitation, enslavement and evolutive stagnation – in many respects similar to an enslavement by irrational teachings, through which the human being is deprived of his/her autonomy and self-thinking, becomes fearful and angstful and loses connection with his/her inner and innermost self. As technology has become so integrated into our daily lives at home, for work and everywhere else, it is hardly possible to do anything without it and so the information from this article is not meant to discourage the use of it, because if the technology is used appropriately for the evolution, in moderation and with the necessary precaution, it can naturally be beneficial for the evolution. If the technology-based swinging-wave subconscious influencing factors – like that of the hidden frame inserted into movie films – are consciously taken into account in the daily life and assessed as such, then misleadings can be realised and the perception of the world can become clearer and closer to the reality and truth, and through this, the self-control and self-determination can also be guaranteed. Through contemplation and circumspection, much unpleasant emotions, miscommunication, impulsive and uncontrolled thinking and actions can be prevented, leading to a more peaceful and harmonious co-existence with our fellow human beings. If overwhelmed by these technological influences, spending some time away from electronic devices for regeneration and healing, giving time for reflection to find one's real self, real thoughts and feelings and reconnecting with one's inner and innermost self, reality and nature can also be of the greatest benefit and evolutive value.

It is through the human being's thinking and resulting feelings and actions that manifest everything of human origin in the world, and thus even the technology and its effects can be traced back to the human being's thinking. Therefore, if these factors are detrimental, the responsibility and power to change these towards the good also lies in the human being him/herself. Through the misuse of technology – and other factors such as belief, overpopulation, materialism and politics – and the resulting mis-steering of the consciousness, however, the human beings of the Earth at the present time have to a large extent lost their self-thinking and self-determination and become enslaved in their consciousness to the point that due to the resulting consciousness-impairment, they are no longer able to realise and identify the causes of their decline. Therefore, it is necessary to make known the factors which are detrimental to the consciousness and bodily health, in order to restore the self-thinking and self-determination, so that the detrimental factors can be resolved and the evolution can progress in its natural course.