Advancing Women in Energy

ABOUT US

Advancing Women in Energy (AWE) is a nonprofit organization dedicated to engaging and empowering women in the energy industry and energy-related fields. The organization represents the collaborative efforts of energy professionals in Michigan and the broader Midwest who share a commitment to increasing the number of women in all facets of the energy sector—particularly in leadership roles.

WHY JOIN?

As an AWE member, you'll gain free access to members-only educational, networking, and mentoring opportunities that:

- Facilitate entrance into the energy industry by raising awareness of the variety of opportunities available
- Regularly provide a forum for the discussion and promotion of professional development opportunities
- Further the interests of women energy professionals to help them grow and advance in their careers
- Provide targeted education sessions to increase members' knowledge base
- Encourage integrity and collegiality among industry professionals

Since its inception in 2016, AWE has helped foster women's professional development in energy and highlight their positive contributions that benefit the industry and society at large.
