

Consistent

Rachael Martin 1,25,2018

In one of my devotions, it asked if I was frustrated by inconsistencies I see in others and I almost laughed out loud. The truth is - this is a pet peeve of Gary's (my husband) and mine. If you say you are going to do something, you do your best to see it through. Furthermore, don't be afraid to commit to something because this is one of the best ways to confront complacency.

Neither Gary nor myself have "arrived" and have this perfected but I can honestly say we REALLY try at this. I wish I tried as hard in other areas of my life as I do this, but Lord knows my heart.... And I'm sure as I continue to grow, He will help me.

Even when we get frustrated with others, we can turn to the Lord Who HAS perfected this area and He is waiting to hear our heart in the matter. I have to remind myself often of the "priorities" stove-top. That just because my priorities are on the front burner, and they are what I'm working on the most right now, it doesn't mean that I don't have other things on the back burners that will eventually need attention. And the things that are on my front burners are not what are on other people's front burners. It doesn't mean they aren't important matters, but everyone is learning differently.

When we feel a mess and our emotions are all over the place...

Just know that God IS CONSISTENT - - and we are never far away from His ear.

Psalms 33:11 – but the Lord's plans stand firm forever; His intentions can never be shaken.

© 2018 www.gatheringathisfeet.org

EMAIL: gina@gatheringathisfeet.org