

I would like to announce that I have joined hands with The Baseball Warehouse to open a new baseball facility in Maryland. The Baseball Warehouse has 4 locations throughout Maryland and they have been teaching and coaching baseball players in many facets of the game. I will be actively participating in teaching and coaching of players from the Rick Dempsey Baseball Warehouse soon to open. I will have former Orioles teammates along with former and current professional players and coaches who will be holding clinics and giving individual lessons from our new facility.

Once we get closer to the grand opening, I will send out additional information about our new facility. Please contact me at info@thebaseballwarehouse.com if you have interest in being a sponsor or participating in clinics and lessons and I will make sure you will be involved.

I can't wait to get started!
