Indiana Court of Appeals Attorney

Indiana Appellate Lawyer

Indiana appellate law and family law appeals in the Indiana Court of Appeals is an important area of law when an Indiana trial court has abused its discretion by not properly following a code or procedure. A review of the trial court ruling by an appellate lawyer to see if your case has the potential for an appeal is an option you may want to consider.

An appeal of a lower court decision is one of the most challenging in the practice of law. To have a chance of succeeding, an appeal must be carefully researched, well written, and persuasively argued.

At Ruppert & Schaefer, P.C., we understand how to identify the key legal issues on which to base successful appeals and vigorously pursue them. An appeal may be made in virtually any family law matter, but are most common in these areas:

- Child custody
- Asset allocation and valuation
- Child support
- Relocation

In a consultation, a lawyer at our firm can explain the appeal process, assess the strength of your case, and discuss how we may be able to obtain a positive outcome for you in the Indiana Court of Appeals. Call us at 317-580-9295 to schedule an appointment.

Determined to Prevail

While there can be no guaranteed outcomes in the Appellate Court, Ruppert & Schaefer, P.C., will energetically pursue your case. We will thoroughly review the record of the original proceeding and examine the laws for a novel or a unique basis on which to approach the case in the Appellate Court.

You should be aware however, that the appeal process can be lengthy. Throughout the entire process, we will keep you informed of our progress. As in all our family law and divorce practice, we will answer your questions and address your concerns at any time.

Ruppert & Schaefer, P.C., practices at the Indiana Court of Appeals and Indiana Supreme Court.
