Dig #1:6/20/2019

First of all thank you for giving me permission to do this project. I just may need a few days extension if it storms as I'm hand troweling it all. Most finds show up in the 6-8" depth.

Three shards of thick brown glazed Crockery Porcelain doll arm and hand, Three shards of bottle glass Broken slate board pencil Brass turn knob? Eight shards of white dish ware Three square nails Two pieces of clay pipe bowl Four decorated dish ware shards Two window glass shards

Dig #2:6/21/2019

It rained hard here this morning, but made it even nicer digging this afternoon.

White- thick Crockery shard
Railroad spike
Square nail
I'm not sure (it has a turn handle on it)?
Nine shards of brown bottle glass
White dish ,ware shard
Slate board fragment
Hard rubber hair comb fragment
(designed)
Drinking glass shard
Lid from child's play dish ware
Little perfume bottle (damaged top)

Dig #3:6/23/2019

I almost completed another grid. About 4-5 to go. I'm finding almost everything at 15.24 cm to 20.32cm deep.

Antique necklace
Fruit/canning jar top with shards of jar
Caste iron?
Two square nails
Lead fishing sinker
Two shards of brown glass
Three shards of white war
Three shards of window glass
Seven shards of rim decorated glassware.

I should have only three more 4X4 grids to put down. Hopefully the rain will stop and let me complete this project this week.

Dig #8:6/29/2019

First of all I want to share my heartfelt thanks to you, Niki,& Tricia for allowing me to undertake this most exciting and rewarding project involving a little part of my hometown history. I do have some degree of sadness as I know there's going to be a lot more artifacts destroyed when they break ground for the new plant. I was only told I could do the areas where Tod's shovel tests were positive. I know without a doubt the whole red area on his map is littered with more artifacts.

Again thank you Bob and if you ever want someone to go over the Tobias site with a metal detector just send me the word. I almost forgot all the artifacts found have been cleaned and I will give to Chris our City Manager who will give to Richard Miller the President of our Historical Society. Iron tine/pin Two square nails - so you can see how large they are
