The Agribusiness Roundtable will not be a look back at the “year that was” but serve as a gathering of leaders to share thoughts about the future. No business or agribusiness has a crystal ball but without a clear strategic direction enterprises are subject to the impact of economic, policy and political developments. The Agribusiness Roundtable is a collaborative effort by the Arizona Department of Agriculture and the Agribusiness & Water Council of Arizona, Inc. It is not an organization that will supersede or replace any current organization. This meeting intends to develop a “collective,” proactive point of view about Arizona’s future.

Agribusiness is a vast support structure that forms one of the largest economic segments on this planet. It is a significant contributor to the gross domestic product of every country on this globe. It is a huge and essential industry, yet in the eyes of many it is invisible. This meeting is for agribusiness bankers, investors and finance people, equipment suppliers, feed suppliers, seed and crop protection services, crop and livestock producers, agricultural support services, energy providers, water providers, veterinarians and other agribusinesses.
