THE DIRECTORY OF

Community Health, Mental Health and Learning Disabilities

2019/20

*Dame Professor Donna Kinnair,
Chief Executive & General Secretary
Royal College of Nursing (RCN)*

The RCN is a membership organisation of more than 435,000 registered nurses, midwives, health care assistants and nursing students. We are both a professional body, carrying out work on nursing standards, education and practice, and a trade union. Our members work in a range of health care specialties and settings in the NHS and independent sectors. We also have members based overseas, and members who are retired. Around 35,000 nursing students are members.

We are governed by an elected Council of 31 members, chaired by Dee Sissons, who delegate the running and management of the organisation to the Chief Executive & General Secretary. Our President, Anne Marie Rafferty, is a member of RCN Council.

We are a Royal Charter body registered with the Privy Council and, because trade unionism is not our sole activity, we are on a special register of trade unions which means our rules differ slightly to other trade unions.

We represent the professional interests of nursing staff working in the public, private and voluntary sectors. We are on the NHS Staff Council, which negotiates pay, terms and conditions for NHS staff. We can also bargain for pay, terms and conditions with independent sector organisations. We are represented in social partnership arrangements in England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland. We offer our members free, confidential advice and support on employment matters, career development, immigration, welfare and more.

We support and protect the diversity of the nursing profession by actively promoting inclusion.

We lobby governments and other bodies across the UK to develop, influence and implement policy that improves the quality of patient care. Through our campaigns, we encourage health care officials and elected representatives to recognise the importance of nurses, health care assistants and nursing students to outcomes for patients.

We provide expert advice to parliamentarians on developing healthcare policies through legislation, select committees, all-party parliamentary groups and parliamentary briefings, and attend all of the major UK party conferences. We have no ties to any political party and we take pride in our political independence.

We promote and engage in nursing research, recognising that high quality nursing research has the power to transform patient care. We have one of the largest specialist nursing libraries in Europe.

We strive to be a sustainable, member-led organisation with the capacity to deliver our mission effectively, efficiently and in accordance with our values and core objectives.

"Every day we have the opportunity to transform the lives of those who need our help and support."

Support, Enablement, Independence

About the Directory

The Directory of Community Health, Mental Health and Learning Disabilities 2019/20

The Directory of Community Health, Mental Health and Learning Disabilities reflects the merger of two well established directories – the Directory of Community Health Services and the Directory of Mental Health Services and Learning Disabilities – into one directory with the obvious benefits that this brings. It includes comprehensive information on community nursing, mental health and learning disability services throughout the UK, and reflects the changes in the structure of the NHS and social care services in England now that the PCTs have been abolished.

Independent healthcare providers continue to take on an ever increasing range of services particularly within domiciliary care, mental health and learning disabilities, making this Directory an indispensable tool for healthcare professionals of many disciplines, and an extremely important marketing tool for the suppliers of relevant healthcare services.

The Directory format continues to reflect the geographical divisions previously described as Strategic Health Authorities, now renamed as NHS Commissioning Boards. Within these we incorporate the Clinical Commissioning Groups (CCG's) and Health and Wellbeing Boards (H & WBB's) together with providers, locations and services. This information together with the geographical information has been updated, cross-referenced and indexed to present an overview of how the new structure and services are interrelated.

The Directory listings are organised into sections to make life easier for the user:

1. Governance & Regulatory Organisations

This section includes contact details for the Health and Wellbeing Boards, Clinical Commissioning Groups by region and Local Area Teams, as well as a number of other organisations.

2. Health Listings

Throughout the Directory staff members are listed by department within the Trust/Service that employs them. Where a service is shared between Trusts, we have to rely on this information being provided by the Trusts concerned. There are a number of useful alphabetical indexes at the back of the Directory which allow you to search by the name of the health authority or the geographical location.

Entries provide information on community nursing and midwifery and include contact details for central community nursing offices and the following services and personnel:

- Child protection/safeguarding
- Community matrons
- Community nursing services
- Equipment loan services
- Health visiting
- School nursing
- Child health records
- Community midwifery
- District nursing
- Family planning
- Liaison services
- Services for asylum seekers and travellers

The names of senior managers for these services are given, together with addresses and telephone numbers and, where appropriate, emergency/night/twilight numbers. Entries also provide names and contact numbers for clinical nurse specialists, liaison staff and the administration bases for child health records. The Acute and Mental Health Trust entries also include the names and specialities of clinical nurse specialists and practitioners for a wide range of specialities.

NHS England

The information for the NHS in England is organised on a geographical basis, i.e. into the four commissioning regions - NHS London, NHS Midlands and the East, NHS North of England and NHS South of England. Where the Health and Wellbeing Board/Clinical Commissioning Group name is used, it is followed by that of the main provider together with their address and contact details. Services are then listed by department and job role.

NHS Wales

In Wales, seven Health Boards are responsible for providing all health and social care services for their catchment area and the section for Wales is formatted alphabetically by these Boards. The Health Boards are as follows: Swansea Bay University HB, Aneurin Bevan HB, Betsi Cadwaladr University HB, Cardiff and Vale University HB, Cwm Taf HB, Hywel Dda HB and Powys Teaching HB.

NHS Scotland

Health Boards remain responsible for health services throughout Scotland with these services being provided through their Acute and Primary Care Divisions. Each Primary Care Division supports a number of Health & Social Care Partnerships where services are provided jointly by the health board and the local authority. These organisations are included alphabetically within each Health Board.

Health - Northern Ireland

Northern Ireland has a similar structure to Wales with five Health and Social Care Trusts being responsible for all the health and social care needs of their populations.

Health - Offshore

We have included the Channel Islands in the Directory even though the financial reciprocal health arrangements have now been terminated. The immediate consequence of this is that any UK resident going on holiday to the Channel Islands now needs to consider taking out health insurance as they will not be covered by the NHS as in the past.

Secondary Care

To ensure that the Directory is as complete and accurate as possible and reflects the inter-dependence of the services, we include relevant services provided by the Acute NHS Trusts even though these may not fall within the strict definition of community nursing, learning disability and mental health services. However with the absorption of community services by a number of acute hospitals this is becoming even more important and in many areas a pattern is beginning to emerge whereby all services will be provided through the 'local' acute hospital.

3. Partner Organisations

This section includes contact details for independent healthcare providers together with the services they provide, the Independent Mental Capacity Advocacy Service (IMCA), police forces, as well as a number of other organisations.

4. Social Services

This section covers all UK local authority social care services listed by service with full contact details for each.

5. Useful Addresses

This section includes contact details and thumbnail sketches of support groups, health and care related charities and voluntary groups.

Here at Step One Recovery, we provide a unique and confidential addiction recovery retreat set on a private and exclusive Mediterranean estate.

Set in beautiful Spain, we will give you everything you require in order to heal and resume a better, healthier lifestyle.

We pride ourselves in showing a real desire to assist each client in developing a positive relationship with his or her self, and recognise the barriers that keep them from leading the fulfilling life they want, and deserve.

Our multi-disciplinary team, with their true understanding of a variety of different conditions, will provide compassionate care, assistance and treatment around the clock until you feel ready to leave and get back to the life you truly deserve.
